100 JAP, 15 U. S. SHIPS SUNK IN OKINAWA FIGHT

Enemy Battleship and 2 Cruisers Included

GUAM, April 21 [Saturday]—(AP)—Fleet headquarters announced today the loss of 15 American naval craft between March 18 and April 18 in the battle of Okinawa and associated operations, and said during the same period 100 enemy ships, besides many small craft, were sunk and 2,569 enemy aircraft destroyed.

The bulletin said the 15 ships constituted all those of the American navy to be sunk in the 32 day period. It made no mention of damaged ships, but previously had announced that several units of the fleet had been hit.

The American ships sunk were:

Destroyers Halligan, Bush, Colhoun, M. L. Abele and Pringle; minecraft, Emmons and skylark; Destroyer - Transport Dickerson; gunboat PGM serial No. 18; LST No. 477, LCI No. 82, LCS No. 33, LCT No. 86, and the ammunition ships Hobbs Victory and Logan Victory.

Jap Battleship Sunk

Japanese losses listed included the 45,000 ton super-battleship Yamato, two light cruisers, five destroyers, five destroyer escorts, and numerous cargo ships and small craft.

As was the case Thursday, smashing artillery fire from navy, marine, and army heavy guns, and carrier planes flying cover, supported the Okinawa ground operations Friday.

The 7th, 27th, and 96th divisions, continuing their all-out push against Japanese lines on southern Okinawa, ground out gains of 1,000 to 1,400 yards.

General Is Pleased

Tokyo radio said 40 or 50 American tanks were knocked out and set ablaze during the attack, which it said was made by 10,000 United States troops. The enemy broadcast asserted a landing attempt by 20 landing craft on southern Okinawa was "warded off" yesterday.

Gen. Simon B. Buckner, commander of the 10th army, reported American forces had made progress "about as anticipated" against "the most strongly fortified Japanese positions I have ever seen."

"Our artillery—air, naval and ground—is beautifully coördinated," Buckner commented. "It has done a magnificent job, but artillery and air power alone can't accomplish the task. Japs in pillboxes, holes, and caves have to be blasted out, and that is always a job for the infantry. There is nothing new to the problem, which already has been solved, but it will be a heavy job and we can expect a good many casualties."

Bomb Nine Air Fields

A large force of Super Fortresses, estimated at between 200 and 300, visually bombed nine Kyushu air fields this morning in their third bombing strike in five days to neutralize bases from which the Japanese have been attacking American forces at Okinawa.

Fields Appear Neutralized

The last B-29 strikes supporting the Okinawa operations were made April 17 and 18. Apparently they have achieved neutralization, because no strong Japanese raids have been made on Okinawa since April 16.

Strong Japanese resistance continued on Ie Island, west of Okinawa, but the Yanks there continued to gain. They counted 736 enemy dead. Today's bulletin said the Yanks had started to destroy enemy forces holding Iegusugu peak, a troublesome eminence on the islet.

HOW U.S. CRUISER HOUSTON FOUGHT 100 SHIPS TOLD

BY WALTER SIMMONS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MALABANG, Mindanao, P. I., April 19—One of the great mysteries of the war—the sinking of the United States cruiser Houston in the battle of Java on Feb. 28, 1942—gained partial solution today when an Australian army officer told details of the last hours of the famous ship, which in times of peace had borne President Roosevelt on several vacation trips.

The Australian, Maj. Rex Blow of Brisbane, was captured at Singapore and escaped from a Borneo prison camp in 1943. Since then he has been serving with American guerrillas on Mindanao. While at Singapore he became acquainted with nearly 100 captured survivors of the Houston and the same number of the crew of the Australian cruiser Perth.

Buns Into Jap Fleet

From one of them, Lt. Collins, a gunnery officer of the Houston, he got the following story of the battle:

"The Houston, with the light cruiser Marblehead and several other American, British, and Dutch ships, was a member of an allied striking force commanded by the Dutch Adm. De Oorman during the battle of the Java sea, in which a number of allied ships and several Japanese vessels were sunk.

"At 7 p. m. on Feb. 28 the Houston, accompanied by the Perth and the Dutch destroyer Evertsen, sailed from northern Java in an attempt to thread the Jap controled Sunda strait into the Indian ocean.

"The squadron was in the waters between Java and Sumatra that night when it sighted two long columns of Jap transports and cargo ships, about 100 in all. Altho its mission was to escape and fight another day, it immediately took these ships under fire and steamed down the middle between the two columns.

Sink 22 Jap Ships

"I don't know what happened to the Evertsen, but in that tremendous night battle, the Houston and Perth sank 22 Jap ships. They sailed the entire length of the column before running into a storm of fire from escorting Jap battleships or heavy cruisers.

"Both the Houston and the Perth, which was protecting the former's defenseless stern, were running out of ammunition. Outgunned, they were hit repeatedly and began to sink. In this critical moment, they had the satisfaction of noting that some of the enemy fire was striking its own transports

Seize 2 Nazis Carrying U.S. Maps at Gary

Two escaped German prisoners of war, who fled from Camp Wainwright No. 135, Alberta, Ont., a month ago, were seized yesterday by Gary police in Gary. They carried forged Canadian draft cards and detailed hand drawn maps of the United States. Both wore lumberjack clothing.

They identified themselves as Lt. Klaus Konrad, 27, of Hamburg, a luftwaffe pilot, who was shot down over England on April 10, 1941, and Lt. Heinz Meuche, 29, of the Afrika corps, who was captured at Hell's Fire pass in Tunisia Jan. 17, 1943. They declined to tell how they escaped, or how they traveled so far from their prison camp, saying, "It's a military secret."

Their captors were Capt. Peter Billick and Detective Joseph Hopkins. Konrad and Meuche were seized while trying to sell a wristwatch in Stanley's jewelry shop at 692 Broadway, Gary. Earlier they had tried to sell the watch in Busch's jewelry shop at 629 Broadway, but left when told to return later. Busch's notified police. Military authorities were notified and expressed interest in how the Germans were able to flee so far, how they acquired civilian clothes, and especially how they obtained fake draft cards and maps.

REDS CONFIRM BIG 3 DECISION ON NAZI LABOR

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

MOSCOW, April 20—It was authoritatively revealed today that President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin, and Prime Minister Churchill agreed at the Crimea conference that German labor and German man power should be employed to restore and reconstruct damage caused by German armies in allied lands.

Confirming widespread rumors of the decision at Yalta, the trades union newspaper Trud said:

"The idea of restoration being done by the hands of those who caused the destruction is gaining even greater popularity among the public of democratic countries."

It is still impossible to estimate damage done to Russia alone by the Germans. A group of specialists is working on the problem. The magazine "Bolshevik" recently said that in former occupied areas alone damage exceeded 250 billion gold rubles [approximately 50 billion dollars].

Cupid Opens Spring Drive on West Front

BY ANNE BRUYERE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, April 20—Springtime is love time in the Paris American Red Cross Patio club, honeymoon headquarters for the European theater of operations, which daily aids in arranging the weddings of WACs and G. Is who have surrendered to romance.

Lt. Try L. Cox, 19 N. Clark st., Chicago, who registers the Paris-bound newlyweds, says the fancy free Yanks have been in the army long enough to know just how to break down the resistance of WACs, Red Cross girls, and nurses.

Chaplain Gives Blessing

"All it takes," says Lt. Cox, "is love, a bronze star for gallantry, a Purple Heart with a cluster, moonlight over the Seine river, sweet music, a gardenia corsage, and spring.

"Then the day after the big love scene the boy makes another date with the girl and they write letters—in triplicate—to their regimental commanders. Everything must be serious. They may say they are in love. They must say they are in agreement about getting married overseas. Then they should visit the army chaplain and get his blessing."

Wed by Registrars

After indorsements by their commanding officers, home town registrars, and the war department, the G. Is and WACs usually wed in the country in which they are stationed. In Holland they are married by a British registrar and marriages in Belgium are by an officer of civil status of the commune.

In Luxemburg the ceremonies are performed by a burgomeister; in France by the mayor of a commune, and in Germany by an American army chaplain. After the ceremonies couples take a week off and come to Paris, where the Patio club is all set to receive them in bridal suites overlooking the Tuileries Gardens where Marie Antoinette used to roam with Louis XVI.

After one recent wedding the entire French commune came to the reception and brought fried chicken, roast pig, apple tarts, fresh strawberries, champagne, cognac, and brandy.

Wills Fortune for Things He Never Cared About

BIRMINGHAM, England, April 20—Arthur W. Keep, wealthy exporter who died last November, left the bulk of his fortune of more than $600,000 to the city of Birmingham for sports fields, swimming pools, and bus and trolley shelters. Associates said he never had shown any interest in sports, never learned to swim, and never rode a bus.

Russians Bring Vodka to Frisco

San Francisco, Cal., April 20 [Special]—Russia's delegation to the allied nations conference opening here next Wednesday will have all the entertainment supplies needed to paint the town red.

Russia has sent to San Francisco a 2,153 ton ship well loaded with caviar, vodka, and other makings of gay parties during the conference. The vessel is the Smolny, built at Leningrad in 1929. It has accommodations for 138 passengers, including 28 first class.

It seems certain that the Russian delegation will set the entertainment pace at the conference. Under the leadership of Foreign Commissar Molotov, the Russians will live at one of the city's finest hotels.

50 Arrive in Planes

Fifty members of the Russian group arrived last night in three airplanes. Other national groups poured into the city today. Approximately 5,000 persons are expected for the conference.

The delegates already here learn something new every day. Easterners finger the heavy silver dollars they get in change with amazement. "This is the first time I've seen one of these things since I was a little boy," said one man.

Others can be found getting a thrill riding the little cable cars which crawl the steep slopes of Nob hill.

At the moment there are more empty hotel rooms in San Francisco than at any time since the war began, as all reservations except for the conference were cut out April 15. People who had no urgent business were told to stay away.

Understanding Operators

Special arrangements have been made to keep the conference from turning into a modern Babel. No matter where a visitor comes from, he will find some one in the lobby of the conference building who will be able to talk to him.

If he speaks Chinese, Russian, Portuguese, Spanish, French, or English, he can just pick up a telephone, dial INT 3300, and the operator will be able to understand him. At least, that is what the company promises. INT 3300 is a special exchange set up for the conference, the letters standing for "international."

YANKS 54 MI. FROM RUSSIAN LINES; 3 ARMIES DRIVE ON HITLER FORTRESS

Rioting for Peace Is Reported as Guns Rumble Near

ATROCITIES TOLD

LONDON, Saturday, April 21 (AP)—Red army tanks, racing westward for a linkup with American armies have burst 38 miles across Berlin's dwindling southern escape corridor, Moscow revealed last night as the bomb torn and flaming German capital disclosed that Russian armor was only 7 miles from its city limits.

The Russians were at the "very gates" of Berlin and had breached its inner defense ring in a yard by yard "hell of fire, steel, and blood," the enemy said as peace riots reportedly broke out.

Moscow revealed that a swift, soviet break-thru south of the capital had reached within 18 miles of Dresden, thru which passes the only remaining railroad out of Berlin to the Nazis' "national redoubt." The Russians, sweeping German resistance before them like an avalanche, were 54 miles from the Americans by Berlin's account.

Eight Strongholds Seized

With the rail line torn up by repeated American bombing and with Russian Stormoviks savagely machine gunning enemy transport within and below Berlin, the Germans admitted that the great Red army offensive was deciding the war. A Berlin broadcast said "the front is very near and the rumble of guns can be heard in the center of the city, but out of 4,000,000 people, 3,000,000 still are here."

Moscow's war bulletin announced that Russian forces, advancing on Berlin and Dresden on a 100 mile front, had seized eight major strongholds.

While Lebus on the Oder, five miles north of embattled Frankfurt, also fell, the Germans said the Russians were smashing toward Berlin's suburbs on a 32 mile arc and had reached Hangelsberg and the area of Werneuchen — seven miles east and seven and a half miles northeast of the capital.

Werneuchen, 16 miles southwest of captured Bad Freienwalde, is only 15 miles from the center of Berlin and an advance to this area

U. S. FLYERS HIT 7 KEY OUTPOSTS OF FLAMING CITY

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—Berlin's defense perimeter was blasted today by more than 600 American Flying Fortresses which slammed 1,600 tons of bombs on seven key outposts in support of American and Russian armies engulfing the stricken capital.

At the same time swarms of Russian Stormoviks—heavily armored, cannon-firing fighters—skimmed at rooftop level over the devastated metropolis. The British air force took up the attack on the flaming city tonight.

The heavy American bombers aimed at snarling rail traffic in Berlin's defensive arc on the west, immobilizing German troop movements at a time they need to be rushed to reënforce pressure points.

Lt. William Kelley of West Monroe, La., who flew his Fortress at low level to "see the sights," said:

"Germany seemed to be a scene of complete destruction. We flew low over what formerly was one of the reich's greatest centers of industry. A few weeks ago the sky would have been filled with flak. But the cities near Berlin are just heaps of rubble now. I couldn't see a sign of life."

U. S. Flags Fly Where Hitler Once Orated

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

(Picture on back page)

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY IN NUERNBERG, Germany, April 20—American flags were flying today over this shrine city of Nazidom after five days of fierce fighting. They flew, too, over the giant stadium where Hitler used to exhort thousands during Nazi party congresses.

Masses of liberated Russian and Polish soldiers and workers carrying cheeses, wines, and clothes obtained from near-by railway cars streamed thru the stadium.

American soldiers going up one street met a Russian who had found a cache of cognac and Swiss watches. The Russian had drunk deeply of the cognac and every American who came along was forced to accept a watch as a token of esteem.

The first Americans to enter the four square miles of the inner city were from Company K, 3d battalion, 108th regiment, and included two Chicagoans, Pvt. Raymond H. Schlapinski, 2331 Melrose st., and Pvt. Harold R. Marker, 1636 N. Harding avenue.

Maj. Gen. John J. O'Daniel, commander of the 3d division, congratulated his men at the flag raising ceremonies.

"I thank you for your magnificent support and wish you Godspeed in all your future enterprises," he said.

PARIS, April 21 [Saturday]—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower said last night that German armies of the west were "tottering on the threshold of defeat" as three allied armies struck as much as 23 miles south toward Hitler's last stand in the Alps.

Gen. Eisenhower's statement came in an order of the day,

"The battle of the Ruhr has ended with complete success," he said. "Following hard upon the final destruction of German forces west of the Rhine, the 21st army group thrust powerfully across that river with the United States 9th army under its command.

"Simultaneously, rapid drives across the Rhine and from the Remagen bridgehead by the 12th and 6th army groups provided the southern arm of a great double envelopment. Thereafter the 12th army group eliminated 21 enemy divisions.

"This victory of allied arms is a fitting prelude to the final battles to crush the ragged remnants of Hitler's armies of the west now tottering on the threshold of defeat."

Nuernberg Captured

The Nazi party city of Nuernberg fell to the 7th army on Hitler's 56th birthday, the French were 30 miles from Lake Constance—western bulwark of Hitler's Alpine retreat—and Gen. Bradley's 12th army group headquarters reported American lines were 54 miles from the Russians.

Supreme headquarters broadcast to Russian and Polish slave laborers in the reich to stay where they were for "in a few days the gap between the armies of liberation from the west and from the east will be closed."

Nazis Broken Into Pockets

A battle dispatch declared the Germans no longer manned a cohesive western front, that the enemy was broken 'nto pockets for the victory assault and the last stand in the north also was under attack.

The British 2d army battled a mile from the suburbs of Hamburg, Germany's second city and greatest port, and sheared it off from Bremen with a 20 mile outflanking sweep against the latter river port.

The Germans said the United States 9th army, steadily bolstering its five mile deep Elbe river bridgehead 52 miles southwest of Berlin, was about to join the Russians in the grand assault on the flaming capital.

Hold 15 Miles of Elbe

The British drawing up on the 9th's west flank, now held 15 miles of the Elbe's west bank from positions 15 miles southeast of Hamburg.

But for the Germans, the most imminent peril was in the south, where allied western forces already were closer to Munich and the last German defense positions than were the Russians hammering up west of Vienna.

The French 1st army, driving 23 miles south beyond last reported positions, reached Rottweil, 65 miles from the Austrian frontier and 120 miles from the northern border of Italy. Here they were closest to Lake Constance. They also were only 14 miles from the headwaters of the Danube river.

Drive on Stuttgart

The southern German city of Stuttgart, with a population of 459,000, was virtually surrounded after French troops entered Aich, 10 miles to the south, and the 7th army's 10 armored division, after a 25 mile dash, reached a point only 12 miles northeast of Aich.

An armored battle was roaring

Trap Nazi Unit in Forest

BY HENRY WALES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

KLOETZE, Germany, April 20—The Clausewitz panzer battle group, which drove 15 miles into American lines Wednesday, today was trapped in the Kloetze forest, with cavalry, infantry, and tanks surrounding them, and intensive concentric artillery fire blasting them in the pine woods.

Entire trees are leaping into the air as the American heavies hurl explosive shells into the forest, and rumors are that Nazi Gen. Unreid, commanding the group, is threatening to shoot any one who suggests surrender.

Unreid's entire staff has been captured along with 600 prisoners so far, and a half dozen tanks have been knocked out.

An estimated 800 troops, a dozen tanks, and a couple of batteries of motorized 88s are inside the pocket measuring about three miles square.

The Germans captured several thousand gallons of gasoline in their sudden raid Wednesday, and Yank prisoners.

However, when American forces got into action Unreid's force was split in two—one retreating northward, the other entering the Kloetze forest. All the Americans were released, and officers even made the German soldiers hand back the watches, flashlights, field glasses, cigaret cases, and other equipment they'd taken.

It is believed the Nazis had a double objective—to seize Brunswick, destroy American supplies, and drive thru to the Hartz mountains stronghold, where another German force is fighting stubbornly against annihilation as the 8th armored division closes in.

21 miles southeast of Nuernberg at Neumarkt, where the Germans were putting up their first stern resistance on the approaches of the mountain redoubt 70 miles from Munich.

On the eastern flank of the southward push, the United States 3d army was a mile or more inside Czechoslovakia and in a 16 mile armored dash captured Grafenwohr, 58 miles west of Pilsen.

Attack Chemnitz Outskirts

The 3d army also attacked the outskirts of Chemnitz, communications city 33 miles from Dresden.

A steel wedge was being driven between the Bavarian redoubt and the Czech munitions cities of Pilsen and Prague. Railways leading out of the two cities were loaded with weapons and were under heavy aerial attack.

The best information here is that Hitler's redoubt already is well stocked with supplies. It is roughly 200 miles long and less than 100 miles wide, extending from the eastern end of Lake Constance across the Kitzbuehler Alp section of old Austria to east of Salzburg and Hitler's mountain retreat of Berchtesgaden.

Besiege Dessau

With the capture of Grafenwohr, 20 miles southeast of Bayreuth, the 11th armored division was about 115 miles southwest of Prague.

Infantry farther north, advancing up to 14 miles on a 35 mile front, was in Selb, two and a half miles from the Czech border and four miles southwest of Asch.

In the center of the western front, the United States 1st army laid siege to Dessau, 52 miles southwest of Berlin, but the remainder of the action was in the character of a mopup.

Heavy fighting was in progress between Bitterfeld and Dessau at Wolfen, Bobbau, and Steinfurth.

In Holland, the Canadian 1st army's drive on the ports of Emden and Wilhelmshaven was gaining momentum after Polish units forced a crossing of the Ems river.

Farther southwest, the Canadians were hacking into the Dutch Grebbe line and were less than two miles from the bastion of Amersfoort. Behind the line, parts of the Dutch cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, The Hague, and Utrecht were reported flooded by the Germans. The Germans were manning the defense line in strength.

Poles Forge Bridgehead

Polish troops to the north forged a bridgehead across the Ems at its confluence with the Kusten canal and despite intense enemy artillery fire pressed to within two miles of Papenburg, 21 miles southeast of Emden.

Canadians to the east across the Kusten likewise were hotly engaged, but managed to bring up their lines six miles from Oldenburg, eastern anchor of the line guarding Emden and Wilhelmshaven.

The British 7th armored division during the morning reached the marshy flood plain of the Elbe, a mile across which lay Hamburg's suburb of Harburg. Meanwhile, the Guards armored division lanced northwestward, outflanking Bremen and shearing off the highways linking it with Hamburg.

One force cut the Bremen-Hamburg superhighway at Weetzem, 31 miles northeast of Bremen, and pushed on more than two miles west where it cut another main highway two miles east of Zeven.

The British attacking Bremen head-on cut the railway between the port and Delmenhorst about two miles west of the city, but were unable to get any closer to Bremen itself.

Instead forces already across the Weser and Aller rivers were charging toward the city from the east. One force thrust thru the village of Etelsen, 11 miles east of Bremen.

On another long forgotten front, the Maritime Alps, French troops at the Italian frontier occupied Briel, 10 miles from the sea and thereby cut the highway linking the Italian manufacturing city of Turin with the Gulf of Genoa.

Eisenhower, Montgomery Meet on Nazi Air Field

Berlin Area Into Which Red Armies Are Driving

BERLIN INVADED FOUR TIMES IN MODERN HISTORY

Four times in the modern era the area of greater Berlin streets has been invaded by foreign troops.

In the Thirty Years war which devastated Germany, Gustavus Adolphus, king of Sweden, marched on Berlin. He appeared before the city in 1631, and probably could have invested it with ease. Negotiators came out to meet him, however, and struck a bargain by which he received Spandau, now a part of Greater Berlin, as a base from which to prosecute his continental war.

Twice in Seven Years

During the Seven Years war, 1756-1763, the Berlin area was twice entered by enemy soldiers. Late in 1757 a flying column of Austrian cavalry reached the city's suburbs, but withdrew after exacting a contribution from the inhabitants.

Three years later, when Prussia's cause appeared hopeless and when Frederick the Great's military genius was taxed to the utmost to prevent one or other of the enemy states which surrounded him from striking a death blow, hostile troops again reached Berlin. This time the force was larger—40,000 Russians and Austrians. Again the occupation was brief and the invaders withdrew after collecting a huge indemnity.

Occupied by French

A possible explanation of the relatively mild conduct of the investing troops lay in the fact that the Russian war effort was not whole hearted. The Empress Elizabeth lay ill and the sympathies of the heir apparent were with Frederick. Later, when Elizabeth died and Czar Peter III. ascended the Russian throne peace was concluded between Prussia and Russia.

Berlin's only long foreign occupation came during the Napoleonic wars. The French armies reached the Prussian capital on Oct. 25, 1806, after a swift and brilliant campaign, and Napoleon himself entered in state two days later. Not until late in 1808 was the city free of French soldiery.

Japs Told to Fight On Even After They're Killed

LONDON, April 20 [Reuters]—Officers and men of the Japanese armed forces were told by the new war minister, Lt. Gen. Korechika Anami, today that even after death they must fight "with their souls," said the Domei agency in a broadcast.

meant that the Russians had outflanked the city's eastern limits. Hangelsberg on the east is 20 miles from midcity.

South and southeast of the blazing central front, Russian troops in Austria hammered within five miles of the key Austrian rail junction of Laa, and in northern Czechoslovakia drove to points two and seven miles of Opava [Troppau] and Moravska-Ostrava.

"Greatest in History"

In the fiery battle before Berlin's eastern approaches—possibly the greatest armored struggle in history—the Germans said masses of Russian tanks, infantry and big guns still were pouring into the fray against Nazi soldiers who had not slept for 150 hours.

Moscow announced that Marshal Zhukov's 1st White army had captured the strongholds of Bad Freienwalde and Wriezen, 23 and 24 miles northeast of Berlin, and had driven 10 miles beyond the Oder, capturing the road junction of Seelow, 26 miles east of the city.

South of Berlin, Marshal Konev's 1st Ukrainian army scored a massive breakthru from the Neisse river at Muskau, in a double drive aimed at a junction with American forces and encircling Berlin.

Closest Approach to Yanks

In their closest official approach to the Americans, Konev's troops raced 38 miles west from Rothenburg on the Oder, thru Niesky and Klitten, and reached Kamentz, 18 miles northeast of Dresden.

Heavy Russian attacks also were reported on the lower Oder between Greifenhagen and Stettin, where the Germans acknowledged that all defensive forces now had been withdrawn to the west bank of the Oder, and that Stettin was in flames from a relentless artillery barrage.

Whole fleets of Red army fighters and dive bombers lashed German defenses in the Berlin area, dipping their wings in salute to American fighters operating with heavy bombers.

60,585 British Civilians Killed Since War Began

LONDON, April 20 [Reuters]—Herbert Morrison, home secretary, told commons today that 146,760 civilians had been killed or injured in Great Britain since the beginning of the war. He added that among 60,585 killed or believed killed there were 26,920 men and 25,392 women, and 7,736 children under 16.

3D ARMY YANKS GROW BITTER AT NAZI BRUTALITY

U. S. 3D ARMY, Germany, April 20 (AP)—Third army troops are becoming increasingly bitter over German treatment of American prisoners of war.

Lt. Gen. Patton's divisions have liberated camps containing thousands of Americans. The situation was about the same in every prison: the Americans had been forced to walk 100 or more miles to camps and were assigned to filthy quarters that were unheated in cold weather. They were fed barely enough to keep alive. In some cases, men were forced to do heavy work, altho weak from hunger.

In at least one prison camp, Americans told of beatings received from German guards wielding rifle butts.

Censors Relax Policy

Army censors have been wary of passing stories about conditions in these camps. Everything indicating severe cruelty had been stopped until recently. The censors contended that unfounded exaggerations might be printed, provoking the Germans to retaliate. They also contended that undue anxiety would be created among prisoners' relatives.

The policy now has been relaxed. Correspondents may report what they see. One correspondent said there were large, clean buildings in nearly every camp he saw, which could have been used for prisoners.

British M. P.s Leave for Camps

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—A British house of commons delegation left here today to inspect German concentration camps and later Gen. Eisenhower cabled Gen. Marshall, chief of staff, an invitation for 12 United States congressmen and 12 American editors to make personal inspections.

STIMSON ASKS FULL REPORT ON GEN. ROSE DEATH

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—War Secretary Stimson has asked for a full report on the death of Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose, who was killed in action reportedly after he had surrendered.

In a letter to Senators Johnson [D., Colo.] and Millikin [R., Colo.], made public today, Stimson said that facts so far known by the war department indicate Rose was killed while holding his hands above his head.

The incident occurred March 30 while Gen. Rose was proceeding along a route in an armored column near Paderborn, Germany.

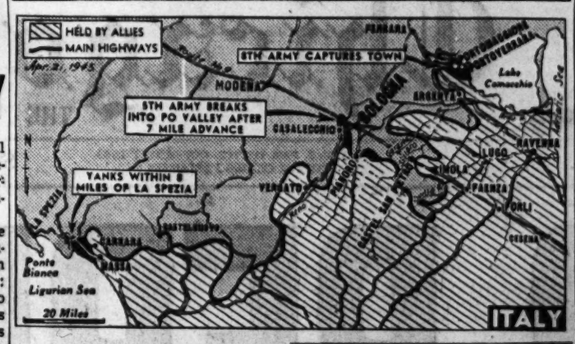
Stimson said that Gen. Rose's death was "a great loss to our armed forces."

Rose was a resident of Denver.

Jap Spokesman Denies Atrocities in Manila

LONDON, April 20 (AP) — The Tokyo radio today quoted Sadao Iguchi, government information bureau spokesman, as denying allied charges of Japanese atrocities in Manila. Iguchi dismissed the charges as "an American propaganda campaign" — ignoring the fact that Spain has broken relations with Japan in protest against attacks on Spanish civilians in the Philippines.

New Northward Drives in Italy



Enter Po Valley

ROME, April 20 (AP) — American 5th army troops broke out into the Po valley northwest of Bologna late today after a spectacular seven mile advance. They fought into the outskirts of Casalecchio, three miles southwest of Bologna, big industrial city and communications center.

A spearhead of one of the two divisions which burst out of the Apennine mountains on the fifth day of the all-out allied offensive in Italy cut the main Bologna-Modena highway—No. 9—at a point about nine miles northwest of Bologna. This was one of the main escape routes for German forces.

With American tanks and tank-destroyers streaming out onto the rolling Po plain tonight there was a surge of optimism among allied commanders that the German armies in Italy might soon be destroyed or driven beyond the Alps.

British 8th army troops advanced another three miles near the Italian east coast and captured Portomaggiore, 12 miles southeast of the Po valley industrial center of Ferrara.

Four miles southeast of Casalecchio, there was a brief, bitter clash for Monte Capra. Then troops under Lt. Col. Arthur C. Farthing, Sterling, Ill., rounded up between 300 and 400 prisoners.

56TH BIRTHDAY FINDS HITLER IS STILL MYSTERY

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—Adolf Hitler reached his 56th birthday today without fanfare. Where he was and what he was doing was a mystery.

The only hope held out to Nazi followers was a broadcast declaration by the D. N. B. news agency that "there will never be a German nation without the aims which have been set by Hitler." The few newspapers still publishing in the reich carried long accounts saying that Germany gained wealth and power under Hitler.

Goebbels' Speech Cut Off

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

A speech made to the German people Thursday night by Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, in honor of Hitler's birthday was not heard in many parts of Berlin because of an unexpected cut in the city's electric power, the German Transocean agency said yesterday. "The Berlin population, in its air raid shelters during the alert sounded this morning, is reading the speech," the agency added.

3 ROB WAR WORKER OF $78

Frank De Angelo, 3717 Lexington st., a war plant worker, was robbed of $78 yesterday by three men who seized him after he drove into a garage in the rear of his home, De Angelo reported to the police.

YANKS ON ELBE PLAY GAMES AND SHOOT RABBITS

MAGDEBURG, Germany, April 20—This fantastic war threatens to develop into a repetition of the "sitzkrieg" of the first eight months of the conflict, with the Yanks sitting on the Elbe and making no attempt to expand the 83d division's bridgehead toward Berlin.

All along the stretch where the Yanks are on the west side of the stream there are baseball games and Yanks washing clothing, tearing up old letters, writing home, shooting rabbits with liberated shotguns, doing everything that troops do after completing a long, fatiguing campaign of fighting.

Maj. Gen. M. S. Eddy Ill; Will Return to America

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY, April 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy of Chicago, commander of Lt. Gen. Patton's 12th corps, will return to the United States because of illness, it was announced today.

George Jurkin, 65, of 2842 Diversey av., has been missing from his home since March 1, his son, John, reported yesterday to police.

PEASANT POLES BEGIN SHIFT TO GERMAN AREAS

MOSCOW, April 20 (AP)—The first several thousands of Polish peasants were moving today to new homes in East Prussia, western Pomerania, and Silesia after the conquest of those areas by Russian and Polish troops.

A Polpress dispatch from Warsaw said 5,600 persons from the Krakow district and 600 families from the Kielce district already had left and 7,000 individuals had registered for transfer from the Warsaw district.

The Peasant Mutual Aid league is directing the transfers which are said to be voluntary. The groups are leaving in parties of 100 families each.

NAZI GUNS, FIRE TURNED ON 220 IN PRISON CAMP

Yanks Discover Bodies in Barracks Ruins

THEKLA, Germany, April 20 (AP)—The Gestapo, SS troops, and "Hitler Youths" showered 220 political prisoners with flaming acetone, roasting and shooting them to death in the concentration camp barracks just a few hours before American troops captured this Leipzig suburb.

The seared bodies, sprawled in postures of agony, still lay in the barracks ruins or caught on the sharp spikes of the barbed wire enclosing the camp, on which they had thrown themselves. Many had been shot there by their German guards.

Of 324 Polish, Russian, Czech, Yugoslav, French, and Italian political prisoners in the barracks only about 80 survived. They were led to safety by a Czech barber who had shorted the electrically charged wire enclosure.

Part of "Murder Factory"

Scores of Russian and Polish men and women, weeping bitterly, walked about the barracks ruins today searching for the bodies of relatives and friends.

This atrocity took place in plant No. 3 of the Erla works, which makes Messerschmitt airplane parts.

The concentration camp, in the middle of the factory buildings, is a division of the notorious Buchenwald "murder factory" near Weimar. The Nazis began assembling political prisoners there from other camps as each was menaced by the allied advance.

Gestapo agents were marching prisoners by the hundreds from the Thekla camp to points farther east until last Saturday. When they learned there no longer was any chance to get the rest of their political prisoners out to other camps, they decided to destroy the last 324 left on their hands.

Run Gantlet of Bayonets

A CANADIAN FIGHTER PLANE FIELD IN GERMANY, April 20 (AP)—Details of how American, British, and Canadian war prisoners were made to run a gantlet of slashing German bayonets were told today by liberated Canadian airmen.

What the prisoners referred to as the "Stettin jaunt" occurred last July, said Warrant Officer Joseph Pamburn of St. Boniface, Manitoba, when 800 Canadians and British and 1,000 American prisoners were made to run two miles from a train to a new camp as young German marine guards lined their flanks.

"As we started running, or stumbling because of our packs, the marines closed in on us," Pamburn said.

"They slashed at our backs, shoulders, and groins. If a man stumbled or fell he would get bayoneted or be clubbed by rifles. The marines had police dogs with them and the dogs would rush in at a fallen man, biting his arms and legs.

"Everything began to swim before my eyes. I stumbled and a marine clubbed me with a rifle butt. I passed out. When I came to a marine was standing over me with a bayonet. I asked him why they were doing this. He said, 'Your flyers bombed our wives and children.'"

ALBERT CANAL REBUILT IN TIME FOR BIG DRIVE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

PARIS, April 19—United States and British army engineers reconstructed the Albert canal stretching from Antwerp to Liege in time to supply our armies for the all-out offensive which opened in February. The canal was largely demolished by the retreating Germans.

The waterway has been in operation since mid-December, and in March alone handled 108,000 tons of United States army supplies. British engineers cleared the canal from Antwerp 50 miles inland, and the Americans took over from there and reconstructed the canal another 50 miles to Liege. In the American sector the locks of 21 bridges had to be rebuilt and debris dumped into the canal dredged.

At Velwezelt a 250 foot steel arch of a highway bridge had to be cleared, and at Hasselt an earth dam thrown across the canal to handle our traffic was replaced by a highway bridge. Operations on the canal began Dec. 16, 32 days after the capture of the approaches to Antwerp. At first only 600 ton barges could be used, but as the canal was cleared to its full width 2,000 tonners were put into action.

628 G.I.S KILLED IN V-BOMB RAIDS ON ANTWERP

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, Paris, April 20 [Reuters]—It was disclosed today that between Oct. 23 and March 28 nearly 4,000 robot bombs were launched against Antwerp, killing 1,000 Belgian civilians in their homes and 628 American soldiers. The number of British casualties was not given.

One small medical section of three officers and 17 men treated more than 2,800 casualties including 400 British and 400 American soldiers. Members of the engineer service worked five days and nights to extricate the bodies of 100 Belgian and allied soldiers from a large theater wrecked by V-bombs.

SOLDIERS BLOCK THEATER EXIT AT ATROCITY FILM

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—The Daily Mirror reported today that moviegoers, unable to stomach atrocity newsreels, tried to leave a Leicester square theater, but were turned back by British and allied soldiers, who told them to return and see what other people had to endure.

"People walked out from cinemas all over the country," the Mirror said, "and in many places there were soldiers to tell them to go back and face it."

"It's the only way to break the namby-pamby attitude toward Germans," the paper quoted a soldier as saying. "Many people don't believe such things could be. These films are proof. It is everybody's duty to know."

POLISH WOMAN TELLS HORRORS OF BELSEN CAMP

BY WILLIAM FRYE

BELSEN, Germany, April 20 (AP)—The fearsome story of the Belsen concentration camp, where some say as many as 30,000 died horrible deaths, was told today by a Polish woman who for several years had been a German prisoner.

She had been in Belsen seven months. Previously she had been imprisoned even longer in the infamous Auschwitz camp in Poland and for 27 months in prison—in the relative comfort of prison—in Berlin.

Vileness Began with Kramer

Correspondents were received in her miserable little room in the cookhouse—hers since the liberation—as in a castle drawing room. She spoke English—brokenly, cautiously—but without bitterness. This is her story:

Josef Kramer, SS [elite guard] commander of Belsen now under arrest, previously commanded Auschwitz, where children were reported taken from their mothers and burned alive, where a gas chamber killed thousands, where Kramer kept his own orchestra to entertain him with Strauss waltzes while abominations were practiced under his command outside his window.

At Belsen Kramer's predecessor, also of the SS, was kind and considerate—prisoners had enough to eat and proper medical care, and were treated as human beings. The vileness began with Kramer's arrival five months ago.

He instituted starvation as punishment, kept it up as a habit. He enjoyed the shuddering filthiness that Belsen became.

Occasionally men starving in Belsen watched the dying with hunger, and as soon as they were dead, cut out their hearts, livers, and kidneys, and devoured them to sustain their own vanishing lives.

Dead and Living Joined

One man seized in cannibalism by the SS was forced to kneel publicly, holding in his teeth the ear of a corpse, the entire day.

SS women tied one living and one dead person together, and burned both on a smouldering heap of scrap leather and worn out shoes and boots, while linking hands in a dance around this incredible pyre.

Beatings, chopping off fingers, and other savageries gave occasional zest to jaded appetites.

Once the Polish woman faltered in her conversation. She was asked how she learned English and she replied that there had been an English governess for two years for her little boy. What became of the boy, she did not say, and no one asked.

GERMAN POCKET BATTLESHIP IS LOST: BRITAIN

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—The German navy has lost its last pocket battleship, the Luetzow, the air ministry announced tonight, as authoritative reports were received of other crippling naval losses.

These reports said the Russians were believed to have seized the 26,000 ton battleship Gneisenau and the 10,000 ton heavy cruiser Seydlitz at unidentified Baltic ports. Stockholm dispatches said that what was left of the German navy fled to Copenhagen.

The air ministry said the Luetzow is lying on the bottom in shallow water at Swinemuende on the Baltic coast, her under water plating buckled by an R. A. F. bomb. As remnants of her once sizable fleet Germany now has only the eight inch gun cruiser Prinz Eugen and the light cruiser Nuernberg.

British Honor General Who Refused to Go Free

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Victor M. Fortune, who was freed from a German prison camp at Limburg by American troops last month, has been made a knight commander of the bath "in recognition of invaluable services to British prisoners of war in Germany." He thrice refused repatriation, telling the Germans, "I've been with my men from the start, and I'll go out with them, at their head or feet first."

ALL OF CENTRAL PHILIPPINES IS WON: M'ARTHUR

Cebu Cleared; 5,000 Japs Are Killed

MANILA, April 21 [Saturday]—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur today announced conquest of the central Philippines has been completed with extermination of all but a few remnants of the Japanese garrison on Cebu.

He said the Cebu victory gave his forces control of 33,000 square miles of the central and southern Philippines, liberated 6,400,000 civilians and reduced Japanese strong points in the entire Philippines to two—Davao on Mindanao and Baguio, the summer capital on Luzon. The Yanks are approaching both of these.

Doughboys virtually completed the Visayan campaign when they encircled and nearly wiped out the last of the Japanese on Cebu.

5,000 Japs Slain

"Japanese losses were very heavy, 5,000 dead being left on the field while remnants scattered into the hills, to be hunted down by our guerrilla forces," MacArthur said.

"Our losses in this campaign were extraordinarily light, due largely to the enemy's continued inability to diagnose our point of attack and to understand our local tactics of combat.

"His ground forces thruout the Philippine campaign in numerical strength have equaled and in some cases exceeded our own. Yet he has seemed bewildered and confused and, altho one of the most tenacious of fighters, has permitted himself to be constantly surprised, divided and destroyed in detail without being able to inflict more than a minor fraction of compensating losses.

Names Islands Cleared

"In addition to the main islands of Leyte, Samar, Mindoro, Panay, Palawan, Cebu, Negros, Bohol, and Masbate, Japanese garrisons on a score of lesser islands, including Bantayan, Biliran, Burias, Guimaras, Homonhon, Lubang, Poro, Marinduque, Quidijor, Tablas, Tibao, and the Sibuyan group have been eliminated.

"This sweeps clear the center of the Philippines and leaves the only remaining organized resistance in Mindanao on the south and upper Luzon on the north.

Produce Foodstuffs

"From the Visayas will come many of the foodstuffs and raw materials for rehabilitation and reconstruction of the Philippines and for prosecution of the war against Japan itself, including hemp, copra, metals, lumber, and cement."

MacArthur also announced that three Filipino collaborationist leaders had escaped to Formosa in a Japanese plane. He named them as Jose P. Laurel, "head of this disloyal group"; Benigno Aquino, and a man named Osias, "two of its most active members."

Gain on Mindanao

On Mindanao, last Japanese stronghold in the southern Philippines, the northern Yank column pushed 15 miles northeast of Malabang, its beachhead of three days before, and reached the shores of Lake Lanao. The center column advanced eastward 16 miles to Manuangan—along the mountain highway toward Davao, which still is 36 miles distant on the eastern shore.

The southern column repulsed an enemy counterattack north of Cotabato, captured Wednesday, and pushed up the Mindanao river, largest in the Philippines, from its newly established base at Lomopog.

FRONT ON LUZON IS VISITED BY 3 LABOR LEADERS

WITH THE 32D DIVISION ON NORTHERN LUZON, P. I., April 20 (AP)—Three west coast labor leaders spent the night under mortar and artillery fire with United States infantrymen in the Caraballo mountains. They agreed today the job the soldiers were doing was "the most magnificent thing" they had ever seen.

"No one can really appreciate what it is like until they have seen these men in action," said Mervyn Rathbone of San Francisco, secretary of the California CIO council. His statement was indorsed by Claude Ballard, Portland, Ore., president of the CIO International Woodworkers of America, and Thomas A. Rotell, San Francisco, assistant secretary of the AFL Bay City trades council.

The 32d division, which boasts 500 days of combat in the Pacific, is fighting thru rugged mountain country.

'HUMAN BOMBS' HURL SELVES AT YANKS ON IE ISLE

IE ISLAND, April 19 [Delayed]—(AP)—Fanatical Japanese suicide tactics which included one-man charges by "human bombs" are making fighting on little Ie more bitter by the hour.

Enemy soldiers with satchels of explosives strapped to them frequently have rushed headlong to our lines, blowing themselves to bits, and counter-attacks have been made by Japanese armed only with rocks and pieces of broken glass.

There even have been instances of Japanese throwing mortar shells with their hands.

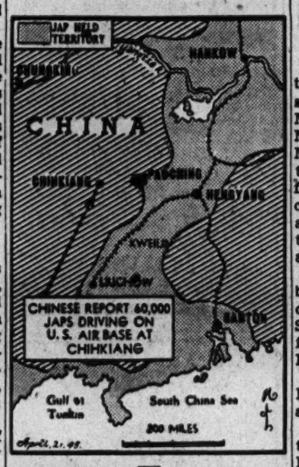
Peril Air Field



CHUNGKING, China, April 20 (AP)—Sixty thousand Japanese troops in three columns are driving across western Hunan province toward the United States 14th air force base at Chihkiang, 250 miles southeast of Chungking, a Chinese army spokesman estimated today.

Another 40,000 enemy troops are believed being held in reserve to assure success of the new offensive.

The main column of the three-pronged drive has been engaged at a point 22 miles west of its starting point at Paoching, which is 70 miles west of the Canton-Hankow rail junction of Hengyang, the spokesman said.

MORGAN DENIES ANY LINK WITH GERALD SMITH

Union attorneys failed yesterday to tie up Harry Morgan, suspended shop steward, with "Shouting Joe" McWilliams or Gerald L. K. Smith. Morgan is suing in Judge Donald S. McKinlay's Superior court to enjoin the United Electrical union [CIO] from having him ousted by the Chicago Flexible Shaft company under a maintenance of membership contract. He quit the union in protest against political activities.

Morgan on redirect examination by Atty. William J. Grace not only denied friendship for McWilliams, Smith, and organizations they may foster, but defended the America First committee.

"What happened to the America First committee?" Atty. Grace asked.

"It disbanded immediately after the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor," Morgan replied. "I understood that was on orders of Gen. Robert E. Wood, the national chairman, and of Gen. Thomas S. Hammond and Mrs. Janet Fairbank, Chicago heads."

"Are you a friend or follower of Joe McWilliams or Gerald L. K. Smith?"

"I am not."

TRIBUNE WRITER SEES STORMING OF OKINAWA HILL

BY HAROLD SMITH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH INFANTRY DIVISION ON OKINAWA, April 19 [Delayed]—The magnificent doughboys of the 7th division today stormed and took Hill 178, highest eminence of the Japanese line of defense on southern Okinawa, from which their artillery observers had been making a nuisance of themselves.

I watched the action from a perfect box seat atop Tomb hill, which overlooks the approaches to Hill 178, with Pvt. Frank L. Stecki of 11543 Wentworth av., Chicago. We spent the night on the hill, and at 6 o'clock this morning the preparatory barrage began.

Tomb hill heaved and trembled with the bombardment. The nearest enemy ridge was invisible, for dust and smoke from phosphorus shells. At 6:20, the near fringe of the bombardment ceased.

Tanks Crawl Ahead

Behind us, files of men trudged with their dusty loads up to the jumpoff line, moving toward one of life's greatest dramas as if it were rehearsed.

A thunderclap of silence, then the heavies and the battleships and the airplanes take over the deeper support. In the panorama below, there is a general movement forward. Off to the right a dozen Sherman tanks crawl thru a deep cut into no man's land, pull off the road, and halt as the engineers stalk down the road with their mine detectors.

The infantry disperses in thin columns and saunters across fields and up steep slopes, incredible in their leisure and unconcern.

Tanks on the Ridge

A Nip machine gun sputters off to the left. On the left flank, a company of tanks has moved out and is tossing long stingers of flame at lofty gun slits on Tomb hill ridge, which commands the eastern coastal plain on which the Yonabura airport is an objective. Presently you're aware the doughboys already have surmounted the nearest ridge and are advancing toward the next.

Our barrage has done its work well. This, then, is what is called neutralizing the enemy. An hour passes, and your heart goes out to the doughboys, offering their lives out there to take a land they'd never heard of two years ago. Casualties fall, but the troops move on, and the indomitable medics advance for their special brand of hell.

The battle jumps into your lap when Nip mortar shells begin pattering down by the score on Tomb hill's crest. You take refuge in the artillery's observation post.

You see that the ridge flank has bumped into considerable opposition, but is moving forward anyway. You regard the enemy artillery lull as a golden chance to get the hell out of there.

Why should I bother with sound effects of a thunderstorm when there's a lulu going on outside!

BRITISH LAUNCH DRIVE IN BURMA; AIM AT RANGOON

ADVANCED HDQ., BURMA, April 20 [Reuters]—A security screen was partly lifted today to disclose that Gen. Slims' 14th army troops were little more than 200 miles north of Rangoon. They were approaching Syin-Ma-Na, railway junction on the main Mandalay-Rangoon railway line, now less than 10 miles ahead.

The new offensive opened at the beginning of April after Japanese forces, which tried to dislodge the British troops from their Meiktila base, had been liquidated, and the 14th army men have already advanced 70 miles. In one period of 12 days 3,500 Japanese were killed.

HOW U.S. CRUISER HOUSTON FOUGHT 100 SHIPS TOLD

and sinking them. An ammunition ship blew up, and flames from the burning ships illuminated the sea for miles around.

"The Houston and Perth were also on fire and sinking slowly under heavy salvos from Jap warships. But the gunners kept shooting until the water closed over their batteries. When the end came the Houston had only two star shells left, and the Perth had six shells for which there were no firing charges.

Float on Bales of Money.

"Survivors took to the water and grabbed floating debris from enemy cargo ships. When morning came and they were picked up by enemy destroyers, it was found their lives had been saved by floating bales of Japanese currency notes printed for the occupation of Australia to which they clung.

"They were taken to the Indies and later to Singapore. On the way they learned the convoy which they had mauled so severely was on its way to attack Darwin, Australia.

"I firmly believe the gallantry of the men on the Houston and Perth saved Australia from invasion.

Illinoisan Saves Ship.

"Incidentally, it may be news to some that I talked to survivors of the 125th [Texas] field artillery at Singapore. They had been taken prisoners on Java."

The Houston's survivors are still in a Jap prison camp, but their spirit lives on aboard the new 10,000 ton Houston, now in service.

Maj. Blow also told how an Illinois sailor, Aviation Machinist's Mate William Ranger of Gillespie, had saved the Houston from sinking during a Japanese bombing attack on Feb. 4, 1942. A bomb had glanced off the mainmast, tearing away her battle flag and crashing into the deck. Determined that if the ship sank she would at least go down with her flag flying, Ranger broke out the small flag which is flown from a poop deck when liberty parties are ashore. This he lashed to a stern stanchion.

He then dashed into a turret where grease on the 256 pound shells was boiling with heat. While others passed him carbon dioxide flasks from outside, he withstood the terrific heat and broke the flasks directly on the shells. Silk bags of smokeless powder began to burn. Just in time, a hose was passed and water turned on. Ranger directed the stream on the fire, putting it out and saving the ship.

SAVE BIRTHRIGHT IN AIDING PEACE, TYDINGS URGES

Calls on Britain to Cede Island Bases to U. S.

The United States should participate in an organized effort to maintain world peace, but not by giving away the nation's substance and birthright, Sen. Tydings [D., Md.] yesterday told members of the Executives' Club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

Sen. Tydings

"Our first job is to see that the coming world peace and order are founded on law and justice," he asserted. "Nor is it necessary that we give away our substance and our birthright.

"Avoid Injustice to Ourselves"

"We should firmly reject those proposals which call for unequal burdens and unequal sacrifices upon our people. We cannot hope to bring a large measure of justice to the world by voluntarily inflicting injustices upon ourselves."

Tydings was loudly applauded when he declared the Marshall, Caroline, and Marianas Islands, bought with the blood of American youth, should be kept for the nation's future protection.

Urges We Pay as We Go

The senator proposed that the British "turn over to us, not the people, not all the land, but just that part of those islands lying close to the shores of the United States and belonging to Great Britain, on which we have already built, at very large expense, great military bases."

Pointing out that deficit spending over a long period of time had led to dictatorships in Italy and Germany, Tydings declared that as soon as possible the United States must proceed on a pay-as-you-go basis.

FAVORS ISLE RETENTION

San Francisco, Cal., April 20 (AP)—Vice Adm. Conrad E. L. Helfrich, commander in chief of the Netherlands military forces in the Far East, today advocated American retention of Pacific bases to insure that the Japanese will be crushed for all time. "The United States, I believe, has to keep as many bases in the Pacific as will enable them to command the sea and air in the Pacific from now on," he said. He arrived here today as a delegate to the world security conference.

JOHN J. O'CONNOR URGES OUSTER OF NEW DEALERS

The suggestion that President Truman replace New Dealers with "such invaluable men as Herbert Hoover and James A. Farley" was made yesterday by former Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York, executive chairman of the American Democratic national committee. In an editorial prepared for the May issue of the Washington News Digest, he said:

"There's no question but what Browder, Hillman, and the other non-American radicals will try to attach themselves to Mr. Truman's coattails. . . . In his decent heart he would like to live down that breakfast he was forced into having with Hillman at Chicago in 1944.

"The American people are watching to see whether, and how soon he cuts loose from that crowd and from the likes of Hopkins, Ickes, Neyhaus [alias Niles], Laski, the intruding London Communist; the Aubrey Williamses, the Corcorans, the Cohens; yes, and from Henry Wallace, delicate tho the breaking may be. He can ease them out of our government and call in such invaluable men as Herbert Hoover and James A. Farley."

FRENCH GENERAL WHO RESISTED IN SYRIA DOOMED

PARIS, April 20 (AP)—Gen. Henri Fernand Dentz, who commanded French troops which resisted the British occupation of Syria in 1941, was condemned to death for treason today.

William C. Bullitt, French army officer and former American ambassador to France, offered at the last minute to appear as a witness in behalf of Dentz, but the general declined the offer with thanks. In his final speech the 63 year old general said that in opposing the British attack on Syria, he had merely followed orders.

Among the documents introduced in Dentz' defense was one that purported to be a secret treaty signed by the Vichy government with Germany on May 5, 1941. Vichy accorded the Germans free transit thru Syria and air bases and supplies there. The purported treaty also placed Dakar and Bizerte at the disposal of the Germans.

URGES CONGRESS USE AX TO CURB 101 U.S. AGENCIES

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—Wholesale amputation of government agencies with "a bush-ax or a meat cleaver" was recommended today by Comptroler General Lindsay C. Warren.

Testifying before a senate banking and currency subcommittee in favor of a bill to bring all government corporations under the financial control of congress, Warren said:

"If the present trend of creating government corporations continues or is not curbed, we will soon have a government by government corporations."

"Greater Than Congress"

Asserting there now are 101 government corporations, Warren said:

"They are largely independent of congressional control and free from accountability to the executive. This thing we call government has reached gargantuan proportions and is sprawled all over the lot.

"It has become greater than congress, its creator, and at times arrogantly snaps its fingers in the face of congress.

"The most necessary thing I know of today along governmental lines is a thoro-going reorganization of the executive branch of government. It should be done scientifically.

Calls for Courage

"But once the decision is made then a bush-ax or a meat cleaver should be used."

"The only way to reorganize is to reorganize," Warren said with emphasis. "It calls for great courage. Duplication and overlapping are widely prevalent. Untold millions could be saved and efficiency created to a high degree."

"Of course," he added, "there would be loud yelps and snarls—that is always true when powers are curbed, consolidations made or appropriations reduced or discontinued."

LEARNS LATINS FEAR BIG 3 RULE OF WORLD BANK

Take Spectator's View of 'League' Talks

[This is the first article of a series by a Tribune correspondent who has just returned from a special assignment to Central and South America.]

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON

Latin Americans have a lively interest in the world security conference of allied nations opening in San Francisco next week but not, as might casually be assumed, in the international peace program that is the main purpose of the assembly.

An unconcern approaching apathy marks their general attitude toward the Utopian plan for keeping the world free of war thru another league of nations. The conference, in that light, is about as remote from the general public of South America as we felt we were from the early China-Japan conflict in Manchuria.

There are two reasons for this indifference. One is a belief that the role of small nations such as theirs in a global peace organization was decided at Yalta months ago and that the conference will mean little more to them, in that regard, than a disclosure of their pre-determined fate. The other is their concern with home affairs, particularly imminent elections in which the people hope to oust their dictators and the dictators hope to stay in power.

Fear Harm to Currencies

Their interest in the assembly stems from apprehension over what the three big powers in control of the meeting may do with the Latin American countries' post-war money systems and, hence, to their internal economies. For that reason they desire a voice in discussing the policies that may affect their standards of living.

They fear that the Big Three—the United States, Great Britain, and Russia—which have paid for the war in money as well as blood and will be unable to obtain reparations from completely vanquished enemies, will impose an appreciable share of the war's cost on Latin American nations by juggling monetary exchange rates thru control of a world bank.

Such manipulating readily could be done, Latin Americans assert, because the Big Three will dominate the buyers' market in the post-war era and because of the vast credits Latin American nations have with the allies.

These countries now have nearly 4 billion dollars' worth of credit built up with the United States and Great Britain, the greatest trade balance in their history. The huge stake was amassed by exports from the neutral Latin American countries to the two warring nations.

But these credits could be whittled down drastically if the debtor nations decided to reduce the value of the buyers' money. It would be easy, Latin Americans say, for Great Britain to decide that the Argentine peso, now valued at 16.39 to the pound sterling, was worth only 32 to the post-war pound which they are compelled to spend in Britain. This would mean that Argentina could buy only half the amount of goods she had expected to purchase with her trade credits.

Could Spread Costs

In such manner the proposed world bank which the proposed global league is expected to father, and which the Big Three nations would control, could spread a part of the war's cost not only among creditor nations but among any which dealt with the triumvirate. And, by so doing, they could exert a crippling power over any country's internal economy.

A number of Latin American countries are in the position of Argentina, with respect to credits, tho not to the extent she is involved. Argentina now has $248,000,000 worth of credit with Great Britain in pounds sterling which Britain has frozen since the beginning of the war. This credit can be used only to purchase goods from Britain when Britain is able to supply them, presumably not until after the war.

The blocked sterling scheme is virtually the same as Hitler's blocked mark trade, an international business practice which both Britain and the United States criticized, before we entered the war, as a menace to international trade.

Argentina, in addition to being most vulnerable because of having the most credits, perhaps has more reason than other South American countries to fear the manipulation of monetary exchange rates. For Argentina, ironically, can find in her own practices a precedent for the same exchange rigging that could be turned upon her. In dealing with the United States she has for years placed a higher value on her peso in selling to us than she did in buying, actually having two values for her monetary unit.

Reason for Apprehension

All the Latin American countries, on the basis of their experiences, have more reason to be apprehensive about the devaluation of their money than about possible aggressions by foreigners.

Since World War I. they have seen the imperial Russian ruble become valueless, the German mark disappear as a monetary unit, the French franc drop from 4.10 to 50 to the dollar in the controled market and to a low of 200 to 250 to the dollar in the black market.

They have seen the new German reichsbank mark in various forms, such as the tourist mark at one value, the official mark at another value, and the blocked trade mark at a third value, and all of them now worth almost as little as the World War I. mark.

They have seen the British pound recede from $4.82 to its present value of $4.02, and their own currency slip in value despite huge United States loans, gifts and credits.

Refused to Pay

They have seen nations repeatedly renege on their payments, the great powers of Britain and France repudiating their commitments in the last war to "Uncle Shylock." Even South American countries have refused to pay interest on existing debts to the United States despite our benevolence with millions of dollars and amassed trade credits.

They do not overlook the fact that two of the Big Three, which undoubtedly will control the world bank, have a record of failing to honor their obligations—Russia in repudiating her pre-revolutionary debts and Great Britain in failing to pay her war debts to the United States, defaults that do not engender confidence.

Furthermore, they already have had in this war an example of how the big powers can get together and control buying markets. They have seen the allies set prices they would pay for war goods and keep them there thru control of shipping and imposition of various licenses.

Small Role in League

As for their participation in a league to keep peace in the world, Latin Americans indicate a realization that they will have little part and little to say in the grand scheme, that for some time to come the world is to be governed by the Big Three.

They express the belief that the Yalta conferees divided the world into spheres of influence and that, naturally, Latin America is in the sphere of the United States—at least to the extent we can hold that influence against British commerce and Russian political drives—regardless of any individual desires the occupants of those countries may have.

It is to be expected, Latin Americans say, that their big neighbor to the north not only would take the diplomatic lead in hemispheric affairs, but, for her own security, would extend the power of her protection to South America, as expressed in her Monroe Doctrine, with or without a world league. However, the possibility of their invasion by a foreign aggressor is considered by most Latin Americans to be extremely remote.

All of which has combined to produce an attitude bordering on futility which has not been improved by the United States' apparently divergent intentions toward Latin American nations. They note that we are joined with Latin America in the Chapultepec regional defense proposition at the same time we are committed to the Yalta world police plan which would prohibit any such regionally united force. Thus, unable to do much more than watch the maneuvering, their interest is mainly that of a spectator.

O'DANIEL URGES YEAR'S TRAINING FOR MEN 18 AND 19

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—Senators disputed today whether the war department ever promised that soldiers under 20 would not be sent into combat without 12 months training.

Sen. O'Daniel [D., Tex.] contended that was "the impression given the country" in 1942 when the draft age was lowered to include 18 and 19 year olds.

O'Daniel has urged that the senate write an amendment to that effect into pending legislation to extend the draft act, now due to expire May 15.

Making issue with the Texan, Sen. Austin [R., Vt.] read a letter he said the war department sent to the military committee on Oct. 23, 1942, opposing a requirement for 12 months of training.

O'Daniel said "mothers and fathers now have no assurance that their 18 year olds will have any military training at all before combat. "Congress ought to give 'hem that assurance."

The draft extender came thru the house without modification, simply moving up the expiration date one year to May 15, 1946, or the end of the war, whichever arrives first.

WORLD JURISTS FAIL TO AGREE ON COURT ROLE

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—Jurists of the allied nations today signed recommendations for a world court to be incorporated in the proposed world organization.

The jurists were unable to agree on the important issue of whether the existing court in the Hague should have compulsory jurisdiction so that countries can be hauled into court as people are in their own lands, or whether their agreement to submit a case will continue to be required.

Alternate Recommendations

The smaller nations insisted on compulsory jurisdiction and the question was put over to San Francisco with two alternate recommendations expressing each point of view.

One diplomat of a small country said he felt the nations outside of the Big Five had lost out in the recommendation on the election of judges.

The 15 judges of the court, under today's proposals, would be elected by the general assembly and the security council of the new organization from a list of candidates nominated by national groups. The small countries at the meeting had wanted direct nomination by governments and election by the assembly alone.

A heated debate is expected to develop in San Francisco over the question of compulsory jurisdiction.

Treaty Interpretation

The cases on which it was proposed that the court have power to require countries to submit to its jurisdiction are those on: 1. Interpretation of a treaty. 2. Any point of international law. 3. The existence of any fact which, if established, would constitute a violation of an international obligation. 4. The nature or extent of the reparation that should be made for the breach of an international obligation.

These are the definitions of what are called justiciable international disputes, in contrast to political quarrels which would come before the security council.

YALE PRESIDENT PUTS PEACE UP TO BIG POWERS

Any sort of international organization devised for peace will work only if the big powers take the trouble to make it work, President Charles Seymour of Yale university said in an interview yesterday. Commenting on representation in an international assembly, he said: "Give Nicaragua 10 votes and the United States one, and you still haven't altered the fact that the United States has the power."

Dr. Seymour, historian and close observer of world events who attended the Paris peace conference in 1919, pointed out that the big powers did not coöperate in the league of nations.

No wage is "too high" that is earned!

WHAT OF THE wages of the future? This question is bound to come up in any discussion of post-war planning.

On this, our attitude is clear. No wages are high that are earned. Fifty dollars a day earned is none too high. But a dollar a day unearned is much too high.

More Productive Methods

Wages are a part of the product. They are not the result of the employer's generosity, nor the employee's ability to bring pressure to bear.

American Industry has continuously developed methods whereby a man receives more pay for fewer hours but still increases production. And so it will continue to be.

But wages are only one of Industry's problems.

A Better World Must Come

Millions of young men and women have been withdrawn from their homes and careers. Business is shorthanded. Many industries have been seriously disrupted. Public debt and the casualty lists mount higher every hour.

Victory, therefore, is the greatest concern of everybody. After Victory, all of us must strive to build a better world . . . a world in which such misfortune can never happen again.

Material things . . . radar and plastics and television and giant planes . . . will contribute much toward building a better and stronger American people. But these alone are not enough.

Confidence is the first need . . . confidence that work brings reward. Such confidence cultivated in a people generates enterprise and effort.

Industry, being part of the people, responds to the same stimulus . . . and is ready to initiate and work and invest all for the treasure of life in America.

Youth Must Have Opportunity

The way must be kept clear for independence in business . . . and for young men to start new businesses. Vigorous competition and initiative have carried our country safely and far.

American business is not performing its complete function unless it makes available to every family traditional American standards of living. American business also must serve social order and social advance. There is little room for racial or religious prejudice or class distinction when a country is alive with energy and is working.

These are some of the thoughts we hold as we look toward the day when wages will again be earned by building the goods of peace.

SENATE PLEDGED A SECURITY PACT IT CAN APPROVE

Connally and Vandenberg Speeches Applauded

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 20—In a flood of old fashioned oratory that brought senators to their feet applauding in violation of senate custom, Senators Connally [D., Tex.] and Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today promised to return from the San Francisco world security conference with a document that would meet the senate's approval.

Sen. Connally.

The two senators, who will be delegates to the conference, addressed the senate before leaving for the west coast. Other congressional members of the American delegation are Representatives Bloom [D., N. Y.] and Eaton [R., N. J.].

Connally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, was dressed in a black suit with a black string bow tie. His voice quavering with emotion, he said the United States "has a lofty duty to perform in leading the peoples of the earth away from the concept of rule by the sword" and predicted the San Francisco conference would attain that end.

High Ambitions

"We shall not be able, perhaps, to secure all we desire," Connally said. "Other nations will be represented there. But I have every confidence we shall be successful in laying the foundation of an edifice which may meet the high ambitions we entertain."

His voice breaking, Connally went on:

"In the performance of my duties I shall never forget this chamber and the knowledge that here, in the final analysis, will rest the fate of whatever we hope to accomplish. I hope it will be realized that we go not as partisans, not as messengers for any group or faction, but that we go bearing the symbols of the authority of the United States, speaking and acting for our common country."

As Connally concluded, senators and visitors in the gallery rose and applauded, some senators hurried to his seat to shake his hand, others dabbed their faces with handkerchiefs, and Vandenberg rose to speak.

Sense of Dedication

"In taking temporary leave of my dear friends in the senate," Vandenberg began solemnly, "I do so with the deepest sense of dedication to a supreme cause. No cause could be greater than the hopes and aspirations of human souls everywhere for permanent peace with justice in a free world for free men.

"I have no illusions that the San Francisco conference can chart the millenium. Please do not expect it of us. I have no illusions that we can bring back to you a treaty which will be free of all the frictions that our widely differing personal convictions inevitably invite.

"But I have faith we may perfect this charter of peace and justice so that reasonable men of good will will find in it so much good that all lesser doubts and disagreements may be resolved in its favor."

Vandenberg's address also led the senate to break its established rule against applause. He was followed by Senators Barkley [D., Ky.], Democratic leader, and Sen. White [R., Me.], Republican leader, both of whom contributed to the day's oratory with good wishes to their colleagues and for the success of the conference.

Detectives

Lil Seaman (top) and Rene Eggleston showing how they would watch a suspicious character from a vantage point in the Hotel Sherman.

A young marine yesterday approached a smartly dressed matron in the lobby of Hotel Sherman and suggested that perhaps they could dine and dance together later in the hotel's College Inn.

She looked into the marine's eyes and chided, "I've got a son your age. Now, why don't you run along and be a good boy?"

The matron was Mrs. Lil Seaman, 39, of 3006 Wentworth av., one of the two women house detectives who broke a nation-wide precedent yesterday when they officially began their duties in the hotel.

Mrs. Seaman, whose elder son, Louis, is a salvage diver with the navy in the Pacific, was a policewoman with a soup company before she took her present job. She is an able markswoman with a pistol, knows some judo, and has what she terms a "strong right."

The second woman detective at the hotel is Mrs. Rene Eggleston of 5408 Michigan av., whose husband is Patrolman Edward Eggleston of the Stanton av. station. They have two children, Vernadine, 16, and Edward, 15. Mrs. Eggleston is an attractive 30 year old brunette, who thru judo can turn a 300 pound man over her shoulder and fling him into the air.

MACKENZIE KING AT HULL HOUSE, ONCE HIS HOME

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada, who was in Chicago yesterday on his way to the world security conference in San Francisco, Cal., spent most of the afternoon at Hull House, where he lived in 1896-'97, when he was a graduate student at the University of Chicago.

The prime minister's party, in two special cars, arrived at the Dearborn station on the International Limited from Toronto, Ont., and departed in the evening on the Overland Limited for San Francisco.

During the day 350 Washington correspondents passed thru the city on a special train en route to San Francisco. Chicago and North Western railway officials announced that the streamliner City of San Francisco, which left at 6 p. m., was reserved for state department officials and staff.

SEEKS TO SPLIT PEACE PARLEY INTO 4 SECTIONS

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., April 20.—The United States, with the approval of the other sponsor nations, will propose a plan of working procedure at the conference of nations which will give every one of the 46 member countries a place on the four main functioning commissions, it was learned today.

Our state department will also recommend that all plenary sessions and commission meetings be open to press and public. Some opposition may develop to this suggestion, but no heated battle is expected because the real problems will be settled at subcommittee sessions—which will be behind closed doors.

The American organization proposal will be submitted Wednesday morning to an executive meeting of chairmen of the various delegations. The opening plenary session [plenary means that the entire membership of all delegations will be present] will start about 4:30 or 5 p. m. Wednesday afternoon [6:30 to 7 p.m. Chicago time] and probably will be short.

Truman Address Expected

President Truman is expected to address this opening session by radio and Anthony Eden, secretary of state for foreign affairs for the United Kingdom, and Soviet Commissar Molotov, are expected to respond.

A second plenary session Thursday will work out assignment of delegates to commissions and the commissions will probably organize Friday. State Secretary Stettinius, as chief delegate of the host nation, will be elected permanent chairman.

During the opening weeks of the confefence, working days will begin at 9 a. m. and run until 6 or 7 p. m. A five day week, Monday thru Friday, will be observed until the closing stages are reached.

Four Commissions Proposed

Four commissions, with 46 members each, will divide the problems of world organization, according to the United States proposal.

A commission on organization will settle the general outlines of the international organization. It will discuss problems of membership, principles, and general powers.

A commission on the security council will discuss membership, voting rules and powers of the supreme body of the world organization.

A commission on the economic and social council and a commission on judicial affairs will study the problems connected with those subjects.

The four commissions will meet frequently. Most of their work will consist of setting up committees and referring measures to them. Such committees will be appointed on membership, voting procedure, powers, and the like. Thus, the working organization of the conference is divided into five levels:

1. Plenary sessions, which vote final approval of the conference's work.

2. Parliamentary committees, which set up a working plan for the conference and organize it for business.

Many to Work at Once.

3. Commissions, which divide up the four or five main problems of the conference.

4. Committees which discuss different aspects of those main problems.

5. Subcommittees which divide up the questions still further to a workable level.

There may be as many as 50 different groups working at the same time during the conference. Every one of the 46 nations may be represented on these groups.

Over all the committees will be a steering committee, consisting of the 46 chairmen of the delegations, to which all specific proposals by individual delegations will be referred. The steering committee will turn the proposal over to the appropriate commission which will in turn give it to a committee for study.

There will also be an executive committee to administer the conference and a credentials committee to pass on the various delegations' legality.

WHERE'S OTHER SIDE? CITY TEACHERS ASK IN OAKS PEACE PLAN TILT

Teachers in the Chicago public schools who do not hold internationalist views yesterday began asking, "What is this?" and, "Will the other side be presented?" as they received copies of the proposed Dumbarton Oaks world peace plan and questionnaires relating to the plan.

The literature, furnished by the Build for Peace organization, formed last month to work for the adoption of the Dumbarton Oaks plan, was distributed to all teachers and principals in the school system with the sanction of William Johnson, superintendent.

At one school the teachers found the literature on their desks when they came to work. A bulletin from Johnson accompanied it, but there were no instructions as to how the teachers should use the material. Johnson said teachers could use it for study purposes or could throw it away, as they chose.

In a bulletin issued yesterday, Johnson urged principals to call every student's attention to Mayor Kelly's proclamation designating the month beginning April 18 as Keep United month.

TRUMAN MEETS WITH CABINET DURING BUSY DAY

Talks with Harriman on Russian Situation

BY WALTER TROHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 20—The first cabinet meeting since he took over the helm of the ship of state today marked a record schedule for President Truman.

In the cabinet room where he broke the news of President Roosevelt's death to the heads of the executive departments and then took the oath of office eight days ago, the new chief executive discussed domestic and foreign problems.

From around the cabinet table there was general agreement that Mr. Truman had fired the imagination of the people and captured the coöperation of congress to get off to a good start as the new chief executive.

Sixteen Other Appointments

The cabinet meeting and many of the 16 other scheduled appointments were pointed toward the successful launching of the San Francisco world security conference. In the hustle and bustle of preparation for the opening of the gathering next Wednesday there was no public mention of the involved and delicate problem of Russo-Polish relations.

Mr. Truman received a first hand report on Russia from W. Averell Harriman, American ambassador to the Kremlin.

Sen. Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, who is a member of American delegation to the conference, called to receive Presidential assurances of confidence in the group.

Entertains Diplomats

In the late afternoon the President entertained the heads of delegations going to San Francisco at Blair house, the nation's official guest house.

Furthering his pattern of coöperation with congress Truman saw six senators in addition to Connally. The senators were Bailey [D., N. C.] and Hoey [D., N. C.], who called about a judicial appointment; Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], who discussed the reciprocal trade program, Senate President McKellar [D., Tenn.] and Stewart [D., Tenn.], who called to extend best wishes, and Smith [R., N. J.], who went to pay his respects.

"A Friendly Visit"

Rep. Jed Johnson [D., Okla.] called with two representatives of the Masonic Service association for "a friendly visit." Veterans affairs were also discussed in conferences with Col. Howard Rusk in charge of the army air forces rehabilitation program, and Edward Scheiberling, national commander of the American Legion.

The first appointment of the day was with Col. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President. A short time later Mr. Truman received two marines and a sailor—survivors of the little group of fighting men who raised the American flag on Mount Suribachi at Iwo Jima. The men—Pvt. Ira Hayes of Bapchule, Ariz., Pvt. Rene A. Gagnon of Manchester, N. H., and Pharmacist Mate John H. Bradley of Appleton, Wis., handed the President the first copy off the press of the 7th war loan poster made from the famous photograph of the flag raising.

Other appointments included Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, Interior Secretary Ickes, Richard Nacey, a banker friend from Jefferson City, Mo., and Rabbi Stephen A. Wise, who said he had been authorized to say the President will carry on Mr. Roosevelt's Palestine policy, including advocacy of a free and democratic commonwealth in Palestine.

New Press Secretary

Mr. Truman announced Charles G. Ross, 59, Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, will become his press secretary, replacing J. Leonard Reinsch, managing director of three radio stations for James M. Cox, unsuccessful Democratic Presidential candidate in 1920.

Cox telegraphed the President to release Reinsch so that he can return to the radio stations where there is urgent need of his technical knowledge. Ross will assume his White House duties after covering the San Francisco conference.

RUDOLPH FRIML OPERETTA ON W-G-N TONIGHT

The Chicago Theater of the Air will broadcast Rudolph Friml's operetta, "Three Musketeers," in Medinah Temple auditorium over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 9 to 10 o'clock tonight. Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will speak from New York. Igor Gorin will sing the role of D'Artagnan; Marion Claire, of Constance Bonacieux; Earle Wilkie, of Porthos. The W-G-N Symphony orchestra and ensemble will be conducted by Henry Weber.

NEW 'CHEMICAL TORPEDO' RULED A WAR SECRET

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—Existence of a new, top-secret "chemical torpedo" in the navy's arsenal has been officially disclosed, but requests for further information on the weapon today brought no information from the navy except that the subject is "secret."

Such information as was released in congressional hearings, gave no indication of the significance of the name "chemical," but it evidently applies to modification of the old style steam-turbine propulsion.

THE GUMPS

HAROLD TEEN

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

April 20, 1945

EVERY ONE takes the robin for granted. It's one of our commonest species of birds; every child, city urchin as well as farm youngster, calls it by name; it inhabits almost every section of the country, with a subspecies in far western states; nests and lives close to our homes, and is found in the myths and literature of America and European countries.

Because the robin is so well known, it is casually accepted as just another bird, and therefore its habits escape close examination. For this reason there are many erroneous beliefs about the species.

The basic falsehood about the robin is its name, because it is not a member of the robin family, but a thrush. The "robin red breast" of English folk lore is a native of Europe and never has been established in this country. This real robin is similar to our bluebird in size with a dark brown back and a brick red breast.

Breast Colors Differ

The American colonists mistakenly believed our native robin to be the same species as the European robin, and naturally called it a robin. Our native bird is larger than the true robin, and his breast is a tawny orange rather than the rich red of the European bird. Ornithologists for years have protested against use of the name robin for our native thrush, but no amount of complaining will cause the public to change its name.

Some farmers wonder if the robin is a desirable resident. They see robins eat thousands of cultivated cherries every year, the birds are a nuisance around strawberry beds, and more important, one of their chief items of food is the common angle worm. The city resident thinks of the angle worm as something to put on a fish hook, but to the farmer these wrigglers are important aids to agriculture, because they penetrate hard soils and make them more porous, more fertile, and better able to absorb rainfall.

Eat Enemies of Crops

Offsetting the robins' destructive food habits is the fact that these birds also feed on beetles, caterpillars, grasshoppers, and other enemies of farm crops. About one-third of the robins' diet consists of these destructive insects. In August, when grasshoppers are abundant they make up about 17 per cent of the robins' diet. The most important single food item on the robins' annual diet is such wild fruits as wild cherries, grapes, and sumac. About 42 per cent of the birds' food is in this class.

So despite the robin's alias and his destruction of earthworms and cultivated foods, he is usually classified as a valuable and attractive member of the bird world.

★ The GARDEN ★

TAMPALA, a cooking green introduced last season, is winning high favor among gardeners. It grows in clump form and produces hundreds of long, narrow green leaves which may be cooked as a spinach substitute. The flavor is similar to that of Bloomsdale spinach, and the texture of the leaves is less coarse than that of Swiss chard. Standard tampala has all-green leaves; this year a red-veined tampala is on the market. Like Swiss chard, tampala produces new leaf growth as the mature leaves are harvested and thus continues in production all season.

Tampala seeds should be sown May 1 to 15, as soon as the ground is warm and after danger of frost has passed. If the leaves are to be harvested in the standard way, seedlings should be thinned to stand 18 inches apart in the row.

PROSECUTION COMPLETES CASE IN GRAFT TRIAL

Lansing, Mich., April 20 [Special]—The trial of six former legislators on a charge of graft conspiracy, involving proposed 1941 legislation to license naturopathy, was adjourned for the week-end today after the prosecution completed its case.

Cross-examination of the state's star witness, Harry R. Williams of Wheaton, Ill., former lobbyist for the American Naturopathic Association of Michigan, brought about frequent verbal clashes between Kim Sigler, special prosecutor, and George Fitzgerald, Detroit, counsel for defendant William Green of Hillman, former Republican representative.

Fitzgerald accused Williams of having attempted to "shake down" the organization's membership for contributions to a trust fund which the prosecution claims was to have been used to pay off law makers if the licensing bill was passed. The prosecution objected to this inferential attack and it was stricken from the record.

MEXICAN RENT CURB UPSET

MEXICO CITY, April 20 [AP]—The Supreme court of Mexico has ruled in a test case that the war time "law of emergency" under which President Avila Camacho can govern by decree does not extend to rent regulations. These it decided are not pertinent to national defense.

LABORITES ASK UNITED NATIONS WAR ON POVERTY

New British Economy Also Demanded

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—The British Labor party, chafing under restraints imposed by its participation in the war time coalition government, today demanded a future foreign policy to develop a new united nations war "on hunger, ignorance, and want."

It also called for overhaul of Britain's economic system, a great program of modernization and reëquipment of factories, homes, schools, and social services.

The double objective was laid down in a "declaration of policy" by the party's executive committee for submission to the annual conference next month as a prelude to the first general election in 10 years.

Guarantees Against War

"Now that victory has been won, at so great a cost of life and material destruction, we must make sure that Germany and Japan are deprived of all power ever to make war again," the committee said.

It called for the consolidation of the Soviet-Anglo-American association, saying: "Let it be not forgotten that in the years leading up to the war the tories were so scared of Russia that they missed the chance to establish a partnership that might well have prevented the war."

Specific Objectives

The declaration specifically called for:

1. Public ownership of all fuel, iron, steel, and power industries and inland transportation.
2. Public supervision of monopolies and cartels.
3. Government help to place export trade on its feet.
4. Enforcement of economic controls.
5. Retention of controls over rent and the other necessities of life.

SEDAN AND 9 TIRES STOLEN

A Cadillac sedan and nine tires were reported stolen yesterday from the M. R. Motor Sales company garage, 3945 Grand av.

"Laugh if you will—but I sold Mr. Kelly his first box of Wheaties."

No connection! But here's a famous five-star special: Wheaties, "Breakfast of Champions," with milk and fruit. A grand combination of good nourishment and delicious "second helping" flavor. See your grocer for Wheaties, America's favorite whole wheat flakes.

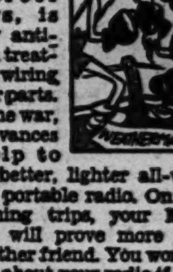
Radios That Defy The Weatherman

Battles go on despite the weather. Slashing rains must not put radio field sets out of commission. This problem has been met by development of ingenious, lightweight cases that completely seal out moisture. Even vapor, which in humid climates will penetrate waterproof barriers, is foiled by anti-corrosion treatment of wiring and other parts.



After the war, these advances will help to build a better, lighter all-weather Majestic portable radio. On picnics and fishing trips, your Majestic portable will prove more than a fair-weather friend. You won't have to worry about your radio if you get caught in a thundershower. Best of all, you will get "big set" reception on your little Majestic portable. Whether your first postwar radio buy is to be a portable, or a full-size, handsome radio-phonograph—your best buy will be Majestic, "Mighty Monarch of the Air."

Gracie Fields Goes Globe-trotting

Sometime in May, Gracie Fields plans to set forth on a 7 months' tour to entertain troops throughout the world. Her husband, Monty Banks, is going, too. Their journey, postponed three times, now seems certain.

Sumner Welles To Be Network News Expert

Sumner Welles, distinguished diplomat and former Under Secretary of State, will be heard in a 15-minute commentary each Tuesday from 8 to 8:15 p.m., CWT, over the Blue Network, beginning May 1. Welles' commentaries will continue for the duration of the San Francisco Conference. Welles recently was appointed Blue Network advisor on the coverage of the conference and on problems of peace and international affairs.

Staff Sgt. Ward Walker, marine combat correspondent on military leave from the editorial department of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, yesterday was presented with a citation signed by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, and a commendation ribbon.

The presentation was made by Lt. William K. Holt, pubic relations officer for the marine procurement office here and also on military leave from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, at the Wesley Memorial hospital, where Sgt. Walker is recovering from an attack of amebic dysentery contracted in the Pacific war area.

The citation was awarded Walker for "meritorious service' as a combat correspondent in gathering news under enemy fire while on a volunteer mission with an invading group of marines.

LT. KNIGHT JR. DIES IN BATTLE NEAR MUENSTER

LT. JOHN S. KNIGHT JR., 22, son of the publisher of the Chicago Daily News, was killed March 29 in a German ambush near Muenster while on reconnaissance duty, it was announced yesterday. Lt. Knight was commissioned a second lieutenant after his graduation from Culver Military academy in June, 1942. He was first assigned to a field artillery unit and later volunteered as a paratrooper. He trained as liaison pilot. He was promoted to first lieutenant last December and was awarded the bronze star for heroic and meritorious service in the battle of the Ardennes bulge. Besides his parents, Lt. Knight is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Wells Knight; a son, John S. Knight III, born two weeks after his death; two brothers, and a sister.

SGT. EDWARD W. SINKS, 24, with the Rainbow division, who was reported missing in Germany on March 19, now is reported killed, his widow, Emily L., of 2236 W. 21st pl., said yesterday. Sgt. Sinks enlisted in the air forces in April, 1942, was transferred to the infantry four months ago, and went overseas in January. Surviving besides his widow are a daughter, Barbara Ann, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B., five brothers, and three sisters.

PVT. ALFRED JUIRIS, 32, was killed in action in Germany on March 26, his sisters of 4540 Cornelia av., have been informed. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Juiris of the same address, and had been in the service two years. He went overseas on Feb. 22, 1945.

LT. WILLIAM J. C. LESLIE, 24, navigator of a B-29 super bomber based on Tinian, has been missing in action since March 28, his wife, Leonore, and mother, Mrs. E. H. Leslie, both of 712 Maclean av., Kenilworth, have been notified. He had been overseas since Feb. 1 and had completed seven missions.

PVT. JAMES H. WEYMOUTH, 29, previously reported missing in action, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his wife, Mary, of 4810 Congress st., and his mother, Mrs. Theo Weymouth, 317 S. Cicero av., have been notified.

SGT. PAUL H. PRITZKE, 29 was killed Feb. 23 in a plane crash in Egypt, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Pritzke, 3611 W. 62d pl., have learned. Sgt. Pritzke had been in the service for three and a half years and overseas 15 months. Besides his parents, he leaves a sister, and three brothers who are in service. Memorial services will be held at 10:45 a. m. tomorrow in the Nazareth Lutheran church.

PVT. ROBERT WAGNER, 31, who was reported missing in action in Belgium last Dec. 20 is a prisoner of war in Germany, his wife, Helen, 941 Forest av., Deerfield, has learned in a card from him written Jan. 29.

SGT. ALVIN WIEMOLD JR., 22, of 2030 Berwyn av., previously reported missing in action, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his parents have been informed. Sgt. Wiemold has been in the army for two years.

ARMY EXPLAINS NEGRO BAN AT OFFICERS' CLUB

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—The war department today said that pending an investigation no further disciplinary action will be taken against Negro officers involved in a controversy at Freeman field, Seymour, Ind.

A spokesman said three Negro officers accused of jostling a provost marshal when they entered a white officers' club April 5 are under arrest and 101 others are confined to quarters as a result of their refusal to sign an agreement not to enter the club, which had been set aside for base personnel and instructors, all white.

The 101 officers have been transferred from Freeman field to Godman field near Fort Knox, Ky. An air force spokesman said that separate clubs for instructors and for trainees is customary in the training command whether or not there is any racial difference between the two groups.

"Take a good one, professor! We've never met our new in-laws and they've got to make up their minds!"

ERNIE PYLE BURIED IN HAND MADE COFFIN AS MORTARS BARK

IE ISLAND, April 20 (AP)—Machine guns beat a sharp tattoo and mortars barked at the front only a short distance ahead today as Ernie Pyle, war correspondent, who was killed by a Japanese machine gunner, was buried with military honors.

The services were conducted in the 77th division cemetery by Chaplain N. B. Saucier, Coffeyville, Miss., as soldiers kept their pistols at the ready and wore their helmets because of possible sniper fire. Mortar shells fell near the funeral party on its way to the cemetery.

Pyle was laid to rest in a wooden casket made by Corp. Landon Seidler, Richmond, Va. Seidler also made a wooden plaque to be placed at the spot where the columnist was killed. It reads: "At this spot the 77th infantry division lost a buddy—Ernie Pyle—April 18, 1945."

MRS. M'CULLOCH, WOMEN'S RIGHTS LEADER, IS DEAD

Mrs. Frank H. McCulloch.

Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch, 82, of 2236 Orrington av., Evanston, dean of Chicago women lawyers and nationally known for her pioneering activity in behalf of women's suffrage, died yesterday in Evanston hospital after an illness of two weeks.

Mrs. McCulloch was the first woman in the country to preside as a justice of the peace, having served from 1905 to 1909 in Evanston. She was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1886 and practiced with her husband, Atty. Frank H. McCulloch, until her illness.

Suffrage Group's Counsel

Mrs. McCulloch for 12 years headed the legislative work of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association. She was legal counsel for the National Woman Suffrage association. She also was active in the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. McCulloch also was the first woman master in chancery. She was appointed in 1917.

Mrs. McCulloch once remarked: "As a lawyer a woman should be cheerful, thoro, persistent, judicious, and sufficiently clothed. By sufficiently, I mean she should wear enough clothing properly distributed, so that attention will not be distracted from her profession."

Mrs. McCulloch was a graduate of Rockford college on whose board of trustees she served for many years. She studied law at the old Union College of Law and practiced for four years in Rockford.

Writer on Legal Subjects

Mrs. McCulloch was the author of many books and articles on legal aspects of women's suffrage. One of her books, "Mr. Lex," became an authority on mother and child laws.

Mrs. McCulloch was closely associated with the development of Chicago Commons. She formerly headed the Illinois Woman's Democratic club.

She leaves her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Charles Cranston Spray; three sons, Hugh W., Hathorn W., and Frank W., and seven grandchildren. Services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Monday in the First Congregational church, Evanston.

TAXES ON HOUSING

Rep. Armstrong of Chicago has introduced at Springfield two bills whose purpose is to subject the properties of the Chicago Housing authority to the same local taxation that is paid on all other houses and flats in the community. Exemption was granted some years ago because the federal government wouldn't contribute toward housing projects here if they were going to be taxed.

The provision was justified at the time on the theory that the tenants would be the destitute and the very poor. Nobody was to be admitted whose family income was larger than $1,200. In fact, scarcely a fourth of the 5,700 tenants fall within that group. Well above half of the occupants have incomes of more than $1,500 and the group earning $1,800 and more is considerably larger than those who might properly be classified as destitute.

The city now is planning a $100,000,000 project, an investment which about doubles the amount spent on federal housing in Chicago. Mr. Armstrong says "it is high time to get off this merry-go-round of tax exemption" and asks, "Who is going to pay the taxes?"

That is a fair question and the answer is the obvious one that among those who will pay are tens of thousands of self-supporting citizens—tenants and home owners—in precisely the same economic class as those who under present law are exempted from carrying their share of the costs of local government. Under the law as it stands some people will be selected arbitrarily to live in the new, city owned flats and houses where the rents are lower because the occupants pay next to nothing toward the costs of the police and fire departments and the schools; other citizens enjoying no larger incomes must continue to make their full contribution toward the costs of government.

There are two theories on which tax exemption of publicly owned properties can be justified. One is the destitution of the beneficiaries. The County hospital is exempt for this reason and it was in the expectation that the occupants of the public housing projects would be the very poor that the present legislation was enacted. As we have seen, only a small proportion of the tenants fall within this classification.

The other theory is that all citizens share alike or are free to share alike in the benefits provided. On that assumption the parks are tax exempt. Anybody who wants to can make use of them. Similarly, the schools are exempt because they are open to all children equally. The exemption from local taxes recently granted the proposed Chicago Transit authority stands on the same ground. Every citizen will be free to avail himself of the services offered on equal terms with every other citizen.

These governmental activities offer no parallel to the housing schemes from which only a few thousands among the city's millions can benefit. The rest will derive no advantage and, indeed, will be lucky if they don't have to pay higher taxes to make up the amounts which the fortunate few don't contribute.

FROM DAD TO G. I. JOE

On May 14 the books will open formally for subscriptions to the Seventh war loan, and already the campaign for purchases by means of pay roll deductions is under way. As in previous loans, the quota for Chicago and Cook county is divided between individual subscribers on the one hand and corporations on the other, but this time a much larger proportion of the total is to come from individuals. That makes the task a great deal harder. In the last loan, for example, individuals were asked to contribute an aggregate of $235,596,000. This time their share is to be $327,474,000.

There are hundreds of thousands of fathers in this community, as everywhere else in the land, who are filled with pride in their sons now in the army and navy. In this loan campaign a special appeal might be made to these fathers to buy a bond to give to the boy when he gets home. Mighty few fathers could resist that appeal. Even those who had already subscribed as much as they felt they could afford, would manage to scrape a little deeper.

It might be a good idea to organize clubs among the fathers, and perhaps the treasury would coöperate by sending a notification to the boy of what his dad had done for him. If a slogan is needed, it writes itself: "From Dad to G. I. Joe."

BUROCRATIC JARGON

When OPA agents went out the other day looking for black market meat violations, they served something called "inspection requirements" on a number of truckers. These, it was explained, were an OPA version of a subpena.

The language in vogue with the New Deal, sometimes called federalese, is so peculiar that a special word has been coined to describe it. This is gobbledygook, the origins of which are vague. The "gobble" part of it may refer to gabble, meaning to chatter foolishly, or jabber, or it may mean that when the federal official delivers himself in his strange vocabulary he has a mouthful, altho he does not say one. The connective "dy," is probably a corruption of the French "de," meaning "of." "Gook" is a word in fashion among our South Pacific forces to describe natives and their language. The full word gobbledygook thus would mean to deliver a clatter of pidgin English. The definition seems adequate.

The OPA is particularly addicted to this sort of jargon, an example being, "Ultimate consumer means a person or group of persons, generally constituting a household, who purchase eggs at the individual stores of retailers or purchase and receive eggs at the place of abode of the individual or domestic household from producers or retail route sellers and who use such eggs for their consumption as food." Translated, this means, "Ultimate consumers are people who buy eggs to eat them."

All this has a somewhat comic aspect, but it really isn't very funny. When the OPA serves "inspection requirements" instead of subpenas, it is recognizing its own quasi-legal or extra-legal position as an agency of what is called administrative law. It has not the sanctions of constituted courts and an organized code, but functions under a blanket authorization by congress delegating vague war powers to the President. Hence, it writes its own law and devises its own instruments and procedures.

The spread of this sort of thing carries a real danger to the right of the citizen, for he is not subject to the law but to administrators who invent his offenses and prescribe the penalties that seem appropriate to them. The OPA alone is estimated to have required 11 million words to set forth its regulations. The citizen cannot possibly know when his actions are regarded as unlawful, for nobody could familiarize himself with all the regulations of all the administrative agencies, particularly when these are stated in a kind of language that even its authors can't render sensible. One of the big post-war projects in this country will be to reëstablish a proper legal responsibility between the citizen and government. The direct approach to that objective is to eliminate most of the New Deal agencies.

A NEW DEAL FOR NEW GUINEA

The Australian minister of external territories, Mr. Edward Ward, has announced what is described as "a new deal for natives in Papua and New Guinea." Mr. Ward says that the indenture system, under which natives were articled to gold mining and other companies for fixed periods of service, will be discontinued. "Mr. Ward," it is stated, "believes the government, rather than any company or individual, should decide where natives should work."

All we can say is that this is very handsome, indeed, of the Australian government. The natives, no doubt, will rejoice from one end of the jungle to the other. Instead of being enslaved by the Lever Brothers soap company they will now be enslaved by the government. It is quite a step up in the world for them.

THE TRIBUNE recently commented on the status of the natives in territories under Australian rule. Our war correspondent, Arthur Veysey, who was with Gen. MacArthur's forces in these areas, had described how the 4,000 white plantation and mine owners and traders had levied from the native population a labor force of 39,000 workers, indentured for periods of three years. The Australian government assisted in the recruitment and provided white overseers with police protection so that the laborers would not run away or become unruly. The natives received the magnificent stipend of $1.61 a month, but in return paid a head tax, by which the whites took back again practically all of this salary.

We are not informed that Mr. Ward proposes to elevate the existing salary ceiling. Probably that would be contrary to the provisions of whatever Australian agency corresponds to our war labor board. Over here we control salary increases by the Little Steel formula. In New Guinea, it may be assumed, there is a Little Coconut formula. Anything more than $1.61 a month, minus head tax and social security, if any, would bring inflation.

Next week we are to witness the convening of a solemn conclave in San Francisco, one of the purposes of which is to establish a world economic and social council, which, in the language of Dumbarton Oaks, "should facilitate solutions of international economic, social, and other humanitarian problems and promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms." We should suppose that if Australia and the other colonial powers really wanted to do anything toward ameliorating the lot of their exploited natives a less cumbersome method might be found. The scheme, as it stands, is admirably adapted to maintaining slavery and peonage in New Guinea until it is abolished in Java, Indo-China, Malaya, and everywhere else. That may be a very long time, indeed, because the prime purpose of the colonial system is the exploitation of men.

PLUNGING INTO WARS

Senator Bushfield of South Dakota believes that only congress should have the right to decide when this country is to take up arms. He has written to Secretary of State Stettinius urging that the American delegation at San Francisco insist on this point.

Mr. Bushfield's position is founded upon law and common sense. The Constitution says that congress and only congress has the right to declare the United States at war. A treaty which would seek to confer the power upon the President or upon the American member of the council of the proposed new league of nations would be in violation of the letter and spirit of the Constitution. A war so entered upon would have no warrant in law.

Certainly no one who is conscientiously seeking to prevent wars can argue in favor of making it easier for the nation to embark upon them. Certainly, too, any one who is a sincere believer in the doctrine that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed cannot question the desirability of leaving to the representatives of the people in congress the right to decide between war and peace. No one man should have the authority to send hundreds of thousands of his countrymen to death on the battlefield.

The Dumbarton Oaks theory assumes that wars will be discouraged if nations can be plunged into them by executive fiat. A sounder approach to the problem would require all nations which sign the proposed covenant to agree to impose the safeguards against hasty war-making that are found in our Constitution.

An Indiana man, hit on the head with a hammer, lost his voice. Singers beware!—Tulsa Tribune.

MR. PEPYS ABOUT TOWN

21st April—Tried to shake off the cares of state, which President Truman seems to be handling nicely, by seeking light, instructive diversions, such as art exhibitions, plays, and a lecture on waterfowl. In gadding about, met my contributor, A Looper, who is the town's champion gadder and knows more about it than the commissioner of streets and alleys. He had joined the cultural movement and was inspecting modern American painting in the Encyclopedia Britannica's show at the Art institute.

Saw "Othello," which is a mighty serious warning to jealous husbands, and "Dear Ruth," which is a merry tale of domestic pranks with no message whatsoever. Was glad to find a play that had no intention of saving the world, and so were the other customers, for the laughter was the loudest of the season.

Found the weather too obnoxious for baseball, but opened the season successfully by going to the sports editor every half hour last Tuesday afternoon to ask, "How are they doing at Wrigley field?" Heard that Germany's Macbeth had a birthday, and am quite sure he will never see another.

OKINAWA REVERIE

The violets along my path
Are plentiful and blue,
Anemones and bloodroot bloom,
With lilacs budding, too;
But I am not responsive
To the vivid springtime scenes,
For my heart's on Okinawa
With the 6th U. S. marines.

In town I labor absently,
Tall buildings look the same;
The springtime sky is lovely
From my high-up window frame;
I hunt for potent headings
To sell more good machines,
But my heart's on Okinawa
With the 6th U. S. marines.

A lad, on Okinawa now,
Was keen to join the fray;
The apple of my ego
Turned nineteen the other day;
So I watch the news dispatches
And I know what worry means
When my heart's on Okinawa
With the 6th U. S. marines.

Let 'Em Eat Pelicans!

With everybody nostalgic over the groaning tables of yesteryear, let's glance at the famed "Wellington kitchen" of the World's Fair in '93. Not famed to the public, but very much so to the 27,000 Fair employes. Just south of the ill-fated Cold Storage plant, the Wellington Catering company built a great kitchen to serve their restaurants. The concession obliged them to provide a dining hall to seat 2,500, where Fair employes could have hot meals at low cost. The official bronze badge of the Fair admitted a worker.

We sat on benches at long tables loaded with breads, preserves, pickles, and large pitchers of hot coffee and milk. Generous "helpings" of meat, potatoes, corn, and peas came in gargantuan tureens and platters. On three days of the week we had roast goose, duck, turkey, or chicken, with goose the popular performer. Near the end of the Fair, when the large flocks of lagoon pelicans were disappearing so fast that they became news, our table gossip said pelicans were pinch-hitting for the more glamorous goose. If so, we sure loved pelican.

To us ravenous young animals working in the concessions for little or nothing, the "Wellington kitchen" was a fabulous institution, a bit of epicurean heaven, a place to hasten to and leave reluctantly. While we gorged to a stupor at 25 cents a meal, patrons of Wellington restaurant within the Fair grounds wrote indignant letters to the press about being charged an extra 40 cents for a small plate of bread and butter!

JOURNEY'S END

The traveler sighed. The weary way was long.
But now, near journey's end, he raised his eyes;
His heart was lifted by a silent song
As dawn appeared across the long-dark skies.
The night had been a black, macabre thing,
Alive with lurking shadows of despair;
But strong in faith of what the morn would bring
He walked it thru. The goal was worth the dare.

Behind him, now, grave perils he had known;
Tho fraught with danger lay the road ahead
He did not fear to stride it all alone;
For, with the sun, the phantom forms had fled. . . .
And far horisons now shone with the light

When the World Changed

The first American automobile race was held in Chicago on Thanksgiving day, 1895. There was snow on the streets, and the going was tough for the six starters. The course was from Jackson park to Evanston and return, estimated at 55 miles. The winner, a Duryea car, driven by a Duryea, made it in 10 hours and 23 minutes. This machine was promptly sold for $1,000 to Charles R. Grueter, who thus became the first used car customer in America. Clyde D. Foster

Mrs. J. writes: "My husband is about to be inducted into the army. Please explain the difference between class A, class B-1, and class B dependents."

Class A dependents are the lawful wife of a soldier, his children, a divorced wife, not remarried, to whom alimony still is payable, and a wife living apart under court order or written agreement. Class B-1 dependents are parents and minor brothers and sisters who are dependent on the soldier for their chief support. Class B dependents are parents, brothers, and sisters dependent on the soldier for a substantial part of their support. Allotment may be made and family allowance obtained for both class A and class B-1 dependents.

L. S. writes: "Are illegitimate children entitled to an allowance from their father who is overseas?"

Illegitimate children may be qualified as class A dependents if the soldier has made written acknowledgment that he is the father of the children or if a copy of a court decree declaring him to be their father and ordering contribution for their support is submitted. If the soldier applies for an allowance, his application is considered acknowledgment of parenthood. When a court order is submitted it should be accompanied by birth records.

FAILING VISION MAY MEAN GLAUCOMA

POOR eyesight, even in the very old, should not be neglected. In this day of specialization there is no sound reason why these organs should not receive the best of care. It would be wonderful if each of us could recognize and understand the beginning signs of glaucoma [hardening of the eyeball] as this malady is one of our common causes of blindness in middle life and beyond.

The disorder has an innocent beginning—failing vision. This suggests to the victim that glasses are needed or the old pair is not strong enough. To some there is a feeling as if the "specs" are always cloudy and difficulty is encountered in keeping them clean. Colored halos may be noted around artificial lights, and annoying spots appear before the eyes. As this continues, headache is encountered on either side of the head. If the patient disregards these symptoms he is in danger of losing this faculty.

An examination at this time will reveal that pressure within the eye is rising. A study of the visual fields shows that perception is fairly good when looking at objects straight ahead but it is weak on the sides.

What is happening? Like other organs in the body, nutrient fluids enter one door and ultimately leave by another. Adequate drainage must keep up with the inflow or swelling ensues. In glaucoma something happens to the exit and tension within the globe begins to increase. Unless the condition is brought under control, damage to the delicate structures may be so great that little can be done toward restoration.

The blockage usually develops slowly but occasionally it is sudden. In these circumstances it is termed "an acute attack." Many seizures come without the slightest warning subsequent to infection, fatigue, or fright. There is rapid failure of sight, associated with distressing pain in the eye, which shoots in all directions over the head. This may be so severe that nausea, vomiting, and depression follow. Congestion causes the lids to puff and tears to flow.

As a rule, the pupil is dilated. Fortunately, there are drugs which will contract this structure, thereby assisting the outflow and relieving tension. If the medicine does not work, a rather simple operation can be performed by a skilled eye surgeon. This will provide the necessary avenue for the escape of secretions.

General treatment includes removal of foci of infection and proper control of diet and elimination—in other words, good hygiene. The disorder tends to recur and the sufferer should understand what symptoms indicate an emergency.

Nowadays, more of these cases are encountered than ever before. Perhaps it is the strain and anxiety of our times. Most of us rely upon our optics for all our actions and dare not risk disability. Prompt attention insures safety and the saving of sight.

SUNDAY GORGE

K. L. writes: If a person goes on a candy jag every Sunday, and then follows a rigid reducing diet for the remainder of the week, will the health be ruined?

REPLY

Not the health but the shape. I am not in favor of this method of reducing because your Sabbath spree undoes the six days of self-control.

KNEE-JERK

R. S. writes: When I was having my pre-induction test, I noticed that in some men, when the knee was tapped, it remained motionless. Does this indicate insanity?

REPLY

There is no relationship between this reflex and the mental condition.

SCAR DISCOMFORT

Mrs. D. F. writes: What can be done to ease tenderness over the appendix scar?

REPLY

This is not an uncommon complaint following removal of the appendix. As a rule, it disappears in time. The application of heat may prove soothing.

THEY MAY

W. E. writes: Will the children of a left handed father and mother inherit this characteristic?

REPLY

DOOMED

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Flying Dutchman, 1945

[Letter from a Chicago pilot in the Pacific telling his parents of a friend whose plane "never came home."]

"I guess it's silly of me to say it, but I'd rather see it that way. Somehow I like to think of those planes that are never heard from as planes that are still up there in the heavens, climbing higher and higher to man's ultimate goal.

"To me those planes and their men never die. They fly on and on in a cold, fresh, clean world that people of the ground will never know. I wish you could see the world as I have seen it from above. You can't learn to love it in one hour or even 1,000 hours, but you can begin to appreciate it.

"I have felt a nearness to God in the air over here that I have never before felt in my life. If you had been with me on one or two occasions and could have seen the hopeless black sky that cannot be penetrated, you would have seen how one tiny ray of light led me to clear sky, and you would understand how I feel about God and the sky.

"When the chips are down a man can do his best and the rest is not up to him. That's why I can't seem to fear the air. Somebody far greater than mortal man will ever be helps me when I need Him, and if I don't fail Him I know He won't fail me.

"I'll keep flying and fighting up there with some one I am beginning to know, even in my own small way. When I am thru I'll be back to you."

Confetti, Etc.

A book fell from the shelf. "Pick it up and read the first paragraph that hits your eyes," urged the visitor, a gentleman to whom we had been telling our disgust at all those windows full of confetti and flags which the public is urged to buy in preparation for V-E day.

"It was spring again," began the first paragraph of the page selected at random, "and the armies were moving in the field. . . . Last summer was forgotten; the shop clerks forgot and left their shelves, and the mechanics laid away their tools. A lark and a campaign, and the war would be over. Spring does that, coming suddenly with the sky bluer than ever it was during the winter. . . . This was the year for ending the war; they could prove that by the almanacs, by the stars, by gypsy fortune tellers. Ho and away . . . one knew about those things."

The book was Howard Fast's "Citizen Tom Paine." The armies were those of George Washington, the war was that first called "the long war," the spring was that of 1778. But the war did not end that spring. It did not end for three more springs.

The farmers now plow their fields again. The creeks are covered with the brilliant green of watercress. The sky is blue and benign except for the occasional passage of a dark bomber. In the woods the vine of the wild grape is slowly turning from dull brown to vivid green, the ground is blue with violets, and above them laces the pink of wild crab and the white of hawthorne.

From all of this, now as in all years, man takes boundless, resurgent hope. In a world so vibrant with new life war cannot continue. But war does. It did in 1778. And now?

Those windows of confetti and flags are a trifle sickening. So are all the warnings about closing the taverns when The Word comes. So is that policy, so widespread among so many, of just sitting back and waiting for the end.

After all, when it comes—and who knows if it will come at all this spring?—it will mark the end of only half a war. What the reaction was on Nov. 11, 1918, should have little bearing on what the reaction will be this spring or summer or fall day of 1945, if it is 1945.

Do the city fathers really believe that all the people of Chicago are going to get drunk as goats, chew the glass windows of department stores, and throw all the telephone directories out the windows? It seems much more probable that men and women everywhere, cognizant of the bitter cost of victory, will bow their heads in thanksgiving. And with tears that a world which knows the beauty of spring must know, too, the horror of war.

ARMY EXPEDITERS

Boston, Mass., April 18—I work in the contract termination department of a large manufacturing firm that is doing war work. One day recently a sergeant in uniform showed up at my desk with some papers to sign. The papers were of a routine nature—the kind that we receive daily thru the mail and send back after signing—and were tendered, thru the sergeant, by a government agency in an eastern city more than 700 miles from where we sat.

Thinking that the old octupus had grown another tentacle, I asked: "Has your agency established an office in our fair city?" "Nope," said the soldier, "I am from ——," and he named the eastern city.

"I see—you had other business in our town, and are killing this bird with the same stone."

"No," came back the answer, "this is all I came for—that's the army for you."

The papers having been signed, I got train schedules for the sergeant. "But," I asked, "what if you cannot get a seat on the 5 o'clock?"

"I've got a priority" he explained.

Five minutes later I was in telephone conversation with an army major in another branch of the service, and I told how the sergeant's agency was really expediting its paper work. He then confided the fact that he was going to have to drive an army car 180 miles to have some similar papers signed that very day.

Now, fellow taxpayers, you should know that neither the sergeant nor the major nor their immediate superiors were to blame for their pinch hitting for the well known postage stamp—all of which helps to account for the war's tremendous cost, the alleged man power shortage and transportation problems. The trouble lies in Washington, where some bigwig each month scans the reports and sends out telegrams to the district offices, ordering that certain steps on certain contracts be completed by the end of the current month. Instead of setting and announcing an objective for the month at the start of the month, he waits until three or four days before the end of the month. The postage stamp is then too slow acting; and, since an order is an order in the army, fantastic methods of compliance have to be followed.

These top army officials have been dictating the major policies on the home front. Because they lack experience and because the military system of doing things is not elastic enough to cope with economic problems, they are muddling and wasting. They have seriously disrupted the meat, tire, shoe, and work clothes situation—and they are now blaming the public for not being "decent," "sacrificial," and ready to accept inconveniences that have been created admittedly for psychological effect.

It is to be hoped that our new President will bring about more economical and intelligent direction of the war economy. If he does not, the public can and should do so in every future election.

LEGIONNAIRE

TO END EUROPEAN WARS.

Chicago, April 17—Why all this blah about the new league of nations when the solution of peace in Europe is simple if Europeans want peace? A United States of Europe, organized the same as we are, would solve every problem and keep eternal peace. Two senators should be elected from every country to place Norway and Germany on the same footing, with a house proportioned to population of each state, to give larger populations their just say in the lower house, and a president elected by the whole population. Also, with a supreme court and a federal army and navy. Then how could any one start a war? Could New York declare a war on Nevada? Naturally, there would be common citizenship, with no Dutch, French or English—all just citizens of the U. S. E. Full local rights under governors or kings, as they pleased, could be granted each country, but there would be free trade within the republic for all its members, with trade with colonies free to all.

I can see only two objections, viz: Uncle Sam would no longer play Santa Claus to the loudest beggars, and every state would have to give up its age old idea of grab from your neighbor.

Why not hold the state tournament in Chicago, where suitable buildings are available, and give the downstate boys a treat with the trip to Chicago?

WHAT GOES WITH A HOUSE

Chicago, April 17—When a three flat building is sold, are the storm windows and blinds considered a part of the house or may the former owner keep them?

H. Y.

On Nov. 4, 1941, committees of the bar association and of the Real Estate board approved rules for closing real estate sales, including the following:

[a] In all sales the following chattels or fixtures are to be included in the conveyance of real estate: shades and blinds, screens, storm doors and windows, stoker and firing tools, electric lighting fixtures, oil burners, gas heating units and hot water heating units, free and clear of liens.

[b] In sales of other than one family dwellings, the following chattels or fixtures shall be included in addition to those listed in paragraph a: hall carpets, refrigerators, gas and electric stoves, lawn mowers, and garden hose.

While these committees have no power to create law, their statement is persuasive as to what is customary and will probably be followed by the courts.

As to articles not listed in the statement that are so attached that they can be removed without material injury, the intent with which they are attached, as evidenced by express agreement or by the surrounding circumstances, will govern. Barbour vs. Lammert & Mann Co., 277 Ill. App. 613.

TURNER BLASTS PLAN TO WRECK 10,000 PLANES

'Wanton Waste,' Asserts Aeronautics Leader

Plans to shoot down and otherwise destroy more than 10,000 surplus American war planes, representing an expenditure of millions of dollars of taxpayers' money, are being developed as a research program by the government, the army and navy and branches of the aviation industry, the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America reported yesterday.

The project, said to have been devised as a means to uncover new secrets in design and accelerate safety and efficiency developments in future aircraft, was condemned immediately as a "wanton waste" by Col. Roscoe Turner, Indianapolis, Ind., vice chairman of the aeronautics commission of the American Legion and president of the National Aviation Trades association.

Project Futile, Turner Says

Turner, who also is a director of the National Aeronautics association, branded as a "futility," the contemplated destruction of the vast assortment of fighters, bombers, and transports which the A. C. C. in its official publication, Planes, disclosed is being readied tentatively for "scientific crashing" and wreckage by gunfire.

"We need those planes for postwar development of the national guard," Turner asserted. "We also need them for the valuable spare parts they contain. The proposed tests will produce no information we do not already possess from the thousands of crash landings that have been made in this war.

"Planes have been destroyed in combat under virtually every conceivable condition of flight, and most of the pilots have lived to tell what happened.

More Millions Must Be Spent

"About the only branch of aviation we have not fully explored is in the field of jet propulsion. I think the proposed tests are a wanton waste, because millions of extra dollars will be spent equipping the condemned planes with robot and radio installations to get them into the air just so they can be shot down."

Turner said that spare plane parts are badly needed in this country and in South America, to which the American government has been sending surplus aircraft as a good neighbor gesture. Many of the planes shipped to Latin American countries have been grounded since their arrival because of lack of spare parts, he contended.

Wrecking Plans Incomplete

The destruction program, says the A. C. C., calls for 50 different types of structural and performance tests that it says could not be made without "quantities of cheap and flyable airplanes."

Many details of the wholesale wrecking project, including administrative jurisdiction, the A. C. C. adds, have yet to be worked out in conjunction with the airplane technical committee of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce reported coordinating initial plans.

TERRY DRUGGAN ACCUSED BY OPA ON MEAT CHARGE

Exceeded His Quota, It's Alleged

Terry Druggan, prohibition beer baron who now is general manager and reputedly owner of the Midwest Packing company, near Barrington, yesterday was charged by the office of price administration with slaughtering good and choice beef cattle in excess of OPA maximum regulations. It was the fourth time Druggan the packer had been accused of violating OPA regulations.

The ex-beer peddler and his biggest customer, Michael Blasi, 3237 Polk st., a meat distributor, were named in a federal court injunction suit and two suspension proceedings, which alleged they slaughtered 95 per cent instead of 75 per cent of the beef allowed under the OPA's new slaughtering rules.

Meat Lacks Federal Stamp

Druggan's plant, which is not federally inspected, does all of Blasi's slaughtering, Marion W. Isbell, area OPA director, said. None of the meat is acceptable to the army or navy because it lacks a federal stamp. Chicago city inspectors have been putting their stamps on meat produced there, Isbell said.

OPA spokesmen disclosed they anticipated the agency will be given control of all slaughtering April 30 and that efforts will be made to extend federal inspection to 5,000 slaughtering houses. Only 700 plants now are federally inspected.

In the past Druggan's company has been enjoined for exceeding slaughtering quotas, suspended for failure to collect red points, and enjoined for failure to keep records. Isbell asserted the Druggan company is a dummy corporation, headed by Irving Deschauer, Lake Zurich justice of the peace and Druggan attorney, as president.

Parking Companies Pay

R. G. Lydy Parking company and subsidiaries, operating 11 loop parking lots, paid $7,856 in consent judgments to settle OPA suits asking $36,000 on charges the companies made overcharges for parking and washing cars. Downtown Parking Stations Inc., another loop lot operator, paid $4,903 on similar charges.

The OPA also won damage decrees against Samuel Spitz & Sons, 320 S. Franklin st., boys' clothing manufacturer, which paid $1,864, and the Keyes Sales company, Merchandise Mart, which paid $1,538. Five sausage peddlers paid $3,533, and 11 grocers and meat market owners paid $50 each to settle damage suits.

OCHS ASSERTS INNOCENCE OF BARAD SLAYING

Pvt. Martin [The Ox] Ochs pleaded not guilty yesterday to a warrant charging him with the murder of Maurice Barad, Chicago hoodlum, when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. H. Johnson, in Wheaton. He was held without bond for further hearing May 4.

His arraignment followed his removal to Wheaton from the army's Schick General hospital in Clinton, Ia., by Du Page county authorities. He was a military patient there as the result of injuries suffered in Italy. However, he was AWOL March 29 when Barad was slain near Bensenville, Du Page county.

After his arraignment, Ochs was questioned by Lt. Philip Breitzke, head of the Chicago homicide bureau. He denied knowledge of Barad's murder, but repeated an earlier story that he and Paul Labriola, a Chicago hoodlum, were with Barad the eve of his murder. He said they let Barad out of their car at Kedzie av. and Roosevelt rd. Labriola is being sought. Ochs and Labriola have been named as Barad's slayers by Barad's widow, Florence.

OPA Plans Same Quotas for Fuel Oil Next Season

The office of price administration, if it continues fuel oil rationing next season, will keep rations at the same level as at present, a spokesman said yesterday. All currently valid coupons will expire Aug. 31, instead of being carried over as last year. Coupons for the first 1945-'46 ration period will be made good June 1 and will have a value of 10 gallons per unit, the OPA said.

I-M CANAL SITE FOUND SUITABLE FOR SUPER-ROAD

BY ROBERT HOWARD

A legislative commission inspected the site of the old Illinois and Michigan canal yesterday and found no obstacles to its conversion into a modern super-highway across Chicago's southwest side.

W. J. Mortimer

"Grading for a super-highway could start next spring, since there are no insurmountable difficulties in the way," said William J. Mortimer, assistant to the Cook county highway superintendent, who accompanied the commission on its tour from Chicago to Joliet.

Plans for the super-highway from Kedzie to Cicero avs., a 2.2 mile strip which would help speed traffic to Chicago airport, are being prepared by the county highway department. The super-highway will be given top priority when road building is resumed after the war.

Downstate Traffic Artery

The super-highway would extend as far southwestward as Summit to connect with U. S. 66 and provide a fast and safe artery for downstate Illinois traffic.

Rep. J. Ward Smith [R., Ottawa], chairman of the commission, commended the plan to utilize the old canal, which has been abandoned and is a neglected eyesore.

"If something isn't done now, another 50 years will pass before another attempt is made to rescue the Illinois and Michigan canal from oblivion," said Smith. "In the lower reaches of the canal, from Joliet to La Salle, it has great conservation and park way possibilities. Into Chicago, it looks like an ideal superhighway, much needed by all of Illinois."

Trip Made by Automobile

Because much of the canal has been filled in, the inspection trip was made by automobile and the commissioners stopped at street and highway crossings to view the 60 foot width of the original canal, the faint traces of the towpath on the north bank, and the 90 foot reserve strips on each side.

Legal difficulties, involving the state's title to the reserve strips, needed for wide driveways, seemed to be of minor consequence on much of the route covered.

The Smith commission will meet with the Illinois congressional delegation in Washington, D. C., next week to ask concerted action for federal legislation to give full title to the state on the even numbered sections.

Accepts 'Invitation'

Los Angeles, Cal., April 20 (AP)—Arturo Toscanini was more surprised than his audience when he heard a ripple of applause last night as he conducted the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra in Weber's "Invitation to the Dance."

The famous maestro, turning toward his listeners, saw pirouetting before the footlights a young woman attired in black silk slacks and shirtwaist, and barefoot. She executed a few entrechats, another pirouet, and Toscanini stopped the orchestra.

From the wings came Wilfred Davis, manager of the orchestra. The young woman danced away from him, right into the orchestra, and thence into the wings and the arms of the backstage gendarmerie.

Detained briefly at a receiving hospital, where later she was released, she told police she simply couldn't resist Toscanini's music. She gave her name as Helen Faville.

TESTS REVEAL COWBOY SUIT IS 'HOT STUFF'

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—A demonstration of the inflammability of a child's cowboy suit led today to a prediction that congress soon will investigate the entire clothing field.

Asserting that manufacturers "are generally anxious to coöperate in reducing fire hazards," Rep. Priest [D., Tenn.] said:

"We are not interested just in cowboy suits. The demonstration today showed that fancy synthetic buttons, such as are worn on women's clothing, are highly inflammable."

DOYLE TO HEAD CHARITY WORK OF CATHOLICS

Benefactions of Group Told at Meeting

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

Yesterday's annual meeting of the Catholic Charities of Chicago, held in the Chicago club, recalls a long history of relief work among individuals and families of the city. The Societies of St. Vincent de Paul are agents for much of the work of the Catholic Charities, and their methods in dealing with human need are based on the church's past history in dealing with human nature.

Edward J. Doyle, president of the Commonwealth Edison company, was elected president of the organization succeeding Charles C. Kerwin. Other officers elected yesterday include William B. Traynor, Byron V. Kanaley, William R. Carney, Ivan A. McKenna, Julius F. Smetanka, and John S. Krez. The Rev. William A. O'Connor remains as director of the charities.

Ready for Emergency

While war years have brought material relief from extreme needs, the work of the Catholic charities with the aid of the Societies of St. Vincent de Paul during the depression years will long be remembered. Despite the lessening of demand for their services, the organizations are constantly ready for any emergency.

In dargest depression years, the charities and the Vincentians carried a case load of 4,100 families and 6,600 individual "service cases." The work was done by 4,200 laymen from 320 parishes. The methods used by the visitors are the results of the history of the Catholic church in dealing with spiritual and material needs of mankind.

Overhead Costs Are Low

When members of parish units of a society hear of a family in need, two members of the society call. It is a friendly visit and not an inspection for the family and premises. The approach is spiritual—friends, not spies. All needs are ascertained, and a report is made to the parish unit and to the Catholic charities to avoid duplication.

A survey of the work of the societies was made by the Family Welfare Association of America. It was found that not only was a great deal of money saved thru lower overhead costs, but also that actual monthly relief expenditures for each family aided was lower in the Catholic charities than in any other agencies except the Red Cross and Salvation army.

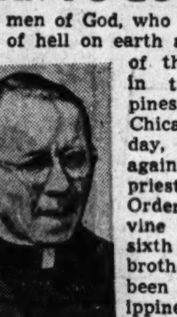
5 PRIESTS FREED IN PHILIPPINES PLAN TO GO BACK

Six men of God, who experienced a bit of hell on earth as prisoners of the Japanese in the Philippines, returned to Chicago yesterday, free men again. Five are priests of the Order of the Divine Word. The sixth is a lay brother who had been in the Philippines several years. After a short time in America each plans to return to the land of his choosing and help disperse the propaganda planted by the enemy.



The Rev. Eugene Stoll

One of the priests, Father Eugene Stoll, S. V. D., who went to the islands in 1930, and was teaching in the Catholic college on Cebu, told of being sentenced to die and narrowly escaping execution. He was denounced by an expelled student, who later was apprehended and confessed the charge that Father Stoll held a commission in the United States army was false.

The others are Fathers John Vogelgesang of St. Paul, Minn.; Lawrence Keisring of Covington, Ky.; Charles Gries, formerly of Chicago, and Lawrence Bunzel of Milwaukee, and Brother Raphael, St. Bernard, O.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam

AMICO—Richard Amico, April 21, 1943.
You came and stayed a little while,
To warm our hearts it's true;
But then you went to your real home,
And we, alone, are blue.
DAD, MOMMIE, SISTER, BROTHER.

BURKE—Charles D. Burke. In fond memory of our 25th wedding anniversary. LOVING WIFE ANNE.

FEDLER—Fred C. Fedler. In loving memory of our dear husband and uncle who passed away one year ago today, April 21. WIFE, MRS. F. C. FEDLER; NEPHEW, J. L. GARRITY; AND FRIEND, T. R. DE SANTE.

GAYNOR—Officer Patrick H. Gaynor. A tribute of love to the sacred memory of our beloved husband and dad, who left us 6 years ago today. WIFE AND DAUGHTERS.

HARMS—Corp. John Sheridan Harms, beloved son and brother, who was killed in line of duty one year ago today.
He little thought when leaving us
He would return no more;
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
We do not know what pain he bore;
We did not see him die.
We only know he passed away,
And could not say good-by.
MOTHER AND BOB.

KOPICKI—Frances Kopicki. In memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, who passed away three years ago today. LOVING DAUGHTERS, GRANDCHILDREN.

LILIENTHAL—Morris Lilienthal. In loving memory of my beloved husband and our dear father, who passed away one year ago today. DEVOTED WIFE, CHILDREN, AND GRANDCHILDREN.

MONTAGNO—Sgt. Chris D. Montagno. In loving memory of our dear son and brother—killed in action in India one year ago today.
Somewhere in India, in a soldier's grave,
Lies our dear son among the brave.
He never shunned his country's call,
But gladly gave his life, his all.
He died the helpless to defend,
A faithful soldier's noble end.

WOLFGRAM—Augusta Wolfgram, April 21, 1939. To our dear mother.
While you lie in peaceful sleep,

Young Chicago Navy Officer to Attend Security Parley

BY JUDITH CASS

RECENT news of men in service is of interest to their friends here. A young Chicago naval officer who will have tales to tell after the San Francisco world security conference is Lt. Comdr. George H. Haselton, who left Washington, D. C., Wednesday for the west coast. The only son of Mrs. George H. Haselton of the Pearson hotel and of the late Mr. Haselton, formerly of Evanston, Comdr. Haselton is on inactive duty after four and a half years with the navy. Much of that time was spent with the United States embassy in London. He now is affiliated with the state department for the western European countries.

Comdr. Haselton returned to this country in an English Red Cross hospital ship a year ago and spent several months convalescing at the Averill Harriman home in Harriman, N. Y., which has been turned over to convalescent naval officers for the duration.

The Roy C. Osgoods of Kenilworth have learned that their son, Alfred M. Osgood, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel in the army, and made a member of Lt. Gen. L. H. Brereton's staff. Col. Osgood went overseas more than a year ago and recently received the bronze star for meritorious achievement. His wife and son live in Washington, D. C.

Lt. Hunt Hamill recently received the bronze star for distinguishing himself in the battle at Lingayen gulf in the Philippines. Lt. Hamill is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamill of Winnetka. His wife and their baby daughter are living temporarily in Norfolk, Va.

Engagement News

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Mead of Geneva today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Allen, to Lt. George H. Guver Jr. of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guver of Detroit, Mich. The wedding will take place the latter part of next month at Fort Belvoir, Va., where Miss Mead is stationed as a staff aid for the American Red Cross and where Lt. Guver is stationed as a member of the medical administrative corps.

Miss Mead attended preparatory school at Putney, Vt., and was graduated from Smith college in 1943. Lt. Guver attended the University of Pittsburgh and was graduated from the University of Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Mead will go south for the wedding.

Wedding News

In a quiet ceremony at 4 p. m. today in the chapel of the First Methodist church, Evanston, Miss Shirley Garnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Logan Garnett of Evanston, will become the bride of Lt. William C. Moffat Jr. of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moffat of Winnetka. A small reception will follow in the Michigan Shores club.

Miss Garnett will be attended by Mrs. G. Owen Fairweather Jr. as matron of honor. Mrs. Donald Metz of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Alexander Kirk of Fort Thomas, Ky., will attend their sister, and also in the bridal party will be their daughters, Phoebe Kirk and Susan Metz. Mr. Fairweather will be best man, and among the ushers will be Maj. Metz and Capt. Kirk. Lt. Moffat and his bride will live in Newcastle, N. H., where he is stationed.

Invitations are in the mail to the marriage May 5 of Miss Margielou Arline Meinig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Holger George Meinig of Glencoe, and Robert Weems Tansill Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Tansill of Wilmette. The Rev. Samuel Harkness will read the ceremony at 4:30 p. m. in the Winnetka Congregational church. A reception will follow in the Woman's Library Club of Glencoe.

Miss Jane Welton of Portsmouth, Va., a classmate of Miss Meinig at Arlington Hall Junior college, will be maid of honor, and junior maid of honor will be the bride's 12 year old sister, Nancy Ann. Another Arlington classmate, Mrs. John Fauver of Detroit, will serve as bridesmaid, along with Mrs. Charles Theodore Boynton, Mrs. Franklin Neunuebel, and Mrs. David Main. The bride's brother, Capt. George E. Meinig, Mrs. Meinig, and their two young daughters, Judith Lou and Eleanor, will be here from El Paso, Tex., where he is stationed. Judith Lou will be the flower girl. Another brother, Capt. Douglas A. Meinig is stationed in Germany.

Following a wedding trip to North Carolina, Mr. Tansill and his bride will be at home in State pkwy.

Birth News

Capt. and Mrs. Melvin Traylor Jr. [Evelyn Shuman] became the parents of a daughter, Nancy, their first child, Wednesday in Scripps

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

That Youthful Look

An American prisoner of war, released and repatriated, wrote back to the boys in the prison camp saying that the thing which struck him most forcibly, when he returned home, was the way his wife had aged!

The excerpt from the letter was quoted, as a joke, in the camp publication, but to many a white collar girl struggling with deductions, transportation problems, insufficient lunches, overtaxed personnel, and a routine of all work and no play—it's not funny!

How can the working wife, or sweetheart, keep that youthful look which [admit it!] we all cherish?

What is the formula? The prescription?

Any suggestions?

For a WCG Copybook

It's not how brazenly you may brag,
Nor knowing the boss and having a drag;
Nor ravishing looks nor the part of your hair—
It's work and ability get you there!

BETTY COOK

Heart Attack

The employes of a certain firm publish a newspaper which features an inquiring reporter column. In the latest edition, the question asked was, "What is your chief ambition?" One brash but aspiring stenographer, not considering the gentleman's blood pressure, answered, "My chief ambition is to marry my boss."

That's telling him!

NOSEY PARKER II.

Unexploded Fuming

Without some chance to express ourselves, honest conclusions concerning the "head man" would remain only a figment in one's throbbing brain. How unsatisfactory is this unexploded fuming when day after day you listen to the head man beat his chest and shout as he looks at the results of your labors: "That isn't what I want. Now I've gone all thru this thing; I talk from years of experience; I know how it's done." You squeak in a voice which sounds strangely unfamiliar [tho your own], "What changes do you suggest?"

Well, doesn't it seem logical to put on your hat and walk out the door when he glares and replies: "I can't do your job for you. I'm not sure what I want, but I know this isn't it."

Instead, you sit down for another try at the job and write a letter to the WCG column, signing it:

Dis and Data

There is a television station in Illinois which claims to be the only one of its kind in the country to be run solely by women. . . . Have you heard of the group of telephone men in Chicago who have formed a Speak Easy club? They are learning to orate. . . . It must be spring—the gals are complaining about their jobs. To perk up their spirits, this department is compiling a list of service men contributors. Does any one know the address of Mark Sheridan and Harry Dean? Or any of the others?

Jewish Board Purchases Woman's Club Building

Mrs. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, president of the Chicago Woman's club, last night announced that the club had sold its building at 72 E. 11th st. to the board of Jewish education. It was reported that the sale price was $400,000, and that the Woman's club would continue to collect rent from the government, which has the building leased for the WAC, for the remainder of this year.

Spring Flowers Ready for Visit of Chicagoans

Nature at its April best will be a subject of study by thousands of Chicagoans this week-end, with the county forest preserves, nearby farm homesteads, the city parks, and the Morton arboretum as the outdoor classrooms.

Each spring park officials plan an April reception for the hordes of war weary city residents who wait until the hawthorn and wild crab trees show their pink and white blossoms to trek to the country for nature's spring flower show. This is that week-end, according to Mrs. Raymond Watts, naturalist of the Morton arboretum.

The arboretum grounds, adjacent to state highway 53 between Lisle and Glen Ellyn, contain hundreds of native wild crab and hawthorn trees now in full bloom. The hawthorns are loaded with the white blossoms which rest like fresh snow on graceful, upturned branches, suggestive of huge platters shaped for the sole purpose of holding their white flower clusters.

The smaller, more erect wild crab trees exhibit their family resemblance to the roses by showing smaller blossoms, their pink exteriors blending with the pure white of the opened flowers.

There also are many ornamental varieties of crab trees cultivated on the arboretum grounds for their attractive flowers, including the beautiful Zumi crab, now loaded with pure white blossoms; the pink and white Floribunda crab; and the deep rose Carmine variety.

Outdoor fans who fancy themselves as wild flower detectives also will have a chance to demonstrate their sleuthing abilities on the arboretum grounds, because there are more than 20 common wild flowers in bloom now. These include the delicate spring beauties, which form a pink carpet over entire sections of ground in the arboretum's oak woodlots; the first red trilliums of the season; a few of the large flowered white trilliums; the misnamed dogtooth violets, which are members of the lily family rather than violets; three species of white anemones; the first delicate blue wild phlox and their blossoming companions, the Jacob's Ladder flowers. Blue violets are everywhere in the woodlots this spring, more abundant than in normal seasons, and jack-in-the-pulpits are starting to preach their spring sermons.

Mrs. Watts said yesterday that week-end hikers may want to follow one or more of the three nature trails, marked with rustic wooden signposts to guide arboretum visitors. She also pointed out that the grounds contain 195 sample hedges.

The weather man is expected to coöperate with outdoor fans today and tomorrow.

Clergy Group of Parenthood League Set Up

Formation of a clergyman's committee of the Illinois League for Planned Parenthood was announced yesterday by Mrs. Robert A. Carr, first vice president, in her report at the annual meeting of the league in the Standard club.

Rabbi Louis L. Mann of Chicago Sinai congregation and the Rev. Dr. Harold W. Ruopp, pastor of Central church, are co-chairmen of the committee, which was started two weeks ago when letters went out to all clergymen in Illinois. Since then, 50 responses have come in. The newly organized group will meet for a conference on "A New Approach to Mother's Day," to be held May 7 in the La Salle hotel.

The state league is now devoted entirely to educational and extension work, Mrs. Carr reported, with all direct service to patients being carried on by affiliated clinics.

In her summary, Mrs. Carr declared: "We must emphasize the positive aspects of our program—that medically directed planned parenthood means healthy babies who can live to adult life—whose mothers can live to rear them—happy families to build sound communities—and that medically directed planned parenthood is the only sure way to eliminate the horrible evil of abortion, which takes a toll of mothers' lives and human energy each year."

Other speakers at the session were Miss Audrey Hayden, executive secretary of the Illinois Society for Prevention of Blindness, and Dr. Richard Frank of the Margaret Sanger centers. Miss Hayden counseled the league membership to work out a good public relations program in terms of thoughtfulness, patience, careful planning, singleness of purpose, and brevity. Dr. Frank discussed the problem of infertility encountered, he said, in approximately 15 per cent of all marriages.

The league is supported entirely by voluntary contributions and a drive for $49,615 for the upkeep of the centers here and for Chicago's participation in the state program will open at a tea May 4 in the home of Mrs. Chauncey Borland, 2450 Lakeview av.

Dr. Eugene A. Edwards, who was absent from yesterday's meeting, was reëlected president of the league. Other officers elected were Mrs. William B. Goltra, Mrs. P. D. Block Jr., and Mrs. Stanley G. Harris, first, second, and third vice presidents; Mrs. Elliott Donnelley, treasurer, and Mrs. Johnson Davis, secretary.

A. H. Compton Picked to Head Washington U.

Announcement was made in St. Louis, Mo., yesterday that Prof. Arthur Holly Compton, University of Chicago physicist, has accepted the post as chancellor of Washington university in that city. Harry B. Wallace, president of the university corporation, made the announcement, Dr. Compton could not be reached for comment.

Dr. Compton, Nobel prize winner in science in 1927, is a member of one of the most distinguished families in American higher education. One brother, Karl T. Compton, is president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and another, Wilson Compton, is president of Washington State college, Pullman, Wash. Their father, the late Elias Compton, taught at the College of Wooster, Wooster, O., for 45 years. The three sons and one daughter hold a total of 44 academic degrees and memberships in 39 learned societies.

While professor of physics at Washington university from 1920 to 1923, Dr. Compton did research which led to his Nobel prize as the discoverer of the "Compton process," which resulted from his theory of X-rays as rapidly moving particles, or photons, which bounce from electrons, thus losing energy in the rebound. He will return to St. Louis to succeed Chancellor George Reeves Throop, who retired last June because of illness.

The St. Louis announcement quoted Dr. Compton as saying that Washington university offers an unusual opportunity for development and that "the possibilities of service which an urban university can render" are "tremendous."

Dr. Compton referred with enthusiasm to plans for the development of the university's school of engineering which, he said, will make it one of the outstanding technological institutions of the country. The university is a member of the Association of American Universities and reported endowments of nearly 20 million dollars in 1940, with buildings and equipment valued at a slightly higher figure.

ON THE AISLE

Notes on Magical Visitation, a Glee Club, Field's Concert, and Some Other Things

Ever have a magician in the house? It's a mite disconcerting. Everything was normal here the other day until Harlan Tarbell walked in. He was just visiting, he said, and no doubt he just happened to have in his pocket what would have been a deck of cards had anything been printed on the pasteboards. He fiddled with them while he was talking, and things like threes of clubs and sixes of diamonds began to appear where none had bloomed before. Suddenly the whole deck was orthodox, with designs front and back, and then it petered out to blanks again. As sleight of hand, not bad, considering the size of my office and the number of people who had drifted in for the show.

But that was a trick. Wait until you hear this one. Three of us put pads on his eyes and taped them mercilessly down, adding a neat blue velvet blinder to the whole. He proceeded to read numbers off dollar bills, about the only size I ever own, and while he couldn't tell one visitor what was engraved on his watch, he said the watch was gold with gold numerals and silver hands and a gift from the owner's son, Jim. It was.

Then he turned on me. "Take your hands from behind your back," he commanded, "and pick up something." Considerably abashed, I did just that. He said I had "A Bell for Adano," and told me the dialog on the page at which it had fallen open. He said to take something out of my desk drawer, and I tried to make it tough. He said, "It's a file of some sort, pink, rather long, with rounded edges, and it's a little warped." It was a battered emery board precisely up to specifications. Then he said, "Give me that green book, the one that's a theater directory." I did. But when he began to read something about a face cream, I thought he should have been in Eleanor Nangle's department. My error. It was an advertisment on the back of a clipping tucked away in my desk drawer.

He calls this eyeless vision and will be illustrating it at the Opera house Sunday night, April 29—which is why he called. He was telling us, too, about the seven temples of the Coptic priests and how when the time comes to enter a new one you just sense where to find them. Said one man sat on the banks of the Nile until the alligators moved, then dived deep to the secret entrance. Gullible, am I? Well, I admit Mr. Tarbell looks like Will Rogers, but after that demonstration he could convince me the alligators acted as escort.

Singing Commercial

Spring always brings out the Glee Club of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and last night found its 65 melodious members presenting their 33d annual concert in Orchestra hall, again under the quiet direction of genial Herbert Hyde. The program, as usual, grew lighter in quality and more blithe in performance as it went along, because these are men who sing for fun and they do their best work in tunes that meet them halfway. But last night's concert varied the usual pattern almost at the end of the performance by dedicating an excerpt from Fauré's Requiem to those who have died in service. Accompanists were Robert Rix and Robert Macdonald, and the soloist was Maud Nosler, a lyric soprano who has promise, but not yet the skill to risk a major aria like "Depuis le jour."

Notes

The Marshall Field & Co. Choral Society sings its 39th annual concert in Orchestra hall next Friday, with Edgar Nelson conducting and Igor Gorin as soloist. . . . "Carousel," the musical "Liliom" with John Raitt, is New York's newest hit. . . . A woman who wanted to buy "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" was told at Field's book section, "All the Little Colonel series are down at the other end of the room."

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Baked Frankfurter Loaf

2 cups macaroni
4 eggs, well beaten
1 can chicken soup, undiluted
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon cayenne
12 frankfurters

Cook macaroni in salted, boiling water until tender. Drain, add other ingredients except frankfurters. Mix lightly and cover bottom of greased loaf pan with mixture. Add a layer of frankfurters, placing them lengthwise in pan, cover with macaroni and repeat. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, until set, about 1 hour. Unmold on large serving tray and garnish with parsley.

This Movie's Story Holds No Surprises

"FOREVER YOURS"

By Mae Tinée

There are no surprises in this film. From the minute you see the smugly smiling heroine being sweet to and singing for young invalids from a local children's hospital, dancing for benefits, and riding her thorobreds, you can bet something's going to happen. And when the young doctor [a major in disguise, working very secretly, for some reason or other] is introduced as an exponent of a new treatment for infantile paralysis, Gale Storm doesn't need to hold her head to indicate what's ailing her.

She has a father, a grandfather, an uncle, and aunt, and a fiance—all doting—and you can watch them dote during her long illness, her rebellion at invalidism, and her subsequent recovery.

Miss Storm is prettily petulant and a graceful dancer, John Mack Brown is a sober-faced physician, and the rest of the cast are expert as the aforementioned doters. There are occasional light touches, provided by Mary Boland and Frank Craven.

Children Will Entertain Ravinia Woman's Club

The arts committee of the Ravania Woman's club will sponsor an open tea and program or music, readings, and dancing at 4 p. m. tomorrow in the Village house, which will bring as guest artists members of the community's younger set. Among these will be Betty Bushey, Marjorie Pfister, Michael Adler, Fritz Meyer, Jean MacMurchy, Joyce Valiquet, Patty Lane, Patty Lynn, Ella Mae Baird, Joanne Huhn, and Patty Nelson.

Thru the Looking Glass

Is there a youngster in your house—teen age, let's say—who is heartbroken about the spring advent of "spots and things" on his or her face?

Sulphur and molasses isn't the remedy. Neither is a casual parental assurance that the spots will go away. We know now that adolescent skin disturbances should be taken care of, for physical and psychological reasons. And usually the treatment is simple.

One beauty specialist has given most of her professional attention to the young skin. She has, among other things, two excellent preparations for the "spots and things." The first is a liquid facial soap that is one of the best cleansers we have ever used, and one particularly fine for the adolescent skin that is beset with an uneven or excessive flow of the oil that attracts grime. It's applied to the wet skin—night and morning, preferably, but always at night—and then the skin is scrubbed, rather vigorously, with a complexion brush or a coarse, immaculately clean washcloth. This is followed by generous rinsing, first with warm, then with cold water.

In combination with the facial cleanser the young-skin specialist has a corrective ointment, a medicated preparation which should be applied in a thin layer over every little blackhead, pimple, or bump and left on over night.

Only the more complex skin ailments fail to respond to two weeks of this treatment.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 20—Stephen Laird, R. K. O.'s "mystery man" producer for the six months he's been there, has finished an original for his first production there, starting in August. It's titled "Palace on Main Street," with no actors announced yet. Leading character is a casualty of World War I., a man who had been a dentist but returns with impaired eyesight, which rules out that profession, so he opens a movie theater. The picture will be a sort of cavalcade of the movie business, from the exhibitors' standpoint, which I believe is the first time it's been done from that angle. . . . Laird formerly was news bureau head for Time and Fortune in Washington, London, and Berlin, during which time he wrote several books on political subjects. . . . Johnny Coy, who stopped the preview of "Bring On the Girls" by his magnificent dancing, won a contest when he was only 12 by combining the Canadian and American versions of the Highland fling. He was born in Montreal, has a medical discharge from the Canadian army, and had been hanging around Paramount for a year without getting anything to do. But I might as well warn him now; his vacation is over. The other show stopper was Spike Jones' rendition of "Chloe." Veronica Lake was well cast as a cigaret girl. Sonny Tufts should have had Veronica's make-up man. And Marjorie Reynolds should be given more to do. That gal's good.

That's Nice Going, Ann

Ann Richards [who's just finished in "Love Letters" with Joe Cotten and Jennifer Jones] will be the first Hollywood actress to serve in an official capacity at the security conference. She will accompany Francis Forde, deputy prime minister of Australia, as an official hostess for her country. . . . Incidentally, the reunion which Ann's family holds each year in Sydney, Australia, won't be complete this year. Her uncle and brother are prisoners of the Japs in Borneo, and because of traveling restrictions Ann can't go. She will send a 16 mm. film of herself to take her place. . . . Since "Wilson" is showing in England, the British are advertising Geraldine [Mrs. Wilson] Fitzgerald in reissues of English made pictures. . . . Even with the strike on, Hollywood gets a laugh into its working day. On "Stork Club" set opening day cameramen, props, and crew wore silk hats and white carnations. . . . Those who have seen Ingrid Bergman on the screen in "The Bells of St. Mary's" tell me they expect that in the year after the picture's shown a million girls will want to take the veil.

One Look Did It

George Jessel has been replaced by Colette Lyons, who will be mistress of ceremonies in "The Dolly Sisters." George was the real master of ceremonies 25 years ago when the Dolly Sisters were in the Ziegfeld Follies. Here's how the change happened. Georgie worked in the picture one day, went to see the rushes, and said, "I don't look like I did 25 years ago—I don't even look like I did last night!" . . . Joe E. Lewis certainly packed them in at Ciro's. Never saw so many Hollywood stars in one room. Joe's version of "My Heart Sings" and "I Don't Want to Get Married" are something to hear, but leave the children at home. Amongst the blushers were Bob Cobb and his beautiful missus, the Dana Andrews, the Joe Cottens, Liz Whitney with Victor Cutrer and Lynn Bari. . . . Charley Foy certainly was "took." When Joe Frisco was ready to return here he asked Foy to send for him with his fare and $100 in his pocket. Foy did, so Frisco took another week's vacation before reporting back to Foy's supper club. But even at that price he's cheap. There is a funny guy.

Party Success Is Up to Girls, Boy Believes

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

on the SOLID side

Arthur Murray says, "Dancing is a coöperative art, and the ready courtesy and tact that one must exercise at all times on the dance floor is carried over into daily life, into the business world, and at home. Gain for yourself the happiness and popularity which every good dancer enjoys."

That's solid advice, but it takes two to make a good dancer—the dancer himself and some smooth, willing gal to dance with. Girls often give out with complaints that boys don't like to dance and here is a counter-complaint from a high school boy who thinks that girls don't like to dance. Some of that Arthur Murray "coöperation" might solve the situation.

"Here's a suggestion for those lonesome little lovelies who say they are disappointed when they go to school dances in search of fun and frivolity. They complain that we fellows spend the night holding up the walls and that we seem to be uninterested and stuck up. But if these gals would shake themselves loose from their own select cliques long enough to give one and all a break—dancing with the short, the fat, and the tall alike—they soon would find themselves the belles of the ball. It takes all sorts of personalities to make up this old world of ours, and many of us aren't wallflowers at all. It's just that we feel more at home on a football field than warming a bench at a shindig. And when girls stand around in tight groups [are they scored, too?], fellows just don't have the courage to single one out of the crowd and ask her to dance.

"In the movies the boy-meets-girl script works like magic, but, alas, it's not always so in reality. All of us don't want to join the wolf pack, so we would prefer it if the lonely lovelies would greet us with less than a poison ivy look. They should look more "approachable," exert a little charm—that is what puts the rum in Coca-Cola! Maybe we all aren't Fred Astaires, but we'd like to try. Our shy personalities might be to blame but if the gals would give us a tumble, it would solve their problems as well as our own. How about a little help?"

Children Vary in Response to Their Training

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Babies and small children vary a great deal in the way they respond to training, toilet training especially. Some are placid and amenable, and don't seem to mind the interruption that trips to the bathroom represent. They are more "accepting" by nature, and not so desirous of constant activity. Other children, the more intense ones, who are full of zest for play, often don't want to "take time out" for these necessary functions.

But even with those children more easily managed, it is no longer the approved procedure to start training for bladder control too early. Often bowel control can be established quite young [tho then it is really just "catching" them at an established time, not at all the same thing as control].

What underlies this variability is the fact that to each individual small child there comes a moment when he feels the impulse and can tell his mother, and at the same time has sufficient control to wait until he reaches the bathroom. Children should not be punished into this control, nor should they be nagged or shamed into it.

The mother who will stand fast on this sensible approach is to be commended. Here is one who does, tho she is harassed on all sides:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I don't know if my problem comes under your column or not. However, I am asking your advice.

"My little girl is 22 months old, and she simply hates to go to the bathroom. Every one is amazed and they seem to make such a time of it. I didn't think it was that important as yet. Joan seems to get upset when I ask her if she has to go. She is a good little girl, smart in every way but this. All my good neighbors and relatives give their unasked-for advice, and all use methods of which I don't approve. I'm not going to whip her, for I'm sure it will make her nervous. I'm certainly not going to shame her either, for I believe that would harm her, and in time she will learn.

"I try to train Joan at intervals during the day—every hour at least. I feel that when she is 2 or older she will grasp the idea. Also, I have never tried to compare her with what her cousins or friends do. I realize that all children are different."

THE QUESTION

Should pets be kept in apartment buildings?

WHERE ASKED

THE ANSWERS

Mrs. Birdie Allen, housewife, 721 Belmont av.—I think pets are all right if the owner makes sure his pet doesn't bother any one else. Some people can't live in the country where having a pet is more convenient. If a child wants to own a dog or a cat or other pets, I think the child should be allowed to have it.

Bob Duncan, student, St. Charles rd., Wheaton—Small pets that are confined to an apartment, such as canaries, are all right. But pets that bother the neighbors shouldn't be allowed in an apartment. It isn't fair to the people who share a building if one of the families has a meowing cat or barking dog.

John Manahan, salesman, 2623 Farragut av.—An apartment is too confining for an animal of any size, such as a dog or cat. Pets are nice to have and entertaining, but they deserve a good home where they have plenty of room to be outdoors. I don't think it's fair to keep pets cooped up in an apartment.

Harold Beutger, student, 420 S. Wheaton av., Wheaton—Pets should definitely not be kept in apartments. I'm not against pets. I think they're a fine thing to have, but a pet deserves a good home, a place to romp and play, and plenty of fresh air and sunshine. The neighbors deserve a little consideration, too.

Aviation Machinists Mate 2d Class Marty Hart, New York City—Pets are not good for the prestige of an apartment building. They leave hair on the rugs in the hall and on rainy days mark up the floors and walls with their dirty paws. An apartment isn't the place for pets simply because of the damage they do to it.

Donald Melka, student, 2011 S. 4th av., Maywood—It depends upon whether they are annoying. If all the people in the building have pets and approve of having them around, then it's all right. But if the neighbors don't approve, I don't think it's fair for one family in the building to continue to keep pets there.

JOURNEY UNDERGROUND

(The story of a Chicago hero's escape from German occupied France)

(Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.)

By Flight Officer David G. Prosser

INSTALMENT XLIX

Before I had had a chance to discuss this discovery with any of the others, we had begun what was to be our last dash to freedom. For the first half hour we climbed a steep mountain.

My strength seemed spent, and soon I was in a worse condition than I had been at any time during the whole journey. The spots had reappeared before my eyes, my vision was blurred, and my breath came in short gasps. I felt delirious, and thru my mind whirled a long forgotten nursery story, "I will, I will," said the little train, "I'll climb that hill." Around and around my brain it went and when it faded I began to fear that I had lost consciousness.

The moon came out completely, making our black silhouettes plainly visible against the white snow. Some of our party had fallen two or three hundred yards behind. I felt certain the guide would not dare to leave them to die in the snow, but he gave no sign of slowing up.

"I will, I will, I will, I'll make that hill," continued to surge and whirl thru my brain. It seemed like a disease of which I could not rid myself. I tried to stop it by estimating the distance left to travel, and thinking aloud, "It can't be too much farther now. It's 3:30 an' the guide said we would be across the frontier about 4—that's half an hour to go, if we're lucky. If I can only make that, the rest won't matter."

At last we reached the top of the hill, and after walking a short distance on some level terrain came to a little gully.

Descending it was difficult. It was shaded from the moonlight, and as we stepped down the uncertain path we often slipped and fell. There was a little stream at the bottom, and when I first saw it I was determined to stop for a long drink of water, no matter how quickly the guide sped on. I was so annoyed with him that I rather hoped he would go on, just so I could spite him by staying. However, as I scooped up a second handful of water I saw him disappear over the ridge of the gully and the fear of being left quickly made me change my mind.

I charged up the embankment and upon reaching the top found a very long, expansive plateau.

A 60 mile an hour gale was blowing across the plateau, and snow suddenly began to fall heavily, cutting visibility to almost zero.

In absolute desperation I flung myself onward in terror of being left alone, hardly lifting my eyes to see what lay ahead. Suddenly I fell, and while cursing and picking myself up, I discovered that I had stumbled over Mac.

Mac yelled, still on the ground, "Look there! The lights—it's Spain—we're free!"

The plateau marked the end of French territory.

It seemed incredible that we had actually gained our freedom, and I was too tired to grasp it fully. Still disgruntled about the running we had just done, I asked Mac why it had been necessary.

"That whole plateau is covered by German machine gun posts," he replied. "The guides wanted us to cross it while it was snowing, and they couldn't see us."

We made a brief stop and the guides told us to pick up firewood on the next part of the journey. We walked only another 15 minutes and then had enough wood for a large fire. We stopped at a place with which the guides were evidently familiar.

Building the fire encouraged us—it meant we were nearly in free territory — but it didn't provide much warmth.

We asked the guides to give Paul some wine, but they refused. Every one was quite indignant at this, and soon afterward, when it became known that one of the group had fallen by the wayside, and the guides had made no attempt to help him, feelings against them mounted.

About 5:30 we put out the fire and started on our way into Spain. Often the guides led us along roads, but in general we were cautious. The Spanish civil guards would have done us little harm, but they were a grave danger to the guides, who, if caught, would probably have been condemned to death for smuggling us into Spain.

One of the guides returned almost two hours after he left us, bringing enough wine for each of us to have two cups, which raised his popularity 100 per cent. We thanked him, and he said, "During the war I fought with the Republicans and I still am a Communist."

I paid the guide 30,000 French francs [$600] for bringing me over the mountains, and then he changed what French money we had left into one 1,000 peseta note. We were near La Junquera, where we planned to take a train for Barcelona.

After the guide left we did all that was possible to improve our appearance, so that we could pass for workers at the railroad station. It had been planned that Paul would take the 1,000 peseta note and buy one-way tickets to Barcelona. We would follow him to the railroad station in twos or threes and go into the station buffet, where he would give us our tickets and buy us a cup of coffee.

For some reason I felt certain that our plan would never work, but I didn't worry much about it, altho I didn't trust the Spaniards.

We walked down a long road running parallel to the railway. I was with two Frenchmen. We were one of the last groups, and when we arrived many of the others were already standing around the station.

Upon arriving, we paid no attention to them, taking up a position near the cloakroom. Paul was nowhere to be seen, and I thought he was buying the tickets.

After we had been there for about 10 minutes two civil guards came down the road. As they approached, they spoke pleasantly to some of the other workmen who were on their way to catch the early train. More of these policemen in their green uniforms seemed suddenly to appear around the station.

Eventually Paul came out of the station. His expression was more one of seriousness than distress, but it was obvious that his ticket buying had not gone well. He talked to Mac and Guy, and instead of going into the cafe as they had planned, he merely stood with them. One of the other Americans approached him and spoke to him for a minute or two. The others did the same, and soon we discovered that he had not been able to buy the tickets. The railway clerk had not been able to change the thousand peseta note, and had called the bank to see if it could be changed there. This sounded very ominous to me; I felt certain the police had been called.

We became careless and drew together in a large group. It was obvious that we were not going to get our train tickets, and it would have been wiser to get out of there, but for some odd reason we all stood there, waiting for the inevitable. I think we must have felt the futility of starting out to walk to Barcelona.

The police became more and more numerous, and soon two of them approached us and said, "Extranjeros? Frances?" [Foreigners? French?] At first we paid no attention, but they were not to be put off. Making a tremendous attempt to sound Spanish, I replied, "Somos Espanol."

The sound of my accent was enough for them—they motioned us toward the others whom the police had collected in a little group down the road.

In a matter of minutes we were all being rounded up and herded off to the police station. On the way we made a long stop at the mayor's house. While the police went inside to get him the tension we had felt at being caught abated considerably. The mayor finally appeared and led us to the police station where we were half-heartedly questioned.

During our "interrogation" the mayor's secretary, a young, English looking man, came out to talk to us. He and Paul carried on most of the conversation. The secretary asked many questions about allied policy, particularly in regard to Russia, which he regarded as the world's bete noire.

About 11:30 the secretary told us luncheon was waiting in a near-by hotel and we were to leave immediately. However, the question of an armed escort delayed us. Not only were there insufficient guards, but there was no ammunition for one of the two rifles available.

After much commotion the secretary asked us if we were going to try to escape. We assured him we would not make any such attempt before lunch, so we set off with two guards, only one of whom had a loaded rifle.

The meal was excellent. Hors d'oeuvre was followed by Spanish rice, tomatoes, rabbit, and the wine was abundant. For dessert we had cheese and bananas.

When we finished, however, no coffee was brought to the table and as this was the treat the Frenchmen had looked forward to more than any other, many loud protests were voiced. When the secretary heard these he was most sympathetic, and offered us an invitation in the name of the town of La Junquera to have coffee at a local cafe, and at the same time he told us that instructions had been received to send us to Barcelona that afternoon.

New Negligees Offered in New Hue, Dawn Pink

BY REA SEEGER

Delicate dawn pink is the popular new pastel tint for spring and summer negligees. Whether you're assembling a trousseau or merely replacing your winter house coats and robes, lovely rosy pinks are tempting finds. The newest models are made of clinging mat-textured crepes in this romantic color. One beauty has the collar and the front edge contrasted with thin black lace exquisitely appliqued to the pink. The sleeves are wide, long, and loose and the sash belt ties at the side.

Another new negligee has the entire back of cream colored lace inset in a very pointed vee at the center of the back of the waist. The skirt is appreciably longer at the back and flares because of the back slanted center seam. Lace extends a trifle beyond the shoulders, otherwise the negligee is untrimmed.

Pale pink padded and quilted summer weight robes of figured brocade are especially valued by temporary invalids for the cozy warmth assured for any nippy spring morning. Frills of pink lace trim the cuffs of the long fitted sleeves and whirl around the pointed collar to the waist, and some luxury models have the lace around the lower hem line.

Very picturesque negligees are made of crepe and have swirled ruffles of lace around cuffs and hem as well as down the front. And tho this flush pink is the newest color available for first spring negligees, most of them are equally lovely in white or sky blue. Black lace with blue, and a model with the entire back of creamy lace are exceptionally effective contrasts in the fragile shade of blue.

Ruffled Brim Hat

BY ELLEN BRUCE

A fetching crocheted hat with a tiny ruffled brim is ideal for pompadour addicts. It is one of those clever, new creations which are equally becoming worn forward or back. Making such a hat is a quick and simple needlework trick. Cotton or synthetic straw may be used.

For instructions in crocheting the ruffled brim hat, No. 320, send 15 CENTS [wrap coin securely] to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

5 HELD FOR QUIZ ON GANG SLAYING OF SEN. HOOPER

Woman and Ex-Convicts Undergo Grilling

Detroit, Mich., April 20 [Special]—Four men and one woman were arrested today by state police and Detroit detectives for investigation in connection with the slaying last Jan. 11 of State Sen. Warren G. Hooper [R., Albion], whose body was found in his burning automobile near Springport in Jackson county.

Hooper, shot to death, had been scheduled to testify in trials of several persons indicted by Judge Leland W. Carr's one man grand jury which has been investigating Michigan legislative graft.

Five Held for Quiz

Pete Mahoney, alias Apostolapolis, 43, of Detroit.

No formal charge has been filed against any of the five. Capt. Harold V. Mulbar, chief of state police detectives, said the evidence that led to the detention of the five "looks mighty promising." He added there were indications of a "paid killing in which large sums of money passed hands."

Kim Sigler, special prosecutor of the grand jury investigation, said at Lansing: "The case is not solved by a long shot." He expressed indignation over the disclosure of the arrests by the police.

Two Served in Alcatraz

Harry and Sam Fleisher were released in 1940 from the federal penitentiary at Alcatraz, where they had served six years of an eight year sentence for operation of an illicit liquor still.

Harry had been operating a flower shop in Detroit. His record showed numerous arrests dating back to 1922, but only two convictions. In both of them he paid fines for violating the liquor laws. Sammy had been operating a junk yard in Albion, home of the late Sen. Hooper.

JUDGES ALARMED OVER RANDOLPH PENSION BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., April 20—Judges today were privately expressing alarm over legislation which would compel 23 of them to retire unless they were willing to sacrifice their liberal pension rights.

Paul Randolph, a Chicago Republican, reported that he is finding wide support for his measure. It provides that any judge who remains in service after reaching 70 or earning the right to a 50 per cent pension, whichever event is later, must forfeit his pension.

Compilations made here showed that passage of the bill would immediately affect 11 Superior-Circuit judges in Cook county, 10 Circuit judges downstate, and two Supreme court justices—William J. Fulton and Francis J. Wilson.

150 Walk Out of Plant Making Gun Carriages

One hundred fifty welders and forge plant workers struck at midnight in the Pettibone-Mulliken corporation plant at 4710 Division st., disrupting production of 155 millimeter and 8-inch gun carriages. They quit, it was reported, because one of the workers had been transferred to another job. As a result his selective service board reclassified him as 1-A. The strikers are members of an AFL union.

Liquor Dealer Reports $1,250 Whisky Stolen

Ride Into a Cell

Denver, Colo., April 20 [Special]—Two Rockford, Ill., girls who accepted a free automobile ride to the west coast from two men April 12 were being held here today as material witnesses in the arrest of their companions for the abduction of two Denver district attorney's office representatives.

They are blonde Hope Keeth, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Keeth, 323 N. Horsman st., and red-haired Betty Scott, also 19, daughter of Mrs. Bertil Johnson, 1022 W. State st., Rockford. They were employees of a Rockford drug store until they headed for the west with two men who represented themselves as OPA agents but who turned out to be ex-convicts.

The men are Arthur D. Sallee, 27, and Richard Heilman, 23. When Sallee was arrested in Denver last Wednesday on a 1943 accordion theft charge, he and Heilman abducted the two arresting officers and fled. They were recaptured yesterday. Police found more than $5,000 in cash in Sallee's luggage.

Rockford police want the two men for questioning about burglaries April 7 at the homes of Frank Martinetti and L. A. Howe.

J. G. KELLOGG'S DAUGHTER ENDS HER LIFE IN EAST

Philadelphia, Pa., April 20 [Special]—The bodies of two young women were found at 11 a. m. today in a car parked on an estate in the exclusive Main Line section, outside Philadelphia. Coroner W. J. Rushong of Montgomery county and Lower Merion police described the deaths as a "double suicide" by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Miss Paula Kellogg

The women were identified as Paula Kellogg, 26, daughter of James G. Kellogg, 80 Locust rd., Winnetka, Ill., president of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, Chicago, and Mrs. Eloise W. Baker, 30, wife of John Paul Baker, associate professor of philosophy at Pennsylvania State college.

Miss Kellogg, divorced two months ago from Lt. Carr Neel Miller of St. Paul, Minn., whom she married in September, 1943, was dressed in slacks, while Mrs. Baker was wearing a spring suit. Police said the women had clasped hands. Both women were voluntary patients at the Institute for Mental Hygiene in West Philadelphia.

FAKE WAR HERO JUDGE RELEASED GETS JAIL TERM

William Riley, 23, of 3359 Lowell av., was sentenced yesterday by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Traffic court to 30 days in the county jail on a charge of contempt of court. Riley was freed of a speeding charge by Judge Hermes on Monday after saying he lost an eye and an arm in service. Yesterday Riley admitted that his story was a hoax, and that he had never been in service. Riley said he used the service tale because he was afraid he would lose his job as a truck driver if his employer found out about his arrest. He admitted he had served time in the Illinois State Training School for Boys, the county jail, and the Bridewell for various offenses.

ACCUSE CABBIE OF G-MAN POSE TO KIDNAP GIRL

Freeport, Ill., April 20 [Special]—When Lester James van Brunt, 31, former cab and truck driver, is brought here from Indianapolis, Ind., where he was arrested this week, he will face federal grand jury indictments charging him with impersonation of an FBI agent and violation of the Mann act.

Van Brunt is accused of "arresting" a Madison, Wis., waitress on an "espionage" charge and keeping her in various hotel rooms in Wisconsin and Illinois for several weeks.

Munitions Plant Mentioned

Assistant United States Atty. Sim T. Mee said in Sterling that Van Brunt posed as an FBI agent last Jan. 21 in Madison and took into custody Frances Mary Muzynski, 21, a native of Erie, Pa. He accused her of being a member of an espionage ring trying to get information about the Badger Ordnance Works at Baraboo, Wis.

Van Brunt, who at one time had been a cab driver in Salt Lake City, Utah, had been employed as a truck driver in January of this year at the ordnance works.

Atty. Mee said Van Brunt took the woman to Janesville, where they stayed about three weeks, and then to Rockford, where they arrived Feb. 15. He said Van Brunt told the woman that he had been assigned by the FBI to keep track of her activities and that she had been "paroled" into his custody.

Traced to Indianapolis

The woman's reported plight was said to have been discovered early in March when she inadvertently broke a window in her hotel room. The Rockford police were called by the hotel management and learned that she allegedly was being kept there by Van Brunt. The latter fled before he could be arrested, but was traced by the FBI to Indianapolis, where he is in custody.

Last Monday a federal grand jury in the court of Judge Elwyn R. Shaw returned indictments against Van Brunt. He will be arraigned before Judge Shaw on his return here.

$100 WORTH OF TOOLS STOLEN

Emil Paster, owner of an automobile wrecking company at 4113 Ogden av., yesterday reported to police the theft of a cutting torch and other tools valued at $100.

Brothers Killed

Sgt. Edward, Sgt. Stanley, and Lt. Chester Mrozek (left to right).

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mrozek, 5129 Roscoe st., yesterday were notified of the death of their third son while in service. Last night they appealed to the Red Cross to ask the war department to assign three surviving sons to noncombat duty in America.

On Thursday a message informed them that Staff Sgt. Stanley Mrozek, 28, was killed on March 30 on Luzon. He was the second to die, Sgt. Edward Mrozek, 31, an infantry man, having been killed in France July 15.

Lt. Chester W. Mrozek, 24, who was in Texas after completing 25 bombing missions in Europe, obtained an emergency leave to go home and console his parents. A transport plane on a routine flight crashed yesterday near Sweetwater, Tex., killing him and 24 other officers and men.

The surviving sons in service are Tech. Sgt. Walter, 34, and Lt. William, 30, both in Germany, and Pvt. Eugene, 21, in Hawaii. At home are Edwin, 19, classified 1-A, and a sister, Bernice.

Other Chicagoland men killed in the Texas crash included Sgt. William H. Edwards, Winterset, Ia., crew chief; Corp. D. Jennelle, Lewiston, Mich., and Pvt. Kenneth W. Carlson, Oskaloosa, Ia.

'STORY IS OVER,' MRS. ROOSEVELT ASSERTS IN N. Y.

New York, April 20 (AP)—"The story is over."

With those words to a reporter, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt entered her apartment here tonight a few hours after leaving the White House where she had lived for 12 years. That was all she said.

Mrs. Roosevelt motored to Union station in Washington where she took the 6 p. m. train for New York.

Accompanying her in two black limousines were Lt. Col. James Roosevelt and his wife, Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt and his wife, Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, Mrs. John Roosevelt, and Miss Melvina Thompson, a secretary.

ABSENCE IN WAR PLANTS GAINS DURING CURFEW

Cleveland, O., April 20 (AP)—Despite the national amusement curfew, Cleveland war plants reported more absenteeism last month than in February, a survey by the Associated Industries of Cleveland showed today.

"The influence of the curfew, if there was any, was to increase absenteeism slightly," the report said.

The survey, covering 177 factories employing 79,669 workers showed 119,786 man days were lost thru worker absenteeism last month with an average absent rate of 5.493 per cent. The February rate was 5.239 per cent. Absenteeism was greater among women workers than among men, the survey declared.

Little White Crosses

Little white crosses, God, row after row—
O, please, let Thy rich blessings fall
Upon every one, for so well dost Thou know

Far away there, to sacrifice all.

Somehow I feel, if they only could see,
Those unselfish men 'neath the sod—
Their little white crosses, placed so tenderly,
And pointing straight up to You, God,
Just small wooden crosses, symbolical of
Christ's own, they would be satisfied;
They would feel well repaid for the sacrifice made,
Since, like Him, 'twas for others they died! —Clara Elizabeth Otto.

LAMOTTA BEATS DELLICURTI IN 10 ROUND BOUT

New York, April 20 (AP)—Jack Lamotta, Bronx middleweight, wore down Vic Dellicurti with savage body punches tonight to win a unanimous 10 round decision over his New York rival in St. Nick's arena.

A crowd of 3,781 that contributed to a gross gate of $10,981 saw Dellicurti hold Lamotta to virtually even terms for the first six rounds, but then fade under Lamotta's hammering. Lamotta battered Dellicurti at will in the seventh, eighth, and ninth and stood off Vic's futile last round try for a knockout.

PRO FOOTBALL CO-OPERATION IS THEIR GOAL

Insist on an Equal Rank with N.F.L.

BY EDWARD PRELL

The All-America Football conference, well past the blueprint stage and waiting only for the return of talent from the wars, yesterday made an official bid for equal ranking with the long established National Football league.

The first act of the owners representing seven clubs at the conference's meeting in the Palmer House was to appoint a committee of two to arrange for conversations with Elmer Layden, president of the National league. Object of the conference, based on a spirit of conciliation and sportsmanship, would be to effect an understanding between the rivals "for the good of the public and the two leagues."

Christy Walsh, coöwner with Don Ameche of the Los Angeles franchise and acting president of the All-America, said that John L. Keeshin, president of the Chicago club, and Lt. [j. g.] Paul Brown, general manager and head coach of the Cleveland entry, would seek a meeting with Layden.

Layden Eludes Questioners

The All-America's suggestion apparently threw President Layden's office into a mild state of confusion. At 3:40 p. m. Mr. Layden still was "at lunch." Later his secretary, declining to reveal where he could be reached, issued this statement for the league's boss:

"All I know of new leagues is what I read in the newspapers. There is nothing for the National Football league to talk about as far as new leagues are concerned, until some one gets a football and plays a game."

This statement was at variance with an earlier one which he personally issued to another source. In it, Layden said in part that "the doors of the National Football league always are open for any one who wants to come in for a friendly meeting."

Seeks Equal Rating

"This is the conference's fourth meeting in a year," said Walsh. "We have spent money signing coaches, engaging players, and setting up our organizations. We feel that we have demonstrated we are in business—and in a big league way."

It was emphasized that the All-America, in seeking to make official contact with the National league, will insist that it regards itself on an even plane with the Layden group.

A friendly understanding between the All-America and the National is vital for many reasons, the chief one being to eliminate any chance of wild bidding for star players. The All-America has indicated strongly in the past that it considers all post-college players fair game if they never have played or made agreements with National league teams.

Would Avoid Conflicts

The All-America will field teams in at least three cities which are members of the National league—Chicago, New York, and Cleveland. Working out of schedules so that they would not conflict in these cities undoubtedly is another purpose of the proposed talks.

The motion to seek the conference with the National league president was passed unanimously. Each of the seven All-America clubs was represented. Cleveland had the biggest delegation, five. These were Owner Arthur McBride, Lt. Brown, Assistant Coach John Brickels, and two stockholders, Ray T. Miller, former mayor of Cleveland, and Dan Sherby.

A committee of owners and attorneys submitted a draft of the constitution and by-laws for vote of the membership. The meeting will be resumed at 10 a. m. today.

An application for membership was presented by Dr. D. M. Nigro of Kansas City and Marchy Schwartz, onetime Notre Dame star and later coach at Stanford.

Walsh Presides

Walsh, who is vice president of the conference, is in charge of the meetings. The president, Comdr. James H. Crowley, is on duty in the Pacific. Another league official present is Mrs. Eleanor Gehrig, the secretary, widow of the great Yankee home run hitter. Others in attendance follow:

Keeshin, president of the Chicago

NATIONAL TITLE HANDBALL MEET TO OPEN TODAY

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

One of the finest fields ever assembled is ready for the opening today of the 1945 Senior National A. A. U. four wall handball championship tournament in the Town club of the Continental hotel, formerly the Medinah club, 505 N. Michigan av. Twenty states are represented in the group of 64 singles contestants.

Heading the list is Frank Coyle of the New York A. C., defending champion, the only man who has beaten the great Joe Platak since the Chicagoan started a string of eight consecutive title victories in 1935. Coyle tops one bracket of the schedule and Platak the other.

Coyle Defends Title

Coyle starts defense of the crown he won last year from Platak at 4 o'clock this afternoon against William Ranft of the Los Angeles A. C., winner of the first tournament away back in 1919 in Los Angeles. Platak, a seaman 2d class stationed at the Norfolk [Va.] naval base, will open his campaign tonight at 7 o'clock against Bernie Seligson of the New York Y. M. C. A.

While Coyle and Platak are rated the best in the large field, they are faced with first class competition all the way down the line. For instance, there is Sam Atcheson of Memphis, Tenn., twice national champion; Angelo Trulio, also a former titleholder, from New York; Jack Srenco of St. Louis, Mo., national Y champion and national junior titleholder; Anthony Gentile of Philadelphia, Pa.; and William Lauro, Brooklyn fireman who holds the National A. A. U. hardball singles crown.

Lauro Is All Around Star

Lauro is in the maritime service, a specialist 3d class stationed at the Sheepshead Bay training center on Manhattan Beach, Brooklyn. He's one of the best all around athletes in the tournament and but for a pulled arm muscle very likely would have been New York's heavyweight champion in the Intercity Golden Gloves tournament in 1944.

The singles tournament opens at noon today and is expected to be

Plan Publicity Headquarters for N.C.A.A.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association, headed by Dr. Wilbur Smith of Tulane university, yesterday tentatively decided to open a publicity bureau devoted to collegiate sports.

The football men, who have deliberated on this proposal for a year and have arranged financing for the bureau for at least a year, asked sanction from the N. C. A. A. They wish to include all college sports in the program. Charles Bachman, Michigan State football coach, headed the committee which presented the program to the N. C. A. A. executive committee. Other members of this group at the sessions in the Sherman hotel were Dana X. Bible, Texas; Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern; W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech, and Ray Morrison, Temple university. Morrison is president of the Football Coaches' associaton.

Office May Be in Chicago

Conferring with the N. C. A. A. and the football coaches were representatives of the American College Publicity association, Walter Paulison of Northwestern; Horace Renegar of Tulane, and Henry Johnston of Indiana university.

Altho final decision has not been made, it is likely Chicago will be the site and it may be the bureau will function from the office of the commissioner of athletics for the Western conference.

Announce Dates of Meets

In addition to Dr. Smith, N. C. A. A. president, members of the executive committee, which will continue in session today, are K. L. Wilson, secretary-treasurer, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference; Prof. H. C. Willett, Southern California; L. W. St. John, Ohio State; Dr. Leroy Mercer, Pennsylvania; Dr. Karl Leib, Iowa; Dana X. Bible, Texas, and Michael S. Conner, Southeastern conference commissioner.

The N. C. A. A. executive committee announced the following dates and sites for competition: Track, June 9, Marquette university; golf, June 25-27, inclusive, Ohio State university; tennis, June 25-30, inclusive, Northwestern, and cross-country, Nov. 24, Michigan State.

BOB ELLIOTT'S TWO RUN HOMER DEFEATS CUBS AND HANK WYSE

BY EDWARD BURNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 20—The Cubs this afternoon enjoyed leads of 1 to 0, 3 to 2, and 4 to 2 over the Pittsburgh Pirates, but wilted badly on offense after Bob Elliott had tied the score at 4 to 4, with a two-run homer off Hank Wyse with two out in the fifth inning. The Chicagoans protected the tie with one brilliant fielding play after another until two were out in the eighth, whereupon Frankie Gustine doubled off Wyse and Al Lopez knocked a single off Claude Passeau to score Gustine and give the Pirates a 5 to 4 victory.

It was the opener of the Pittsburgh home season and, tho rain and cold caused the gates to remain locked until 1:10 o'clock, a crowd of 9,449 paid to see the encounter.

Cubs Easy for Sewell

Rip Sewell was the victorious pitcher, achieving his 100th Pirate victory, 20 of which have been at the expense of the Cubs. The Cubs hit Rip's stuff for nine safe ones, connecting in each of the first six innings, but were helpless in the last three, in which Phil Cavarretta, who walked, was the only Chicagoan to reach base.

Wyse, the young man who won the Cubs' first game last year, just before the famed losing streak of 13 straight set in, yielded 13 hits today, including the aforesaid homer by Elliott, a triple by Babe Dahlgren, and doubles by Johnny Barrett, Frank Zak, and Gustine, but fine fielding, much of which was contributed by Wyse himself, kept the Pirate scoring out of balance with the slugging, until the hit off Passeau, fresh back from treatments to his calcified right elbow, gave the Pirates the game.

Phil Cracks a Triple

The Cubs started the scoring in the first inning, altho Sewell was able to strike out the side. Stan Hack, first up, walked on four pitches. Roy Hughes fanned, then Hack went from first to third on a high wild pitch and scored on Cavarretta's single to center. Bill

After the Cubs had wasted singles by Andy Pafko and Livingston in the second innings, the Pirates went up in their half and grabbed a 2 to 1 lead, a pass to Elliott, a sacrifice by Tommy O'Brien, a triple by Dahlgren and a single by Gustine doing the business.

In the third inning Hughes reached second on a wild throw by Elliott and trotted home on Cavarretta's triple. Nicholson was given an intentional pass, whereupon Sauer flied to Jim Russell and Pafko struck out.

The Cubs sweetened their lead to 4 to 2 in the fourth, when Johnson led off with a double and scored on the second of Livingston's string of hits, a single to center. Wyse fanned and Livingston stole second. Hack and Hughes then supplied easy outs.

Things apparently were going along nicely for the Cubs just before Elliott banged his score tying homer in the fifth. Frank Zak had fanned and Barrett had popped gently to Johnson. Then Russell singled to right and Elliott plastered a 425 foot drive over the left field fence.

Wyse, in the eighth, still was a better fielder than pitcher, but the Pirates, nevertheless, scored the winning run. O'Brien pushed off with a single to center, then Wyse started a double play after seizing Dahlgren's bunt. Gustine then socked his fourth straight hit, a double to left. Passeau replaced Wyse and Lopez singled to center, scoring Gustine with the deciding run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The White Sox stepped onto their own grass yesterday for their 1945 home debut and refused to be disturbed either by cold weather or the presence of the Browns, who won the 1944 American league title. James Dykes' boys won their third straight to prolong their membership in 1.000 per cent circles, the job being accomplished only with difficulty because of the persistency of the champions. Ten innings were required to knock them down for keeps, 3 to 2.

Altho Ed Lopat, the towheaded lefty, had no part in the manipulations by which the Sox extracted the decisive run from Al Hollingsworth, also a southpaw, he did right well for himself up to that point. He held the Browns to nine hits, didn't walk anybody and ignored two blunders in the field. But that wasn't all. He tore loose a homer for the first run of the chilly matinee and later singled to help round out a total of 11 hits. However, the single proved of no value.

Hockett Sets Off Rally

The start of the finishing touch came off the bat wielded by Oris Hockett, the ex-Indian, who in the earlier innings had seen two of his hits go to waste. His third—a single to right—opened the 10th and the customary bunt, supplied by John Dickshot, shoved him to second, after which the 3,649 spectators observed Bill Nagel in a strikeout act. When Tony Cuccinello came up the Browns purposely walked him, despite the fact he had been a flop in four previous appearances against Hollingsworth. The strategy worked perfectly—for the Sox. Hollingsworth's next pitch was whacked into right by LeRoy Schalk for two bases and Hockett hiked across the plate.

With Lopat going along smoothly and the Sox possessing a 2 to 0 lead in the early innings, Dykes' gang had reason to believe the whole affair would be a romp. But Ellis Clary knocked loose a homer in the fifth, and the seventh brought a series of hits that tied the score. This outburst indicated the little southpaw was on the way to tiring but he was straightened out promptly and waded thru the last three innings on a yield of two hits.

Browns Waste a Double

The affair started in a fashion somewhat disconcerting for the pitchers involved. Don Gutteridge opened for the Browns with a double, but Milt Byrnes fanned and Mike Kreevich lined into Cass Michaels' hands for a double play. The Sox also led off with a two bagger, Wally Moses doing the work. After Hockett had been submerged on strikes, Dickshot singled, but Clary slapped down the drive and thus held Moses at third. Neither Nagel nor Cuccinello could aid the two waiting runners.

The next Sox hit was the one that revealed Lopat as a little Babe Ruth in the third. Hollingsworth pitched him two strikes in as many throws and, according to Hoyle, should have tempted the batter with a

YANKEES BEAT SENATORS, 6-3, FOR 4TH IN ROW

24,494 at Washington Memorial Game

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—The nation's capital paid its respect to the late President Roosevelt today in the Washington baseball opening as New York's Yankees defeated the Senators, 6 to 3, for their fourth straight victory.

A hushed throng of 24,494 stood as Under Secretary of War Patterson; Will Harridge, American league president; Walter Johnson, one-time Washington pitching great; and Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators led the march to the flag pole for brief ceremonies, followed by a minute of silent prayer in memory of the man who frequently befriended baseball.

CHICAGO TEAMS WIN VOLLEYBALL MEET OPENERS

Minneapolis, Minn., April 20 (AP)—Two Chicago teams, the Lawson and North av.-Larrabee Y. M. C. A.'s, and the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. won opening games in the National A. A. U. volleyball tournament today.

The Chicago Lawson Y defeated the Twin Cities Athletic club team of Minneapolis 15-10, 15-3; the Chicago North av. Y., won from the Des Moines, Ia., Y. M. C. A., 15-10, 15-4, and the Minneapolis Y beat the Omaha Y., 15-7, 15-9.

St. Paul triumphed over Grand Forks, N. D., 15-3, 15-9, and Jamaica, N. Y., lost to Minneapolis, 15-8, 15-10. Des Moines eliminated the Twin Cities A. C., 15-8, 15-4, and Pasadena, Cal., took the measure of the Chicago Lawson Y, 15-10, 15-7. The tournament is a double elimination, two defeats putting a team out of the running.

St. Paul continued its streak with victories over Ann Arbor, Mich., 15-12, 15-12, and Pasadena, 15-8, 8-15, 15-11. The Chicago North Av. Y beat Minneapolis, 17-15, 15-10, while the Chicago Lawson team inflicted a second defeat on Ann Arbor, eliminating the latter.

waste ball on the next pitch. Instead, he heaved it down the middle and Lopat sent it away to the right field lower deck.

Schalk Doubles, Scores

The Sox used up only one hit to put together their fourth inning run which meant a 2 to 0 lead. Schalk led with a double into the left field corner, went to third on Michaels' bunt and home on Mike Tresh's fly to Martin.

The Browns' third hit off the Sox lefty appeared with one out in the fifth. It was Clary's drive into the left field pavilion. Then they exploded four in the seventh, but but were guilty of a bad base running job, so were limited to the tying run. Boris Martin opened with a single into center and scooted to third on a double to right by McQuinn. Martin scored on Leonard Schulte's fly to Hockett, but McQuinn didn't think the ball was going to be caught, so was doubled before he could scamper back to second. Clary and Myron Hayworth then singled and Hollingsworth fanned.

HAYNES PITCHES TODAY

Joe Haynes will draw his first starting assignment of the season today when the White Sox resume action against the Browns in Comiskey park. Haynes got the call as the result of his one hit, three inning rescue job against the Indians Tuesday. The champions will start either Jack Kramer or Alvis Shirley.

Vern Stephens, the Browns' shortstopping expert, is taking a vacation because of a jammed thumb and Pete Gray, the one armed outfielder, is nursing a shoulder bruise.

Pvt. Pete Pervin, former Sox bat boy showed up for a clubhouse visit. He's a veteran of 18 months in the Aleutians.

RED WINGS HOPE TO EVEN HOCKEY SERIES TONIGHT

Detroit, Mich., April 20 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings left for Toronto today with renewed hope of winning hockey's prized Stanley cup, after gaining their second straight victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs, 2 to 0, last night. The Leafs still lead the final play-off series, 3 games to 2, and need only one victory to clinch the cup.

The sixth game will be played in Toronto tomorrow night. A seventh game, if necessary, will be in Detroit Sunday.

"We've got them on the run now," Detroit's manager, Jack Adams, declared. "Toronto looks tired and we're skating much better."

Adams has visions of revenge for the 1942 play-offs when the Leafs dropped the first three games to Detroit and came back to win four straight and the championship.

12,640 FANS SEE GIANTS DEFEAT DODGERS, 10 TO 6

New York, April 20 (AP)—Phil Weintraub's two homers, each with a man on base, paced the New York Giants' 13 hit attack on three Brooklyn pitchers today for a 10 to 6 victory before 12,640 fans at the Polo Grounds opener.

Feldman helped his own cause with a home run in the sixth after Mike Sandlock touched him for a round tripper in the second and Ed Stanky did the same in the sixth. Weintraub's damaging clouts came in the first and eighth, the last off Rookie Ray Hathaway.

BRAVES EDGE PHILS, 6-5

Philadelphia, Pa., April 20 (AP).—A three run homer by Dutch Nieman with two out in the ninth inning gave the Boston Braves a 6 to 5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies today in the National league season opener here.

Pvt. John Rizner, wounded infantry veteran, threw out the first ball before 2,600 rain soaked fans, including Mayor Bernard Samuel.

The Calumet High school baseball team beat Hyde Park, 7 to 0, yesterday in Jackson park for its third straight City league victory. It was the first south section loss in three games for Hyde Park, which was held to four hits by Dale Pickering.

Harrison moved up into a first place tie with Farragut in the central section by defeating Englewood, 6 to 1, in Douglas park. George Antczak struck out 10 and held the losers to one hit.

Steinmetz bunched its hits to collect four runs in the first inning and added another in the sixth in beating Austin, 5 to 2, in Riis park, altho the losers made seven hits to five for Steinmetz. Two of the winner's hits were made by Aldo Damiani, left fielder, who singled in the first to drive in two runs.

Gets Seven Straight Hits

Foreman kept pace with Steinmetz in the west section by defeating Wells, 6 to 1, in Portage park. Stan Miller, Foreman short stop, ran his hitting string to seven consecutive times at bat when he connected for two doubles and a single in three chances at the plate.

In a practice game, New Trier of the Suburban league shut out Riverside, 6 to 0. Jack Lochyer was the winning pitcher.

Concordia Wins in Eighth

Gil Busarow, Concordia shortstop, scored from third on a wild pitch to give Concordia a 10 to 9 eight inning victory over Wheaton academy in the Private School league. The score was tied, 9 to 9, at the end of the regulation seven innings.

Also in the Private School league, Todd school defeated Harvard, 2 to 1, in Washington park, on a four hit performance by Alby Plain, who drove in the winning run and fanned 14. University High defeated North Shore, 6 to 3, on the North Shore field.

Previous to her victory today, the Chapel Hill, N. C., housewife had shared with Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia the distinction of having won the title six times.

Parfait Starlets Win 3, Take Bowlium Ladies' Title

The Parfait Starlets, captained by Loretta Prendergast, won the championship of the Friday Night Junior Ladies' Major Bowling league as the circuit completed its season in the Bowlium last night. The Starlets won three games from the Toy Tap while the Keeleys, with whom the Starlets were previously tied for the lead, took only two from Acacia Storage.

Expect Little Change in Shell Supply for 1945

BY BOB BECKER

Altho a program for the production of essential civilian ammunition for 1945 has been drawn up and submitted to Washington it has not been approved by the various bureaus which have a hand in such a production. So no one knows yet how many rifle and shotgun shells will be available in 1945 to civilian hunters and men in uniform who will be at home and want to hunt next fall.

This was about the most hopeful note we could get on the ammunition situation from arms and ammunition manufacturers who were in Chicago yesterday at a meeting of their trade organization.

Altho ammunition manufacturers would make no comment on the amount of essential civilian ammunition that might be turned out this year we have it from a reliable source that the plan submitted for 1945 calls for about the same number of rifle and shotgun shells that were manufactured last year.

In referring to "essential civilian ammunition" authorities usually mean enough rifle and shotgun shells to control predators on farms and ranches and a quantity of similar ammunition that will enable civilians to crop the increasing game populations which damaged farmer's grain in many states last fall.

Bomar, Flesch Resume Title Battle Tonight

Faced with the task of overcoming the huge 13-point advantage which their adversaries compiled in the first half of the series, Buddy Bomar and Bill Flesch, Chicago's national two-man match game bowling champions will resume the defense of their title against the challenge of Detroit's Bill Kenet and Wally Repenhagen in Faetz Recreation tonight, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Seven games will be bowled tonight, another seven game block tomorrow afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock and the final block tomorrow night.

Scoring one point for each game won and one point for high total pins in each block, the Detroiters piled up 18.5 points to 5.5 for the champions, in the 21 games competed in the Motor City.

Meanwhile, competition continues in three tourneys and two others open today. The state tournament, in progress at Bensinger's 131 S. Wabash av., will enter its second week-end of play, Barney Hochstadter's junior tourney will be resumed at Archer-35th Recreation, and Jack Samuelson's 13th annual Century of Progress Women's handicap event will open its third week-end at Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway.

Jerry Peck's individual tourney will open tonight at the Arena, Erie and McClurg ct., with the first group of the 272 entries scheduled to perform at 7 o'clock, and the Milo Wiesner singles meet, with an entry of 712, starts at Milo Wiesner Recreation, 823 W. 35th st., an hour earlier. A third major tourney, the Marigold singles handicap, will open April 28 at Marigold Arcade, 838 W. Grace st., with a full complement of 1,792 entries.

Michigan Nine Victor Over Illinois, 3 to 0

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 20 [Special]—Ray [Red] Louthen hurled two hit shutout ball this afternoon as Michigan opened defense of its Western conference baseball title with a 3 to 0 victory over Illinois.

The stocky redhead, who was transferred here from Western Michigan this spring, didn't allow a hit until the eighth inning when Jim Neufeldt, Illini right fielder, was safe on a bunt, and John Johns, Illinois catcher, dragged a single thru the hole between first and second on the hit and run play. Louthen got out of that trouble by striking out Howie Judson, Illini pitcher, and getting Roy Wiedow and Gerald Kaires on outfield flies.

Louthen, making his first appearance in Big Nine competition, struck out 12 Illinois batsmen and walked only one. Judson fanned five Wolverines, walked one, and gave up eight hits. The two teams will meet here again tomorrow afternoon. Score:

Illinois ....000 000 000—0 2 3
Michigan ....000 020 10*—3 8 2

GOPHERS WIN, 10 TO 0

Ames, Ia., April 20 (AP)—The Minnesota Gophers rapped out a 10 to 0 victory over Iowa State college today in the first of two baseball games scheduled over the week-end here.

Gene Kelly, veteran Minnesota pitcher, gave up four hits before making way for Bob Schumack in the eighth who pitched no hit ball the last two innings. Score:

N. U. IS HOST TO PURDUE IN BIG 10 GOLF INAUGURAL

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Northwestern university's golf team, which will be at home henceforth on its own grounds, this afternoon will open its 1945 western conference campaign against Purdue over the yardage which will also be the scene of this year's Big Ten title event on May 26. Coach Ted Payseur's Wildcats, rated a factor in the big show, are more interested in the immediate job of today, which would erase the 16 to 2 licking Purdue handed them a year ago to set them out on a string of five consecutive losses.

Payseur today will use the same lineup which almost swept its opener last Monday by sending away Illinois Tech with a 20 to 1 trouncing. Mainstays of the Purple ensemble will be two of the best high school swingers turned out in years. They are Jack Atten, who shot a 74 in the windy inaugural against Illinois Tech, and Bob Abrahams, brother of Burt, former Northwestern captin, and himself winner of the state prep crown last year.

Michigan Meets Detroit

Atten and Abrahams will be supported by a foursome including Jim Stotter, a letter winner in 1955; Jack Cooper, Ed Malenius, and Dick Krapfel.

Both Northwestern and Purdue will be interested in the outcome of another dual match today, that between Michigan and the University of Detroit on the latter's course. Coach Bill Barclay of Michigan has threatened to repeat his double Big Ten victories of last season, when Johnny Jenswold won the individual crown and assisted his mates in taking team honors.

Atten an Evans Protege

Atten, the Wildcats' No. 1 man, is a protege of Chick Evans of Edgewater. Eight years ago, Jack turned up at Edgewater to apply for a caddy job. The caddymaster rejected him on the grounds that he was too small to tote clubs. Young Atten then brought his case to Evans, his neighbor, and Chick adopted him as his regular caddy.

The Builders' Tee club, one of the oldest golf organizations in this area, will hold its next session Tuesday at Silver Lake. . . . The Chicago Women's District Golf association and the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association will join in their annual pro-ladies' tournament at Glen Oak on Aug. 13. . . . Chicago district clubs which are claiming an innovation in inventing a bonus system for caddies should remember that the real originator was Pete Wilcox, new pro at Riverside, who designed such a plan when he was at Westmoreland. . . . Buzz Codeff, new caddy master at Calumet, recentl yscored an ace at the club's eighth, while playing with Tom Powers, former club champion. . . . The North Shore Golf league, grandpappy of the district's family club groups, will announce its 1945 schedule next week.

DE PAUL HONORS ITS BASKETBALL SQUAD TONIGHT

De Paul university will hold its annual dinner honoring the Blue Demon basketball team tonight at 6:30 in the La Salle hotel. Wilfrid Smith, sports writer of THE TRIBUNE and president of the Chicago Basketball Writers association last season, will be toastmaster.

The list of speakers includes the Rev. Comerford O'Malley, president of the university; the Rev. Joseph Phoenix, chairman of the athletic board; K. L. Wilson, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference; Judge John Sbarbaro, Walter Kennedy, Arthur [Dutch] Lonborg, Northwestern basketball coach, and James Kearns.

The Demons under Coach Ray Meyer won the New York Invitational meet, whipping West Virginia, Rhode Island State, and Bowling Green in the post-season tournament and shattering every scoring record for Madison Square Garden. De Paul's 1944-'55 record was 21 won and three lost.

Rubicons, Gits Play for North Av. Title Tonight

The Rubicons A. C. and Gits Molding basketball teams will play tonight in the championship round of the North Av.-Larrabee Y. M. C. A. open basketball tournament. In other games the Roos All-Stars will meet Milwaukee Road for third place and the Freeland A. C. will play the Hawthorne A. C. in the consolation final. Last night's scores:

ACCEPT SHORT DEFLATIONARY PERIOD: HAYEK

Government Action Held Aggravation

BY THOMAS FURLONG

The United States has the choice of accepting a sharp but short period of deflation after the war or attempting by governmental measures to maintain the present level of employment, Friedrich A. Hayek, Austrian born English economist, said yesterday.

The latter course, said Hayek, will delay correction of economic maladjustments created by the war and in the end will result in a prolonged and intensified period of deflation. On the other hand, by permitting needed economic adjustments a healthful expansion in normal economic activity will be encouraged which will bring about a high and stable level of employment, he said.

Keynes' Idea 'Basically Wrong'

Author of the best seller, "The Road of Serfdom," Hayek explained his views at a luncheon in the Union League club sponsored by the University of Chicago. He is in Chicago to deliver a series of three lectures next week in Mandel hall at the university.

Hayek described as a basic misconception the theory that oversaving has been the cause of America's economic troubles, a theory preached by another English economist, John Maynard Keynes, and adopted as the gospel of New Deal economic planning.

"Labor has been drawn in large numbers into occupations where present employment cannot be maintained after the war," said Hayek. "There must be a period in which a redistribution is effected. There will be temporary unemployment. If that temporary unemployment is used as an excuse for a governmental program of job making, it will defeat its own purpose by bringing on ultimately an even greater deflation.

Doubts 60 Million Wish Jobs

"I cannot believe that there are 60 million people in the United States who want to work. But there is no reason why sufficient employment cannot be generated to provide jobs for all who want them if a reasonable course is followed."

The government's primary concern should be to curb excessive expansion, not to promote a boom, said the economist.

Altho Great Britain is more firmly committed to government economic control than the United States, there is also a more vigorous revolt against that philosophy in England than in this country, he said.

Disputing the fundamental tenet of Keynes' doctrine on savings, Hayek said that it is a slackening in capital investment, not in consumer buying, that ordinarily marks the end of a boom period.

Reverse of New Deal Theory

As economic activity expands, he said, enterprisers get short on working capital and are unable to spare funds for new capital investments. This starts an immediate and accelerating trend toward unemployment. Furthermore, speculative profits in a boom period find their way into consumer buying which increases toward the end of a boom. This is completely the reverse of the conclusions on which the New Deal has erected its complex structure of economic controls and tax policies.

Because their original premise was erroneous, Hayek said, the policies that stemmed from it are equally fallacious. This applies particularly to the tax policy, he said.

Hayek believes that a trend toward full government economic controls, if carried thru, will end inevitably in dictatorship as it did in Germany and Italy. Hayek observed at first hand the growth of socialism in Germany that ended in the Hitler regime.

Barley Falls Limit; Wheat Option Drops

Barley futures prices broke 5 cents a bushel, the permissible limit, yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade, and rye and July wheat were off about 2 cents before the decline was checked. May wheat and corn deliveries showed resistance to the general selling pressure.

Barley futures closed at the bottom, off 4¾ to 5 cents. Wheat was ¼ higher on May and ¼ to 1½ lower on the distant deliveries. Corn finished ¼ higher to ⅝ lower, the former on May, oats were ⅝ to 1⅛ lower, and rye lost 1⅛ to 1¾.

Canadian Release Is Factor

Announcement that the Canadian wheat board had lifted restrictions on the loading of oats and barley in the western provinces, and a slow demand for feed because large quantities of corn and oats have become available to feed manufacturers, were factors in the selling of barley futures. Numerous stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down. September and December sold at new seasonal lows.

The Commodity Credit corporation said there would be no allocation of wheat for feed east of the Rocky mountains until further notice, which was expected to bring feed interests into the open cash wheat market.

Liquidation of a large account of July wheat, attributed to a professional trader, caused the price decline, brokers said. The deferred months showed strength despite favorable weather and crop reports.

Sell Distant Deliveries

Commission houses and professional traders sold rye futures, but the bulk of the selling was in the deferred deliveries and May was relatively tight at times. Canadian interests were reported to have sold 500,000 bushels of rye to Belgium in the last few days. The government was in the market for 77,000 sacks of rye flour for shipment from Atlantic ports. Bids will be opened April 24.

Weakness in other grains and continued receipts from Canada weakened the oats market. Cash oats prices have declined about 10 cents a bushel this month.

CLAYTON BACKS RETURN TO LOW LEVEL TARIFFS

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—A state department official today testified that under the tariff trimming legislation pending before congress it would be possible to return to the comparatively low tariffs of the Underwood act in the Woodrow Wilson administration.

"Substantially, that is what we desire," Assistant Secretary of State Clayton told the house ways and means committee.

A lowering of duties would not be accomplished unless other nations, in reciprocal agreements, reduced their barriers against American goods, he said.

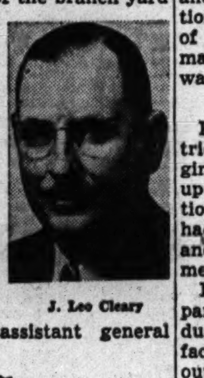
The bill under consideration, recommended by the late President Roosevelt and supported by President Truman, proposes a three year extension of the reciprocal trade act of 1934, with added authority to cut tariffs in pacts with other nations.

Hollander & Son Buys Block on Harrison St.

Purchase yesterday of an entire block of frontage on the north side of Harrison st., between Peoria and Green sts., by A. Hollander & Son, furs, disclosed plans for a half million dollar plant. On the basis of the revenue stamps on the deed the price was $57,000. The plant will be built for the Hollanderizing Corporation of America, a fur cleaning subsidiary. Loewenberg & Loewenberg is architect for the contemplated one story building which will have 60,000 square feet of floor space.

People and Events

J. Leo Cleary has been appointed general manager of the branch yard department in Chicago of Edward Hines Lumber company, Charles M. Hines, president, said yesterday. Cleary succeeds George J. Mohring, who retired as general manager April 1, but retained his position as vice president. E. J. Augustin has been appointed assistant general manager.



J. Leo Cleary

Maurice J. Costello has become associated with the Lake Shore National bank as assistant vice president and trust officer, Joseph R. Frey, president, announced. Costello will assist H. E. Devereaux, vice president, who organized and has operated the trust department of the bank since 1925.

J. H. Burke has been elected president of the Chicago Tunnel company, Chicago Terminal company, and the Chicago Tunnel Transport company, subsidiaries of Chicago Tunnel corporation. L. J. Gundlach was elected executive vice president and treasurer of the three companies.

Freezer Foods, Inc., of Chicago announced that Rudolph N. Marginot, former chief representative of labor supply and training in the WPB and active in the American Federation of Labor, has been elected a director.

STOCK MARKET CLOSES MIXED; RAILS ADVANCE

New York, April 20 (AP)—Selected stocks, led by rails, moved into the recovery column today, but the widest gains running to two or more points were reduced substantially or converted into losses for many market leaders at the close, which was irregular.

Prices were highest in the forenoon. In the afternoon trends wavered and dealings tapered. Transfers of 1,130,000 shares compared with 1,680,000 yesterday and were smallest for a full session since April 12.

Carriers were aided by favorable first quarter income statements, particularly one by the Pere Marquette.

CHICAGO LIST IRREGULAR

Prices closed irregular and turnover dipped to 34,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Active issues included Admiral corporation and Central and South West Utilities, each up ¼; Chicago corporation, up ⅛, and Central Illinois Securities, unchanged.

RAIL BONDS ADVANCE

New York, April 20 (AP)—Rail bonds were active today and carriers in heaviest demand rose fractions to about 2 points. Other corporate issues were generally steady.

SEEK PROXY AID OPPOSING WARD STAND ON WLB

A proxy statement requesting that stockholders of Montgomery Ward & Co. approve two resolutions directing the management to "cease their defiance of and noncompliance with the orders of the war labor board," and asking the election of James G. Patton of Denver as a director, was mailed yesterday by a group of six shareholders.

The resolutions are by Frank W. McCulloch of Chicago, industrial secretary for the council for social action of the Congregational-Christian churches, and Zara du Pont, Cambridge, Mass. The proxy said Patton is president of the National Farmers union, National [Farmers] Union Security association, and National Farmers Union Service corporation.

Take New Job Even Pay Cut, Krug Advises

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 20—Employes released thru war production "cut backs" should not remain idle in the hope of obtaining another similar job, but must take work in other essential industries if the nation is to return to normal, peace time production, Chairman Krug of the war production board said today.

Released war workers should take other jobs, even if these mean less pay or moving to another locality, he told a news conference. He asserted they could not expect to hold present types of jobs indefinitely, and predicted that as war production was reduced the disappearance of high paying jobs would force many into other work at lower wages.

Seeks to Build for Peace

Krug said certain essential industries, particularly textile and logging and lumber, must be "built up" now if full peace time production is to be achieved. He said they had been deprived of man power and equipment in favor of the metal and armament industries.

If the textile industry is not expanded now, he explained, other industries such as automobile manufacturing will be hampered; without adequate lumber and wood pulp, post-war construction and output of paper and packaging materials will be delayed.

The WPB chairman announced a concerted drive to increase textile and logging and lumber production at least 20 per cent. He said the program seeks to return about 100,000 workers who have left textile plants in the last two years, and to bring back 125,000 logging and lumber employes. He said textile production capacity and lumber resources were sufficient.

Much War Work Remains

At the same time, Krug asserted announcements of war work cutbacks should not frighten workers into leaving their jobs prematurely because the war was far from finished.

Passenger automobiles will be produced within six months after materials are available, Krug said, but did not indicate how long that may be after the defeat of Germany. He said the industry was expected to produce 2 million cars in the first year after reconversion, half as many as were manufactured annually before the war. The tire production program is "going very well," he said, and there should be enough tires to equip these 2 million cars.

ICC AUTHORIZES READING'S LOAN OF 84 MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—The Reading company today received interstate commerce commission authority to issue 84 million dollars of 3⅛ per cent series D first and refunding mortgage bonds to finance retirement of $84,249,700 of outstanding obligations.

The new issue, to be sold at 100.59 per cent of par, will be used to retire $59,345,700 of Reading company general and refunding mortgage 4½ per cent series A bonds, $14,927,000 of refunding 4½ per cent B's, $9,151,000 of Philadelphia and Reading improvement mortgage 4s, and $826,000 of Shamokin, Sunbury, and Lewisburg railroad second mortgage 5s.

ASKS CONGRESS INSIST ON U. S. BUDGET THRIFT

Magill Says Relief Is Possible

New York, April 20 [Special]—After the war, congress should insist on a thrifty federal budget and the reduction or repeal of several taxes on business earnings, Roswell Magill, former undersecretary of the treasury, and chairman of the Committee on Post-War Tax Policy, asserted today.

Roswell Magill

"A 22 billion dollar peace time budget, incorporating extravagant programs of economic and social activities by the government, will not give us much relief from present tax rates," Magill told the fifth annual seminar of the New York chapter of Chartered Life Underwriters. "At the same time a low federal budget, based on economies in government, might run as low as 15 billion dollars and make possible material reductions in both income and excise taxes."

Need 10½ Billions on Incomes

Such a tax bill means 10½ billion dollars must be raised thru income taxation which would be drained off of an estimated post-war national income of 125 billion dollars a year, he explained.

"This is a tremendous levy, compared with the 2 billions of dollars of tax proceeds in 1940, but it is much less than the 33 billion of dollars of income and excess profits taxes paid in 1944," he said. "Since the bulk of the income flow comes to persons in the lower and middle brackets, the exemptions must remain about as they are at $500 a person. The initial rate of the tax would be 15 to 18 per cent, compared with the present 23 per cent. The total of normal and surtax would be about 42 per cent at $100,000.

Urges Business Relief

"To any taxpayer whose potential savings have been taken in taxes during the last several years, an income tax of this sort would be tolerable, tho it would be much heavier than the taxes of the '20s and '30s."

Regardless of the budget and the consequent tax rates, business should be relieved of the oppressive excess profits tax and the capital stock and declared value excess profits tax, Magill said. He also recommended elimination of the double taxation of intercorporate dividends, taxing business income earned by individuals or corporations like other income as far as possible, crediting individuals with respect to corporation dividends for the tax paid by the corporation on the income distributed, and continuation of the 25 per cent rate on long term capital gains.

Chicago Gets 4 Million More in War Contracts

OPA Prepares Meat Subsidy; East Taking Chicago's Beef

Meets Price Complaint

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—The office of price administration has prepared a meat subsidy program designed to meet industry complaints of price "squeezes," senate food investigators were told today.

Informed quarters said the new OPA program would continue consumer prices at present levels and accomplish the adjustments thru subsidies. It may be announced this week-end.

Details of the program were not disclosed but its reported purposes were told in a letter from Wilbur La Roe, general counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers association, to Chairman Thomas [D., Okla.] of the senate agriculture committee, which is studying the food shortage.

Would Assume Normal Profit

La Roe said OPA had agreed in principle to a more flexible policy under which it will seek "to keep the industry's revenues in any quarter above the cost of production.

The OPA also offered to seek thru adjustments made during the year to maintain the industry's earnings for the year as a whole equal to those in a "fair, pre-war base period."

Henry G. Van Veen of the OPA general counsel's office assured the senate committee that OPA is "working on the meat problem constantly." He added that he thought the agency would be ready to report to the committee next week on its solution.

Packers have complained that under OPA's present price policies they are losing money on every steer and hog they kill. They contend the margin between prices for live animals and for meat products is so narrow they cannot operate.

Ask Probe of Packers

Meanwhile, the house's food investigating committee asked OPA to check on the operations of several independent packers whose business has skyrocketed during the current beef shortage.

The committee called in Chester Bowles, price administrator, and put before him these suggestions:

1. An immediate review of the slaughtering permits issued farmers who do butchering for home consumption. [It wants a check of their beef supply and of where the meat is going.]

2. Authority to deputize state inspectors as federal meat inspectors to spread the supply of federally inspected meat. Chairman Anderson [D., N. M.] said this would prevent shortages in territories served only by federally inspected packers.

3. Stimulate the movement to feeder lots [where cattle are fed to proper weight for slaughter] by guaranteeing a higher price to feeders without boosting the retail price of meat.

4. Investigate a better distribution of cattle to markets to equalize the meat supply.

Ship Out 49 Per Cent

Eastern slaughterers this week bought Chicago cattle supplies heavily and reduced drastically the beef production in this area, stock yards authorities disclosed yesterday. Altho receipts were the second smallest this year, the number brought by eastern interests was the largest since the middle of February.

Prices of steers held fully steady yesterday. Lambs were steady to 15 cents lower. Ceiling prices were paid for hogs.

Order buyers during the first four days of this week purchased 20,883 cattle, or 49 per cent of the 41,820 head received. A year ago only 14,746 head, 35 per cent of the receipts of 42,102, were shipped out.

Many of the cattle shipped from Chicago for slaughter were billed to slaughterers who never before bought in this market.

Fourth Soviet Lend-Lease Pact Is Signed

Washington, D. C., April 20 (AP)—The United States, Britain, and Canada have signed the fourth lend-lease agreement with Russia, the state department announced tonight.

The agreement, which was signed in Ottawa on April 17, covers a period from July 1, 1944, to June 30, 1945, having only a little over two more months to run.

No dollar value was placed on the agreement, which was in effect a shipping schedule of supplies which for the most part already have been delivered.

Applies Only to War Goods

It was said that the agreement applies only to strictly war time supplies and that there was no provision for long range goods for which Russia could pay later. Provisions of that nature were incorporated in the recent British and French agreements.

Russia has put in a request for a six billion dollar credit from the United States and the signing of the protocol was delayed for several months while the four powers discussed whether any goods which might be used after the war should be included.

Post-War Goods Excluded

The decision finally was against inclusion, and it appeared that so far as Russia is concerned, material for long range use will be handled either completely separate from lend-lease or await a new protocol. That protocol may not come up until more definite signs have appeared of whether Russia is going to war against Japan.

From Oct. 1, 1941, when lend-lease began, to June 30, 1944, the United States had sent Russia materials valued at $5,900,000,000. By Dec. 1, 1944, the total had reached $7,436,767,000, an increase of more than 1½ billion dollars in five months.

Weston Trims Dividend; Cautious on Reconversion

Weston Electrical Instrument corporation directors yesterday declared a 40 cent dividend on the common shares, compared with the previous 50 cent quarterly distributions. Directors wish to follow a conservative dividend policy during the reconversion period ahead, said Caxton Brown, president. Peak war demand has passed and operations are at about two-thirds of capacity, he said.

SEC SEEKING CURRENT WAR CONTRACT DATA TO GUIDE INVESTORS

Philadelphia, Pa., April 20 (AP)—The securities and exchange commission today announced it had submitted to industry representatives for comment two proposed new rules under the securities exchange act designed to obtain current information on companies engaged in war work — monthly reports on war contract terminations and quarterly reports on unfilled orders where either is an important factor in a company's operations.

"There have been a number of cases involving terminations at the convenience of the armed services in which investors may have been seriously harmed thru lack of knowledge of current developments," said Baldwin B. Bane, director of the SEC corporation finance division, in his letter.

"After discussion with appropriate officials of the procurement agencies, it appears that a limited amount of operating data may be disclosed at relatively frequent intervals without violation of the code of war time practices."

WRIGLEY FIRST QUARTER PROFIT RISES SLIGHTLY

William Wrigley Jr. company yesterday reported net earnings in the March quarter were $1,557,723, or 79 cents a share compared with $1,543,952, or 78 cents a share, in the 1944 quarter. Profits included post-war tax refund of $43,670 and $19,600 in the 1945 and 1944 quarters, respectively. Unconsolidated profits of foreign subsidiaries in excess of dividends received amounted to $72,747.

Chicago Yellow Cab company reported 1944 net income was $422,940, or $1.65 a share, before post-war tax refund of $4,779, compared with 1943 profit of $445,911 or $1.72 a share before $54,064 refund.

PREDICTS RAPID PEACE GROWTH IN AIR INDUSTRY

U.S. Aid Forecasts 400,000 Pay Roll

BY PHILIP HAMPSON

The United States peace time aviation industry 10 years after the war will become a 2 billion dollar industrial giant employing 400,000, William A. M. Burden, assistant secretary of commerce, predicted yesterday before the Bond Club of Chicago in the Palmer House. He said it will not be long before the air lines skim the cream from both land and sea passenger transportation and leave low cost volume business to other transport mediums.

W. A. M. Burden

"The average reasonably well-to-do American will do virtually all his traveling for distances of 100 miles or more by air," he said. Even the automobile may experience an eclipse, as the advantages of flying are recognized, he implied.

Predicts $30 Fare to New York

Two or three years after the war and possibly sooner, 2 hour 40 minute service will be in operation between New York and Chicago with a $30 fare and a safety record several times better than that of private automobiles or buses.

A few years later jet propulsion applied to commercial air lines will increase speed another 100 to 150 miles an hour and ultimately there is reason to believe that air transportation will become the safest form of travel, Burden said.

Planes will travel from Chicago to London in 16 hours at a cost to the passenger of $250, with two or three flights a day scheduled. Both time and cost will be cut within 10 years, he predicted.

A conservative estimate is that within six years air transport will have diverted 50 per cent of first class traffic from ships and developed a new air travel business equivalent to that diverted from the steamships, Burden said. This would mean volume for the North Atlantic lines of 40 or 50 million dollars a year.

View on Military Might

He said that it is likely that the United States will not permit its military might to fall after the war to the level after World War I. Consequently, the nation may expect its aviation industry to be maintained after the Japanese are defeated on a basis several times the 1938-'39 size.

The airplane and its cousin, the guided air weapon of the flying bomb type, are so firmly established as military weapons and future invention in these fields promises such increasing development that air forces will absorb a higher proportion of military budgets than before the war, Burden forecast. This will imply a technical development which will be made available to commercial flying as well as to military.

Surface transportation will continue to hold its freight position, Burden said. Rates for air express or freight after the war probably will be 15 to 20 cent a ton mile, he predicted, and will be higher than railroad express rates and 15 to 20 times as high as railroad carload freight rates.

Estimate on Revenues

However, because air line passenger volume is expected to be five times that of 1944 within six years after the war, Burden thought it likely that air transport revenues eight to 10 years after the Japanese are defeated may be 500 to 600 million dollars annually, or as much as the total passenger revenues of all the railroads in 1939.

Post-war private airplanes will be much safer and easier to handle than were their pre-war predecessors, he said. If plane production matches that of the automobile when the latter was in its growing stage 400,000 planes will be in the hands of private owners in 1955 and sales in that year will be 175,000 aircraft. This would mean a 300 million dollar a year commercial market, perhaps four times as large as sales of transport aircraft are likely to be at that time.

The coming planes will be so easy to handle, he said, that many men of middle age undoubtedly will take up flying. Salesmen will use planes for business trips.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Saturday, April 21, 1945

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

COLLEGE INVESTMENTS—5
NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

With Northwestern university receiving a higher rate of return on its stock portfolio than on other forms of investment, its financial managers have increased the proportion of stock investments in recent years. The comparison of yields provides an explanation for this course, but the extent to which it may have been influenced by the possibilities of commodity price inflation is not clear.

A comparison of yields obtainable from various classes of its investments was made by Northwestern in its financial report for the fiscal year ended last August. H. L. Wells, vice president and business manager, wrote, "The yield on all real estate mortgages and productive real estate, before depreciation, amounted to 4.71 per cent. Total bonds held by the university gave a 2.07 per cent return, and the stock portfolio yielded 5.108 per cent." The yield on the total portfolio, excluding nonproductive real estate and before deducting depreciation was 4.267 per cent.

Book value of the university's investments on Aug. 31 last, exclusive of certain endowments invested in plant property, was $34,100,105, compared with $26,674,415 a year earlier, the increase consisting chiefly of gifts.

Stocks and bonds with book value of $14,614,186 had a market value of $15,995,957. In addition, unquoted stocks were carried on the books at $865,775.

In 1944, stock investments totaled $8,976,984, or 26.5 per cent of the total portfolio, compared with $4,863,716, or 18.2 per cent in 1943. In the same interval, bond holdings also increased, possibly in connection with government financing. The proportion of bonds advanced from 12.60 to 19.1 per cent, and the amount so invested from $3,360,625 to $6,502,977.

Northwestern is a large owner of real estate and mortgages, but thru its policy in recent years of investing new funds mainly in stocks and bonds, the proportion of real estate investments, including mortgages and sales contracts, dropped from 65.2 per cent of the total holdings in 1942 to 49.4 per cent in 1944. The sum so invested was $17,139,250 in 1944, compared with $16,993,512 in 1942.
